W. Germany Plans Extension Of Draft

Bonn Stiffens Stands Against Concessions

Khrush Demands Reds' Recognition

BERLIN (AP)—West Germany was reported prepared Thursday to extend the service of draftees and there were indications that it will oppose any concessions to the Soviet Union in the Berlin crisis.

The Bonn government stiffened its stand against any form of Western recognition of the East German Communist regime just as Soviet Premier Khrushchev demanded recognition for East Germany as a condition for a peaceful settlement of the Berlin dispute.

Khrushchev declared in letters released in Moscow that the Soviet Union would guarantee Western access to West Berlin on condition that East and West agree to two Germanys, both neutralized. He said only such a German peace treaty "can remove the danger of a new war."

Six-Month Draft Extension

West German Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss told fellow Christian Democratic members of Parliament in Bonn that draftees in the army, navy and air force probably will serve 18 months, instead of the present 12 after the first of the year.

The move would parallel Communist action across the border. The East German regime Tuesday ordered some of its troops to serve up to six months extra to "increase combat readiness."

The Berlin sector border meanwhile seethed with unrest. East German police hurled tear gas bombs and turned powerful jets of water at a West Berlin crowd gathered near the Communist wall in the American sector.

Earlier in the day a squad of 10 East Berlin police broke into a West Berlin house, apparently in search of one of their comrades who defected.

Coalition Government Seeen

Strauss said the draft extension has the approval of Erich Mende, Free Democratic party leader, who has been negotiating on formation of a coalition government with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. Prospects seem to be that such a government will be formed within a few weeks.

About 30,000 West German draftees, whose service was up Sept. 30, already have had their terms extended three months.

West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano said Bonn is providing its ambassador in Washington, Wilhelm Grewe, with new instructions for dealing with the Berlin crisis.

He did not spell out the instructions but indicated West Germany will continue to follow a tough, no-concessions line.

Kremlin May Force U.S. To Renew Atom Tests Above Ground

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—U.S. Delegate Arthur Dean warned Thursday the Soviet Union is forcing the United States to re-examine whether it will resume testing of nuclear weapons in the atmosphere.

Dean told the 100-nation U.N. Political Committee the Soviet Union could not be permitted to become a member of "atomics anonymous," resuming testing of nuclear weapons at will.

He declared that the United States so far "at great risk to ourselves" has voluntarily restrained testing in the atmosphere, and has conducted only small underground tests.

But he added "with all solemnity and regret" that if the Soviet Union persisted in testing in the atmosphere the United States would have to reconsider its decision not to test above ground.

He proclaimed the willingness of the United States and Britain to sign a treaty with the Soviet Union "here and now" that would ban tests in the atmosphere, on the ocean and underground. He said both Western powers were ready also to begin negotiations on such a treaty.

"That treaty," he said, "would apply in such a way that all further threats to humanity would cease."

Dean was pressing the committee to give priority to a U.S.-British item calling for debate on the need for a test ban treaty under effective international control.

India sought top billing for an item proposing a moratorium on testing without stressing controls.

The committee adjourned after a full day's debate until Friday without taking any decision.

There was little support outside the Communist-bloc countries for Soviet insistence that the nuclear test issue be merged with debate on over-all disarmament.

Britain told the Soviet Union its resumption of tests underscored the urgency for quick U.N. consideration of an effective test ban treaty.

J. B. Godber, Britain's minister of state for foreign affairs, challenged Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin to say whether he actually believed an over-all disarmament agreement could be reached "this month, or even this year."

Godber said that three years ago Zorin was arguing for separate consideration of a test ban treaty, while now he was urging that it be merged in debate on complete and general disarmament.

Rayburn Improved; Sits In Wheel Chair

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) —Cancer-stricken House Speaker Sam Rayburn bounced back "miraculously" Thursday from pneumonia that Wednesday had him in coma and unable to breathe without the help of a machine.

He was so improved, in fact, that he sat up on the side of his bed, and later sat in a wheel chair for a little while. Rayburn, 79, is in Baylor University Medical Center. He has not been told he is suffering from incurable cancer.

The hospital issued a bulletin saying Rayburn received one treatment of the drug FUDR during the day. "His temperature and pulse are normal ... his general condition this evening is essentially the same as reported earlier Thursday. His condition is still serious but not critical."

Soviet Atom Test Fallout Found In Some U.S. Foods

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fallout from Soviet nuclear tests so far does not warrant undue public concern, the Public Health Service said Thursday, although it has found radioactive iodine 131 in fresh food supplies in six U. S. cities.

Surgeon General Luther Terry said his report was based on studies of milk in checkpoint cities in the southeast and that it is probable that the same situation exists throughout the eastern half of the country.

The cities are New Orleans, La.; Atlanta, Ga.; Charleston, S. C.; Jackson, Miss.; Tampa, Fla., and St. Louis, Mo. These were picked as test centers, Terry said, when reports last month indicated that the eastern half of the country had received substantial fallout.

The number of testing points has since been increased to 18 and extended to the West Coast, but no analyses are yet available from the other 12 cities.

The report covers the period Sept. 20-29. The Soviet Union has since set off several other nuclear explosions in the atmosphere. The Soviet resumed testing Sept. 1, and have set off more than 20 explosions.

The surgeon general, in telling of expanded efforts to check on radioactivity, said at present there is no need to limit the intake of radioactive substances by the populace.

Other radioactive substances are being studied, Terry said, with iodine 131 being picked partly because it retains its radioactivity for only a few weeks.

Soviets Warn U.S. Keep Out Of Viet Nam

Moscow Charges Washington Plan To Send Gis There

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow radio asserted Thursday that Washington has "openly aggressive" plans to send troops to South Viet Nam —a step that "can seriously complicate the situation in that part of the world."

While making no threat to send in Soviet troops, the broadcast declared any such U.S. action would "trample on the Geneva agreement about Indochina." That agreement prohibits sending foreign troops to South Viet Nam.

The Soviet Union and Britain hold a special responsibility for maintaining peace in the area, having presided at the 1954 conference in Geneva that produced an armistice and laid down a demarcation line between South Viet Nam and Communist North Viet Nam.

JFK Sending Taylor There

President Kennedy had announced he is sending Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, a top military adviser, to South Viet Nam to determine what steps should be taken to meet rising Communist attacks.

(The White House declined to comment on the Moscow broadcast.)

The broadcast by Andrei Baturin, commentator on foreign policy, obviously reflected the views of the Kremlin.

"Evidently," he said, "Washington, before the eyes of the world, has decided to trample on the Geneva agreement, which prohibits the sending of foreign troops to South Viet Nam.

Warns Of "Complication"

"Such American action in Southeast Asia can seriously complicate the situation in that part of the world."

In a reference to the large U.S. grants of military and economic aid to President Ngo Diem's government in South Viet Nam, Baturin continued:

"Ngo Dinh Diem and his clique find themselves on the brink of bankruptcy notwithstanding tremendous support from abroad. They have been unable to suppress the national liberation movement. Even in the army, many soldiers are going over to the patriotic forces and Ngo is crying for help."

Learn To Live With Dangers Is Ike's Advice

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said Thursday night that Americans must learn to live under the threat of nuclear aggression, possibly for decades, just as their pioneering fathers learned to live under the threat of attack by Indians.

The former President said America's founding fathers, from the time they landed at Plymouth Rock and in Virginia, lived in an atmosphere of danger but they were happy people in spite of the dangers and tensions.

"Today. . .we talk atomic bombs instead of a muzzle loading rifle. But we've got to learn how to live with this," the ex-Chief Executive said. "Some tension, as long as we haven't eliminated the cause, is a good thing because it means alertness. We learn to live with it and still not destroy our lives."

Eisenhower gave his nuclear age philosophy on an hour - long television show.

GM Indicted For Conspiracy

LOS ANGELES (UPI — A federal grand jury Thursdy indicted General Motors Corp, on charges of conspiring to prevent sale of Chevrolet cars through Southern California discount houses — the first such indictment of its kind on record.

Also accused were four Chevrolet sales executives and three Los Angeles Chevrolet Dealers Association. They were accused of conspiring to suppress the sale of Chevrolets at below-list prices by some 80 discount establishments in Southern California.

The accused are charged with violating the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

JFK Salutes Combat-Ready Paratroopers

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP)—President Kennedy stood before the ready-to-fight 82nd Airborne Division Thursday and saluted its more than 10,000 paratroopers as men who willingly live dangerously to defend their country and maintain world freedom.

The President landed at this giant base where the entire 82nd —an elite member of the "fire brigade" Strategic Army Corps— had been drawn up for about five hours under an increasingly hot sun.

Kennedy came here to inspect this crack division — which is trained to move overseas almost instantly—and to witness demonstration of firepower.

He saw prime examples of the kind of conventional military strength he is seeking to build against a background of crises in Berlin and Southeast Asia.

The sky was clear when the President disembarked from his plane after receiving an honorary degree at the University of North Carolina.

The 82nd was drawn up along the runways of Pope Air Force Base, stretching across a front of more than half a mile.

The entire division stood at salute as 21 guns thundered in honor of the commander in chief and the division band played "Hail to the Chief."

Kennedy, standing in the rear of an open white sedan, rode slowly the length of the division, examining its men and weapons. In another open sedan came Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr Jr.

Each of the five battle groups was dressed differently to point up the division's capability to fight in any climate and on any kind of terrain.

Mounting a reviewing stand, Kennedy gazed out over the ranks and massed guns, rockets, planes and other gear.

In a brief talk, the President paid tribute to the all-volunteer outfit as men who did in peacetime what others do in war—"live hazardously in defense of their country."

10 Red Police Break Into W. Berlin House

BERLIN (AP) — Berlin's barbed wire fence was the scene of what authorities called a serious border violation early Thursday when a squad of 10 East Berlin police broke into a West Berlin house, apparently in search of one of their comrades who defected.

"They pounded at the door and threatened to shoot if we didn't open," said the divorced wife of a grade-crossing guard living there with her three children. "Then they broke in, and we fled up to the attic. They all had tommy guns and started searching the house."

The woman said her daughter found an old bugle in the attic and blew it with all her strength until West Berlin police showed up. The East Berliners then withdrew.

Navy Bombers Collide; Six Die

SANFORD, Fla: (UPI) — Two Navy jet bombers, coming in for landings from a training mission, collided in mid-air Thursday, killing the six crew members aboard the planes, the Navy said.

The two Navy A3D multi-jet attack bombers crashed in a sparsely populated area, not far from a school and burst into flames. The heat was so fierce that rescue workers could not make a search for the bodies.

It was the third Navy plane crash in this general area in about a month, but the previous crashes involved only one plane apiece.

A spokesman at the naval air station at Jacksonville, 70 miles to the north, said each plane carried three crewmen and there were no survivors.

Man Who Lost Lung To Cancer Wins New Trial

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Otto Pritchard, 63, a retired Pittsburgh carpenter who contends smoking cigarettes gave him cancer, was granted a new trial Thursday in his $1.2-million damage suit against the Liggett and Myers Tobacco Co.

The U. S. District Court of Appeals ruled that Pritchard's evidence "definitely presents a jury question." The case had been dismissed by a federal judge in Pittsburgh last year.

Pritchard, a smoker for 32 years, charged that cancer developed in his right lung from smoking (Chesterfield) cigarettes. The lung was removed in a 1953 operation.

In his suit, Pritchard alleged that the cigaretts contained "unwholesome and harmful carcinogenic ingredients making them unsafe for human consumption." Five doctors testified in his behalf and blamed smoking for the cancer in Pritchard's lung.

The federal judge who threw out the case ruled that there was no substantial evidence to support the plaintiff's claim of negligence.

Parr To Leave Late Night Show, Have New Program

NEW YORK (AP) — Television entertainer Jack Paar has signed a new contract with the National Broadcasting Co. He will leave his late night show in March for an earlier, weekly program.

Paar intermittently has threatened to quit his 11:15 p.m. show which runs for an hour and 45 minutes.

Although he has said he wanted to quit the show at the end of this year, he had been under contract for the program until fall of 1962.

Under the contract announced Thursday, Paar will leave the show March 30. It will be continued by someone else, to be named later.

Next fall, Paar will begin a weekly series to be aired in the prime evening hours.

"The new program will be live and in color," NBC said. "Its format will be comparable to the present 'Jack Paar Show' with big name guest attractions."

In his four years in the NBC late night show, Paar has become one of the networks most controversial — and profitable — entertainers. His program grosses millions annually from sponsors. It is a low-budget show—in a recent feud with Ed Sullivan of the Columbia Broadcasting System — it was revealed that Paar pays guests a minimum of $320 an appearance, in contrast to thousands paid on other shows, including Sullivan's.

UAW Council Approves New Ford Contract

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers 180-member Ford Council overwhelmingly approved Thursday a new three-year labor contract with Ford Motor Co. and agreed to end the 10-day national strike of 120,000 Ford production workers.

Only four delegates opposed approval.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther then called his executive board into session to take up the problem of 25 local unions that do not have agreements with plant management on working conditions.

These locals represent 61,000 workers in key plants.

Unless local settlements are completed, Ford could still be crippled by strikes.

The council's vote to recommend ratification of the contract by rank and file members came after a nearly four-hour session at which Reuther pleaded for acceptance despite opposition by a small minority of insurgents.

Reuther described acceptance of the contract as enthusiastic.

He said the "four who objected made it clear they were objecting to production standards and not to the national contract. We have never made so much progress before."

Reuther brushed aside a demonstration that was staged outside the meeting hall and described it as unimportant.

He said the group, styling itself the National Committee for Democratic Action in the UAW, did not represent any important element in the union.

As head of the union's international executive board, Reuther planned to sift carefully problems at 25 local bargaining units, which have not reached agreement with Ford and decide which should be authorized to continue striking.

Reuther told Ford he hoped to have everything solved in time for work to resume Monday.

Declares Era Of Cold Peace Faces Nation

Policy Of Firmness, Flexibility When Necessary, Pledged

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — President Kennedy, calling for a policy of firmness blended with flexibility, said Thursday that "while we do not intend to see the free world give up, we shall make every effort to prevent the world from being blown up."

"Peace and freedom do not come cheap," Kennedy said. "And we are destined, all of us here, to live out most if not all of our lives in uncertainty and challenge and peril.

"Our policies must, therefore, blend whatever degree of firmness or flexibility which are necessary to protect our vital interests, by peaceful means, if possible, by resolute action, if necessary."

Kennedy addressed a throng at the University of North Carolina, where he accepted an honorary degree of doctor of laws.

The President noted that for the first time in history two opposing forces have the power to destroy each other.

Face Issues As They Are

"This is a time of national maturity and understanding and willingness to face issues as they are," he said, "not as we would like them to be."

The country must be purposeful, willing to face risks, determined to live up to its words and ready to do its duty "undeterred by fanatics of frenzy at home or abroad," he said, adding:

"Then surely peace and freedom can prevail. We shall be neither Red nor dead—but alive and free, and worthy of the traditions and responsibilities of North Carolina and the United States of America."

The President said it was a dangerous illusion to believe this country's policies can be encompassed in one slogan or adjective —"hard or soft or otherwise."

"Or to believe that we shall soon meet total victory or total defeat, he said.

Appeals To Education

Abut 32,000 shirt-sleeved spectators turned out in balmy-sunlit weather to watch Kennedy receive his degree and implore educated men and women to lend their wisdom and intellectual faculties to the service of their country.

North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford also received an honorary doctorate of laws. The convocation marked the 168th birthday of the University of North Carolina.

Minutes after receiving his 21st honorary degree, the President was whisked to nearby Raleigh-Durham Airport for the short hop to Ft. Bragg, N.C., and a look at some of the nation's military might.

It was at Ft. Bragg, where Kennedy reviewed 10,000 troops of the 82nd Airborne Division, that Kennedy introduced "cold peace" as a phrase to describe this era of humanity instead of "cold war."

Dutch Oust Two Soviet Officials

THE HAGUE, the Netherlands (AP)—Two Soviet Embassy officials were ordered expelled from the Netherlands for brawling with Dutch police over the passport of a Russian woman whose husband defected to the West.

The government announced Thursday it also was taking steps in the case of Soviet Ambassador Panteleimon K. Ponomarenko, who was involved in the fight at the Amsterdam airport Monday.

There was no indication what steps were pending. A government spokesman said previously the Cabinet might request the ambassador's expulsion. Ponomarenko left for Moscow earlier in the day, saying he would report the incident to his government.

Ordered out of the country by Saturday were the Soviet commercial attache, S. W. Chibaew, and the press attache, A. D. Popov. A Dutch note charged both officials were involved in the fist fight that broke out when Dutch police refused to surrender the woman's passport. Reporters at the airport said Popov was injured in the fighting.

Kennedy came here to inspect this crack division — which is trained to move overseas almost instantly—and to witness demonstration of firepower.

He saw prime examples of the kind of conventional military strength he is seeking to build against a background of crises in Berlin and Southeast Asia.

The sky was clear when the President disembarked from his plane after receiving an honorary degree at the University of North Carolina.

The 82nd was drawn up along the runways of Pope Air Force Base, stretching across a front of more than half a mile.

The entire division stood at salute as 21 guns thundered in honor of the commander in chief and the division band played "Hail to the Chief."

Kennedy, standing in the rear of an open white sedan, rode slowly the length of the division, examining its men and weapons. In another open sedan came Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr Jr.

Each of the five battle groups was dressed differently to point up the division's capability to fight in any climate and on any kind of terrain.

Mounting a reviewing stand, Kennedy gazed out over the ranks and massed guns, rockets, planes and other gear.

In a brief talk, the President paid tribute to the all-volunteer outfit as men who did in peacetime what others do in war—"live hazardously in defense of their country."

10 Red Police Break Into W. Berlin House

BERLIN (AP) — Berlin's barbed wire fence was the scene of what authorities called a serious border violation early Thursday when a squad of 10 East Berlin police broke into a West Berlin house, apparently in search of one of their comrades who defected.

"They pounded at the door and threatened to shoot if we didn't open," said the divorced wife of a grade-crossing guard living there with her three children. "Then they broke in, and we fled up to the attic. They all had tommy guns and started searching the house."

The woman said her daughter found an old bugle in the attic and blew it with all her strength until West Berlin police showed up. The East Berliners then withdrew.

Navy Bombers Collide; Six Die

SANFORD, Fla: (UPI) — Two Navy jet bombers, coming in for landings from a training mission, collided in mid-air Thursday, killing the six crew members aboard the planes, the Navy said.

The two Navy A3D multi-jet attack bombers crashed in a sparsely populated area, not far from a school and burst into flames. The heat was so fierce that rescue workers could not make a search for the bodies.

It was the third Navy plane crash in this general area in about a month, but the previous crashes involved only one plane apiece.

A spokesman at the naval air station at Jacksonville, 70 miles to the north, said each plane carried three crewmen and there were no survivors.

Man Who Lost Lung To Cancer Wins New Trial

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Otto Pritchard, 63, a retired Pittsburgh carpenter who contends smoking cigarettes gave him cancer, was granted a new trial Thursday in his $1.2-million damage suit against the Liggett and Myers Tobacco Co.

The U. S. District Court of Appeals ruled that Pritchard's evidence "definitely presents a jury question." The case had been dismissed by a federal judge in Pittsburgh last year.

Pritchard, a smoker for 32 years, charged that cancer developed in his right lung from smoking (Chesterfield) cigarettes. The lung was removed in a 1953 operation.

In his suit, Pritchard alleged that the cigaretts contained "unwholesome and harmful carcinogenic ingredients making them unsafe for human consumption." Five doctors testified in his behalf and blamed smoking for the cancer in Pritchard's lung.

The federal judge who threw out the case ruled that there was no substantial evidence to support the plaintiff's claim of negligence.

UAW Council Approves New Ford Contract

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers 180-member Ford Council overwhelmingly approved Thursday a new three-year labor contract with Ford Motor Co. and agreed to end the 10-day national strike of 120,000 Ford production workers.

Only four delegates opposed approval.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther then called his executive board into session to take up the problem of 25 local unions that do not have agreements with plant management on working conditions.

These locals represent 61,000 workers in key plants.

Unless local settlements are completed, Ford could still be crippled by strikes.

The council's vote to recommend ratification of the contract by rank and file members came after a nearly four-hour session at which Reuther pleaded for acceptance despite opposition by a small minority of insurgents.

Reuther described acceptance of the contract as enthusiastic.

He said the "four who objected made it clear they were objecting to production standards and not to the national contract. We have never made so much progress before."

Reuther brushed aside a demonstration that was staged outside the meeting hall and described it as unimportant.

He said the group, styling itself the National Committee for Democratic Action in the UAW, did not represent any important element in the union.

As head of the union's international executive board, Reuther planned to sift carefully problems at 25 local bargaining units, which have not reached agreement with Ford and decide which should be authorized to continue striking.

Reuther told Ford he hoped to have everything solved in time for work to resume Monday.

Parr To Leave Late Night Show, Have New Program

NEW YORK (AP) — Television entertainer Jack Paar has signed a new contract with the National Broadcasting Co. He will leave his late night show in March for an earlier, weekly program.

Paar intermittently has threatened to quit his 11:15 p.m. show which runs for an hour and 45 minutes.

Although he has said he wanted to quit the show at the end of this year, he had been under contract for the program until fall of 1962.

Under the contract announced Thursday, Paar will leave the show March 30. It will be continued by someone else, to be named later.

Next fall, Paar will begin a weekly series to be aired in the prime evening hours.

"The new program will be live and in color," NBC said. "Its format will be comparable to the present 'Jack Paar Show' with big name guest attractions."

In his four years in the NBC late night show, Paar has become one of the networks most controversial — and profitable — entertainers. His program grosses millions annually from sponsors. It is a low-budget show—in a recent feud with Ed Sullivan of the Columbia Broadcasting System — it was revealed that Paar pays guests a minimum of $320 an appearance, in contrast to thousands paid on other shows, including Sullivan's.

Declares Era Of Cold Peace Faces Nation

Policy Of Firmness, Flexibility When Necessary, Pledged

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — President Kennedy, calling for a policy of firmness blended with flexibility, said Thursday that "while we do not intend to see the free world give up, we shall make every effort to prevent the world from being blown up."

"Peace and freedom do not come cheap," Kennedy said. "And we are destined, all of us here, to live out most if not all of our lives in uncertainty and challenge and peril.

"Our policies must, therefore, blend whatever degree of firmness or flexibility which are necessary to protect our vital interests, by peaceful means, if possible, by resolute action, if necessary."

Kennedy addressed a throng at the University of North Carolina, where he accepted an honorary degree of doctor of laws.

The President noted that for the first time in history two opposing forces have the power to destroy each other.

Face Issues As They Are

"This is a time of national maturity and understanding and willingness to face issues as they are," he said, "not as we would like them to be."

The country must be purposeful, willing to face risks, determined to live up to its words and ready to do its duty "undeterred by fanatics of frenzy at home or abroad," he said, adding:

"Then surely peace and freedom can prevail. We shall be neither Red nor dead—but alive and free, and worthy of the traditions and responsibilities of North Carolina and the United States of America."

The President said it was a dangerous illusion to believe this country's policies can be encompassed in one slogan or adjective —"hard or soft or otherwise."

"Or to believe that we shall soon meet total victory or total defeat, he said.

Appeals To Education

Abut 32,000 shirt-sleeved spectators turned out in balmy-sunlit weather to watch Kennedy receive his degree and implore educated men and women to lend their wisdom and intellectual faculties to the service of their country.

North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford also received an honorary doctorate of laws. The convocation marked the 168th birthday of the University of North Carolina.

Minutes after receiving his 21st honorary degree, the President was whisked to nearby Raleigh-Durham Airport for the short hop to Ft. Bragg, N.C., and a look at some of the nation's military might.

It was at Ft. Bragg, where Kennedy reviewed 10,000 troops of the 82nd Airborne Division, that Kennedy introduced "cold peace" as a phrase to describe this era of humanity instead of "cold war."

Dutch Oust Two Soviet Officials

THE HAGUE, the Netherlands (AP)—Two Soviet Embassy officials were ordered expelled from the Netherlands for brawling with Dutch police over the passport of a Russian woman whose husband defected to the West.

The government announced Thursday it also was taking steps in the case of Soviet Ambassador Panteleimon K. Ponomarenko, who was involved in the fight at the Amsterdam airport Monday.

There was no indication what steps were pending. A government spokesman said previously the Cabinet might request the ambassador's expulsion. Ponomarenko left for Moscow earlier in the day, saying he would report the incident to his government.

Ordered out of the country by Saturday were the Soviet commercial attache, S. W. Chibaew, and the press attache, A. D. Popov. A Dutch note charged both officials were involved in the fist fight that broke out when Dutch police refused to surrender the woman's passport. Reporters at the airport said Popov was injured in the fighting.

AFL-CIO High Command Rebuffs Racism Charge

NEW YORK (AP) — Organized labor's high command Thursday denied laxity in enforcing racial equality among union members as charged by a top union leader.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council overwhelmingly rebuffed accusations leveled by President A. Philip Randolph of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, the council's only Negro member.

Randolph's fellow council members charged his instead with practicing racism by employing only Negroes on his own union's staff and refusing to let white workers get jobs as railroad car porters.

Randolph in turn denied the charges.

The council rejected proposals by the Negro labor chief to adopt a system of stiff penalties, including expulsion of entire unions, for failing to end discriminatory hiring or other practices by fixed deadlines.

Voluntary compliance with the principles of equal rights, the council said, is a more likely and successful solution. It said the AFL-CIO is only a voluntary federation of unions and that each retains the right to run its own affairs.

The council said its voluntary compliance efforts are steadily bringing results.

AFL - CIO president George Meany said Randolph actually was delaying federation progress toward persuading unions to adopt effective civil rights principles. He accused Randolph of driving a gap between Negro and white workers.

Randolph later said the council statement was sterile and barren of any constructive ideas to improve civil rights in unions and eliminate racial bias.

He said he didn't question the good will of Meany or the AFL-CIO council but "the fact remains the AFL-CIO has not yet come to grips with this vital moral issue."

West's Failure To Defend Him Irks S. African

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —South African Foreign Minister Eric Louw assailed the Western powers Thursday for failing to defend him when the General Assembly voted an unprecedented censure of his policy speech.

Obviously smarting over the fact the United States, Britain and France had registered no objection before the 67-1 censure vote was cast, Louw told reporters a statement by U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson to the press came too late to do any good.

The foreign minister warned that the censure vote which followed a bitter attack on his government from a host of enraged black African delegates was certain to trigger demands at home that South Africa pull out of the United Nations.

Louw said he had informed his government of what had happened and received a wire from Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd supporting his stand.

"I expect to get full instructions later," he said, "but I cannot predict what will happen. I cannot say whether the government would agree to demands that it withdraw."

He repeated his charge that the concerted attack on him had been planned by the African states far in advance.

African delegates were angered by Louw's charge that their governments were attacking his regime to divert attention from pitiful economic conditions and illiteracy in their own countries. They also resented it when Louw served notice his government would continue its policy of apartheid—race segregation—no matter how the United Nations felt.

Louw said the Africans had keyed the situation to such an emotional pitch he did not doubt they would launch a move to oust South Africa from the United Nations.

The United States, Britain and France were among nine nations which cast no ballots on the censure proposal put in by Liberia.

Stevenson's statement said the United States rejected Louw's views on racial segregation but that it supported his right "and the right of every speaker before the General Assembly to state his views."

Tunisia Leader Toughens Stand Against France

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — President Habib Bourguiba has toughened his stand toward France, demanding the French recognize that they must give up Bizerte's military base to maintain friendly relations.

Without setting any time limit for a French withdrawal, the Tunisian president declared before a cheering National Assembly Tuesday: "Either this evacuation takes place or there will be war and total banishment of France from Tunisia."

Only last month the leader of this former French colony told Paris that France could continue to occupy the naval and air installation on Tunisia's coast for the duration of the Berlin crisis.

France kept the base after granting Tunisia independence in 1956, saying it was needed as part of the defenses of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Bloody fighting broke out last July when Bourguiba abruptly tried to force the French out of the base.

Bourguiba announced he had sent a note to the French government saying that no agreement—political, economic or cultural—can be made without a prior accord to withdraw French troops from the controversial base.

Cohen Ordered Freed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Racketeer Mickey Cohen Thursday was ordered freed from Alcatraz pending a tax evasion case appeal after his family gambled their business and a home that he would not skip bail.

Plane Pilot Beats Terrible Odds In Surviving Crash

PROVO, Utah (AP)—A 52-year-old pilot who never despaired despite terrible odds was rescued alive early Thursday after more than four days and nights in airplane wreckage on a 12,000-foot mountain.

Joel T. Honey had survived the crash, painful injuries, bitter cold and hunger—his jaw broken, his hip dislocated and his close friend dead beside him.

His only food had been a few grapes pressed against his teeth. Unable to use his shattered jaw, he couldn't eat the apples he had. He made dozens of snowballs and sucked on them to relieve his thirst.

"I think I still could have made it through the weekend," he told his rescuers. They thought it incredible that he made it at all. Only the tiny gleam from his two-cell flashlight saved him Wednesday night.

Honey, a Needles, Calif., railroad worker, was flying to Provo last Saturday afternoon to visit his son when the plane was caught in a violent snowstorm over foreboding Mt. Timpanogos.

Honey radioed that he and his passenger, William Royal, also 52, were hopelessly lost in extremely rough weather, their navigation aids almost useless.

From his hospital bed Thursday, Honey recalled the harrowing moments: "Bill got frightened, grabbed the [illegible] and jerked it to the right. I wouldn't say that this caused the crash. He thought he was doing right. We hit a down current and then clipped a tree.

"The plane hit hard. I was knocked out and Bill was badly hurt. When I came to, I checked his pulse. He wasn't breathing. I got out of my seat through the windshield, got up on the engine and pulled the seat over me, then slipped back into the cockpit. I filled in all the cracks against the snow—mostly for something to do.

"I pulled on all the clothes around, even some of Bill's. I had three pairs of pants, another shirt, a heavy sheepskin coat. For two days and nights I had a fire going under the right wing from the gas tank. But no one saw it."

Honey's survival of the ordeal at the 8,500-foot level amazed searchers who know well the hazards of Timpanogos when winter is near.

Conservatives Back Common Market Step

BRIGHTON, England (AP) — Britain's Conservative party supported with misgivings Thursday Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's decision to seek membership in the European Common Market.

The decision was taken by 5,000 delegates at the party's annual conference. It gave the government the rank-and-file political support it needs at home for negotiations which lie ahead with the six market countries.

By a show of hands the conference overwhelmingly supported a policy favoring the Common Market. It was clear from the tone of the debate, however, that many had grave doubts about the wisdom of such a step. Some predicted Britain's economic linkup with Western Europe would wreck the Commonwealth.

Rail "Featherbedding" Hearing Nears Windup

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential commission was ready Thursday to wind up an eight-month hearing on whether railroads are required to hire more workers than the carriers say they need to operate properly.

The commission was appointed to resolve a long dispute between the railroads and rail unions over contract rules which prescribe minimums in the number and size of train crews.

Railroad charges of "featherbedding" have been countered by union claims that the prescribed work forces are needed for safety and efficient train operation.

Summarizing the railroads' rebuttal testimony Thursday, Hugh Greer of Chicago said union testimony had not refuted railroad claims that 20,000 unneeded men must be hired at a cost of $149.5 million a year. He was the railroads' final witness.

The five rail operating unions may present further rebuttal, but were expected to do so only in written statements. Whether oral arguments will be heard has not yet been decided.

The commission, which started hearing testimony Feb. 6, is scheduled to report to President Kennedy by Dec. 1 but has authority to delay its findings for as much as 90 days if necessary.

Greer, who is secretary of the committee on labor relations of the Association of Western Railways, contended that work rules, laws and practices "require the employment of many unneeded men and impose tremendous burdens on railroad service."

Rambler in 3rd place! Now outsells all other U.S. cars but two!

RAMBLER Announces Major Improvements, Lower Prices On All Models!

We're giving you an obviously better value in product and price to get you to switch to Rambler.

More built-in value • New styling • New Double-Safety Brake System—one system for front brakes, one for rear • Self-adjusting brakes • New Road Command Suspension on Classic, Ambassador for easier steering, more stability, smoother ride, with chassis lubrication that lasts 33 times longer • Many parts lubricated for life • Dowgard Full-Fill Engine Coolant—low cost, good for 2 years • 4,000-mile engine-oil change, oil filter standard • New E-Stick Transmission—no-clutch-pedal driving at ½ usual cost, stick-shift economy—option, American • New optional Lounge-Tilt Seat—adjusts front-passenger seat for knee height • 27% more road clearance on Classic, Ambassador—19% more on American • 2-year battery.

Lower prices—On every '62 Rambler, our suggested factory-delivered price is lower than on the comparable 1961 model. Of 27 regular models offered, 13 show prices lower by $112 or more, and seven of these are lower by $209 or more.

By a show of hands the conference overwhelmingly supported a policy favoring the Common Market. It was clear from the tone of the debate, however, that many had grave doubts about the wisdom of such a step. Some predicted Britain's economic linkup with Western Europe would wreck the Commonwealth.

Hoffa To File Libel Suit Against Meany

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—Teamsters President James R. Hoffa said Thursday he would file a $1-million libel and slander suit in Detroit federal court Monday against AFL - CIO President George Meany.

Hoffa, here to address a meeting of the Michigan Building and Construction Trades Council, challenged Meany to name any racketeers and gamblers in the Teamsters Union.

Hoffa charged Meany had libeled the Teamsters in saying the union leadership was riddled with corruption.

RAMBLER Announces Major Improvements, Lower Prices On All Models!

We're giving you an obviously better value in product and price to get you to switch to Rambler.

More built-in value • New styling • New Double-Safety Brake System—one system for front brakes, one for rear • Self-adjusting brakes • New Road Command Suspension on Classic, Ambassador for easier steering, more stability, smoother ride, with chassis lubrication that lasts 33 times longer • Many parts lubricated for life • Dowgard Full-Fill Engine Coolant—low cost, good for 2 years • 4,000-mile engine-oil change, oil filter standard • New E-Stick Transmission—no-clutch-pedal driving at ⅓ usual cost, stick-shift economy—option, American • New optional Lounge-Tilt Seat—adjusts front-passenger seat for knee height • 27% more road clearance on Classic, Ambassador—19% more on American • 2-year battery.

Lower prices—On every '62 Rambler, our suggested factory-delivered price is lower than on the comparable 1961 model. Of 27 regular models offered, 13 show prices lower by $112 or more, and seven of these are lower by $209 or more.

Rambler Ambassador V-8—Every model priced at least $200 lower.

Rambler Classic 6—From $50 to $230 lower.

Rambler American—Already America's lowest priced, but most models now lower by at least $100.

As American Motors' President George Romney recently stated for the press: "Our price action is based on the opportunity we have at the present time to take another big step forward in expanding Rambler's portion of the car market. Our progress-sharing program . . . is the key to building a stronger competitive position and a stronger future-earnings position in the automobile industry."

You step up into trouble-free quality when you step into a Rambler. See your Rambler dealer today—take a Discovery Drive.

Nurses Alumnae Present Honorary Memberships

The Nurses Alumnae Association of Sacred Heart Hospital presented honorary memberships and elected a delegate to the convention at the meeting Wednesday evening at the nurses' home. Miss Christine J. Williams presided and presented the honorary memberships to Sister Mary Richard, administrator of the hospital; Sister John Mildred, Sister Alice Marie, Sister Natalie, Sister Kathleen Marie, Sister Mary Justin, Sister Margaret Mary and to Mrs. Maryetta Early, director of the nursing school.

Miss Williams was elected to attend the nurses convention in Baltimore, October 18, 19 and 20, at the Sheraton-Belvedere. Final plans were formulated for the biennial Nurses Homecoming, which will be October 28. It was reported 550 invitations have been extended. The deadline for reservations is October 25. Mrs. Frances George is chairman of the social and decorating committee. She appointed Mrs. Stella Sell, Miss Catherine Stakem, Miss Margaret Lee Lynch, Mrs. Joan Ryan and Mrs. Margaret Conlon to assist her.

A social hour was held following the meeting, at which time the Halloween motif was carried out. Twenty-one members attended. The next alumnae meeting will be held November 15 instead of the 8th, because of the cancer seminar to be held at Memorial Hospital on the 8th.

Christmas In October To Be Observed

The Women of the Moose, Chapter 914, will have its annual Christmas in October program for the children at Moose Heart and Moose Haven tonight. The gifts are to be brought ready for packing.

An executive board meeting will be held at 7:30, with the general session at 8. A social hour will follow.

Soroptimists To Sponsor Card Party

The Cumberland Soroptimist Club will sponsor a public card party in February, Mrs. Maxine Doak, ways and means chairman, and vice president, announced at the meeting of the club, which she conducted Wednesday evening at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. The place and date are to be chosen and chairmen appointed later.

An invitation was read from the Baltimore club to its 30th anniversary dinner later this month. Mrs. Mary Beth Wheeler discussed the various classifications and two new members were welcomed. They are Mrs. Lee Miller and Mrs. Georgetta Gilford.

Miss Jeanette Bonig and Miss Olive Hurlburt reported on the area meeting held in Hagerstown Saturday, at which time clubs were asked to mark "International Goodwill and Understanding," during November. The local club plans to have a speaker on the topic. Miss Hurlburt also asked that material for the bulletin be given to her by October 21. Different committee chairmen also reported.

The next board meeting will be held November 10 in the main dining room of the Fort Cumberland Hotel at 5:30, preceding the general business meeting.

Bride-Elect Honored

Several pre-nuptial showers have been given in compliment to Miss Veronica Martin, fiancee of Raymond R. Valentine, Jr. The marriage of Miss Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garard T. Martin, 13 Blackiston Avenue, to Mr. Valentine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond R. Valentine, 57 Blackiston Avenue, will be performed tomorrow at 7 p. m. in St. Mary's Church.

Mrs. Ernest Kaylor entertained at her home, Blackiston Avenue. The gifts were arranged in a white clothes basket, wedding bells and white flowers were used in the decorations. Twenty guests attended.

A cake plate, used at the wedding of the bride-elect's grandmother, held the shower cake at the party given by Mrs. James Martin at her home, Massachusetts Avenue. Covers were laid for 11.

Wedding bells and pink streamers were used in the decorations by Mrs. Clarence Englebach for her party at her home, Moran Avenue. Eighteen guests attended.

Women's Sport Club Discusses Projects

The Women's Sport Club had Mrs. Edward W. Dove as guest speaker at the meeting Wednesday evening at the Ali Ghan Country Club. Mrs. Madelyn Rizer presided. Mrs. Dove, member of the Woman's Civic Club and chairman of its community improvement program for the development of Camp Tioga, told about the camp, swimming pool and what it needed and appealed for support. She said the project would continue until March 1962.

Sports Club members decided to concentrate on its needy families for Thanksgiving and Christmas and vote on the project later.

The Halloween theme was carried out in the decorations with pumpkins and candles and repeated in the favors and tallies. Mrs. Helen Thomas was chairman of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Rosalie Evans and Mrs. Nellie Nycum. The committee for next month consists of Mrs. Shirley Eisenberger, chairman, Miss Anna Lottig and Mrs. Veronica Schleifman.

Bridge and 500 concluded the evening. The special award was won by Mrs. Martha Gerkins. Winners at bridge were Miss Mary Jo Schellhaus, Mrs. Esther Stevens, Mrs. Lona Daum; and at 500, Miss Cathleen Diehl, Mrs. Katherine Sowers and Mrs. Leona Bootman. Prizes were bracelet and ear ring sets; long handled flower mirrors and floral sachets.

Guests were Mrs. Ada Shorts, Mrs. Lucille Davidson, Mrs. Mary Lou Dawson, Mrs. Wilda Parsons, Mrs. Sowers, Mrs. Gwendolyn Price and Mrs. Marian Sciba of California. Other members attending were Mrs. Frances Aman, Mrs. Lucille Durrett, Mrs. Bessie Hanks, Miss Wanda Lee Hanks, Mrs. Gladys Head, Mrs. Mary Humbertson, Mrs. Hazel Keech, Mrs. Sarah Kelley, Mrs. Marjory Kight, Mrs. Lillian Klavuhn, Mrs. Martha McNeil, Mrs. Virginia Matt, Mrs. Mary Miller, Mrs. Mabel Pierce, Mrs. Mary Ellen Serf, Mrs. Edith Shanholtz and Mrs. LaVerne Tewell.

Social Chart

The Cumberland Community Council will meet at 8:30 tonight at the Woman's Civic Club house.

Rainbow Girls and Fort Hill High School girls are asked to be at the VFW home, 205 Union Street, at 10:30 tomorrow morning to receive the World War I tags and arm bands for the sale.

4-H County Fun Night will be held at 7:30 tonight in the Lonaconing Presbyterian Church education building.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Face-And-Figure It Out For Yourself

Until your figure faults disappear, isn't our advice to wear bright colors that flatter you all wrong? Must you stay in the dull range when, according to the underlying tones of your skin, you should wear certain of the most exciting shades of the rainbow?

This example points the way to your answer. A vivid brunette who's stunning in strong yellows and yellow - reds has a hip problem. Her hips look twice as large when she wears exactly these colors. Should she omit from her wardrobe the colors that flatter her face in favor of those which are kinder to her figure? Not at all. She can continue to wear yellow and red, but she must wear them differently or in a lower key.

The strong yellow might appear in a blouse with a dark suit, or for the hat with the most chic she's worn in years. It might be a trim on a dress or a chapeau, or another accessory. Chinese red might be worn in any of the same ways, or she might wear a red dress in a softer shade, a rich maroon or perhaps even a dusty coral.

You can face-and-figure it out for yourself. You know the colors you wear best — always those which include the true underlying tones of your skin. If you don't, in daylight place a piece of dead-white paper against the inside of your wrist. In comparison to the paper, your skin tints will show pink or ochre, which puts you in the warm color type class, or blue, which makes you belong to the cool type. Avoid large areas of the brightest colors that belong to you, but wear them in smaller areas or in duller shades if your figure won't stand the emphasis of their full brilliance.

Whenever you shop, you'll want to keep your color type in mind. Send today for my pamphlet called "Your Color Type." Address your request to me, John Robert Powers, c/o this newspaper, enclosing 10c, and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. It should be delivered within two weeks.

Reservations Due Oct. 18

Reservations for the luncheon meeting of the Western Maryland Branch of the Baltimore Presbyterial are to be made by October 18 with Mrs. Frank Tepper, PA 4-2523, or circle chairmen.

Mrs. E. Lansing Bennett, Salisbury, a member of the board of national missions, United Presbyterian Church, will be the speaker at the branch meeting October 20 at First Presbyterian Church, Cumberland. Mrs. Albert H. Macy will conduct the business session, beginning at 10:30 a.m. The luncheon will be at 12:30.

MYF To Collect For UNICEF

The Fairview Avenue MYF will collect for UNICEF, October 28 in the north end section, Paul Wilson announced at the meeting Wednesday evening. Plans were made for a Christmas play and to make holiday favors for the county home. It was voted to have a bake sale October 19, in the church basement, beginning at noon.

New members were installed by Carol Sue Baker. They are Susan Wilson, Joan Leasure, Rena Robinette and George Baker.

Other officers are Carol Jack, vice president; Wilda Bull, secretary; and Susan Leslie, treasurer. Mrs. Douglas Dawson is leader. Margaret Willison was in charge of the program.

Bridge Winners Are Announced

With a score of 139, Mrs. Arthur Friedland and A. J. Feigus topped the field in the charity master point game of the Potomac Valley Bridge Club Tuesday evening at the Woman's Civic Club house. Nine tables were in play with an average of 108. Other North-South winners were Mrs. Frederick Puderbaugh, Mrs. William Snyder, 126½; Mrs. Joseph Wood, Edgar J. Dawson, 121½; Mrs. Roger Day, Mrs. John Laughlin, 115.

East-West winners were Miss Alice Stakem, Theodore Gray, 135; Mrs. Joseph Feldstein, Robert Stafford, 121½; Mrs. Roy Drumm, Mrs. Ray Goetz, 110; Mrs. David Sigel, John R. Wilkinson, 109½.

Hawaii Travelogue To Be Presented

A travelogue on Hawaii will be given by Miss Dorothy Willison at the meeting of the LaVale Methodist Men's Club tonight. A pot luck supper at 6:30, will precede the meeting in the fellowship hall. Vocal music teacher at Allegany High School, Miss Willison attended the University of Hawaii during the summer.

Club officers are William Robinson, president; Eugene McGill, vice president; Vincent Mancus, secretary; James Walburn, treasurer. Chairmen are Kenneth Williams, membership; Jack Burkett, attendance; Dr. W. Ardell Haines, program; Jesse Kave and William Nave, project; Charles E. Alford, publicity; David Moreland, devotions, and Frank Gaglian, visitation.

Cumberland Chapter, OES, will have "Electra Night" tonight at 8 at the temple.

The Columbus Day dance of the Knights of Columbus will be held tonight at the home, beginning at 10 p. m.

Union Grove Committees Appointed

Nominating and auditing committees were appointed at the meeting of the Union Grove Homemakers Club, held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Richard Douglass, Talbott Street. Mrs. William Rilling, Mrs. Ruthella Fey and Mrs. Douglass were named to the nominating committee; Mrs. Ruth Thomas, Mrs. Mary Wentling and Mrs. Elva Brotemarkle, the auditing committee. A donation of $2 was made to CUF.

Roll call was answered with each giving her greatest home achievement this year. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Helen White and Mrs. Albert Smouse. The thought of the month was given by Mrs. Steve Bowling. The history of the hymn, "The God of Abraham Praise" by Mrs. Rilling, who was cohostess with Miss Eulah McMackin.

Mrs. Douglass read an article on the golden rod, flower of the month, and yellow hammer, bird of the month. Mrs. Fey spoke on "Feeling Comfortable about One's Self." Mrs. White reported apples and sweet potatoes, the best buys of the month. Mrs. Smouse talked on "The 10 Commandments of Gun Safety" and "Danger in the Medicine Cabinet."

Visitors were Miss Pauline Hollahan, Miss Vera Lee Bowling and Mrs. Frank Tole. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Luther Brotemarkle.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Conlon, Sr., 208 Schley Street, have returned from Louisville, Ky., where they visited their daughter, Sister M. Brendan, at Sacred Heart Academy.

Mrs. M. W. Bean, Moorefield, W. Va., is a medical patient in Memorial Hospital.

James H. Brown, Green Spring, W. Va., is a patient in Memorial Hospital. He formerly was employed by the Potomac Edison Company.

Convention Delegate, BSW Chairman Appointed

Appointments were made by Mrs. Veletta Kinsley at the meeting of the Allegany Hairdressers Association held Monday evening at Central YMCA. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Patricia Petry. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Virginia Nave, John Taylor and Miss Ethel Henry gave the sunshine report.

James Rice was appointed to be chairman of National Beauty Salon Week, replacing Miss Fay Orndorff, who resigned. A report on the state meeting which was held October 1 in Hagerstown, was given by Mrs. Nave.

Delegates appointed to the state convention are Mrs. Catherine Welton, Mrs. Evelyn George and Mrs. Alberta Lindner. The alternates are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Scott and James Rice. The convention will be in Baltimore November 11 and 12.

Officers will be elected at the November 13 meeting. There also is to be a guest speaker from the civil defense program.

Others present were Miss Edith Crabtree, Miss Sondra Board, Mr. Rice, Mrs. Evelyn George, Mrs. Welton, Mrs. Elma Jones, Mrs. Hettie Taylor and Mrs. Dorothy Dyer.

Seminar Postponed

Miss Christine J. Williams, chairman of nursing service in Allegany County, announces the Nursing Service seminar of the American Red Cross, which was to be held October 25, has been postponed until a later date.

Soroptimists To Sponsor Card Party

The Cumberland Soroptimist Club will sponsor a public card party in February, Mrs. Maxine Doak, ways and means chairman, and vice president, announced at the meeting of the club, which she conducted Wednesday evening at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. The place and date are to be chosen and chairmen appointed later.

An invitation was read from the Baltimore club to its 30th anniversary dinner later this month. Mrs. Mary Beth Wheeler discussed the various classifications and two new members were welcomed. They are Mrs. Lee Miller and Mrs. Georgetta Gilford.

Miss Jeanette Bonig and Miss Olive Hurlburt reported on the area meeting held in Hagerstown Saturday, at which time clubs were asked to mark "International Goodwill and Understanding," during November. The local club plans to have a speaker on the topic. Miss Hurlburt also asked that material for the bulletin be given to her by October 21. Different committee chairmen also reported.

The next board meeting will be held November 10 in the main dining room of the Fort Cumberland Hotel at 5:30, preceding the general business meeting.

Bride-Elect Honored

Several pre-nuptial showers have been given in compliment to Miss Veronica Martin, fiancee of Raymond R. Valentine, Jr. The marriage of Miss Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garard T. Martin, 13 Blackiston Avenue, to Mr. Valentine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond R. Valentine, 57 Blackiston Avenue, will be performed tomorrow at 7 p. m. in St. Mary's Church.

Mrs. Ernest Kaylor entertained at her home, Blackiston Avenue. The gifts were arranged in a white clothes basket, wedding bells and white flowers were used in the decorations. Twenty guests attended.

A cake plate, used at the wedding of the bride-elect's grandmother, held the shower cake at the party given by Mrs. James Martin at her home, Massachusetts Avenue. Covers were laid for 11.

Wedding bells and pink streamers were used in the decorations by Mrs. Clarence Englebach for her party at her home, Moran Avenue. Eighteen guests attended.

Women's Sport Club Discusses Projects

The Women's Sport Club had Mrs. Edward W. Dove as guest speaker at the meeting Wednesday evening at the Ali Ghan Country Club. Mrs. Madelyn Rizer presided. Mrs. Dove, member of the Woman's Civic Club and chairman of its community improvement program for the development of Camp Tioga, told about the camp, swimming pool and what it needed and appealed for support. She said the project would continue until March 1962.

Sports Club members decided to concentrate on its needy families for Thanksgiving and Christmas and vote on the project later.

The Halloween theme was carried out in the decorations with pumpkins and candles and repeated in the favors and tallies. Mrs. Helen Thomas was chairman of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Rosalie Evans and Mrs. Nellie Nycum. The committee for next month consists of Mrs. Shirley Eisenberger, chairman, Miss Anna Lottig and Mrs. Veronica Schleifman.

Bridge and 500 concluded the evening. The special award was won by Mrs. Martha Gerkins. Winners at bridge were Miss Mary Jo Schellhaus, Mrs. Esther Stevens, Mrs. Lona Daum; and at 500, Miss Cathleen Diehl, Mrs. Katherine Sowers and Mrs. Leona Bootman. Prizes were bracelet and ear ring sets; long handled flower mirrors and floral sachets.

Guests were Mrs. Ada Shorts, Mrs. Lucille Davidson, Mrs. Mary Lou Dawson, Mrs. Wilda Parsons, Mrs. Sowers, Mrs. Gwendolyn Price and Mrs. Marian Sciba of California. Other members attending were Mrs. Frances Aman, Mrs. Lucille Durrett, Mrs. Bessie Hanks, Miss Wanda Lee Hanks, Mrs. Gladys Head, Mrs. Mary Humbertson, Mrs. Hazel Keech, Mrs. Sarah Kelley, Mrs. Marjory Kight, Mrs. Lillian Klavuhn, Mrs. Martha McNeil, Mrs. Virginia Matt, Mrs. Mary Miller, Mrs. Mabel Pierce, Mrs. Mary Ellen Serf, Mrs. Edith Shanholtz and Mrs. LaVerne Tewell.

The Cumberland Community Council will meet at 8:30 tonight at the Woman's Civic Club house.

Rainbow Girls and Fort Hill High School girls are asked to be at the VFW home, 205 Union Street, at 10:30 tomorrow morning to receive the World War I tags and arm bands for the sale.

4-H County Fun Night will be held at 7:30 tonight in the Lonaconing Presbyterian Church education building.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Face-And-Figure It Out For Yourself

Until your figure faults disappear, isn't our advice to wear bright colors that flatter you all wrong? Must you stay in the dull range when, according to the underlying tones of your skin, you should wear certain of the most exciting shades of the rainbow?

This example points the way to your answer. A vivid brunette who's stunning in strong yellows and yellow - reds has a hip problem. Her hips look twice as large when she wears exactly these colors. Should she omit from her wardrobe the colors that flatter her face in favor of those which are kinder to her figure? Not at all. She can continue to wear yellow and red, but she must wear them differently or in a lower key.

The strong yellow might appear in a blouse with a dark suit, or for the hat with the most chic she's worn in years. It might be a trim on a dress or a chapeau, or another accessory. Chinese red might be worn in any of the same ways, or she might wear a red dress in a softer shade, a rich maroon or perhaps even a dusty coral.

You can face-and-figure it out for yourself. You know the colors you wear best — always those which include the true underlying tones of your skin. If you don't, in daylight place a piece of dead-white paper against the inside of your wrist. In comparison to the paper, your skin tints will show pink or ochre, which puts you in the warm color type class, or blue, which makes you belong to the cool type. Avoid large areas of the brightest colors that belong to you, but wear them in smaller areas or in duller shades if your figure won't stand the emphasis of their full brilliance.

Whenever you shop, you'll want to keep your color type in mind. Send today for my pamphlet called "Your Color Type." Address your request to me, John Robert Powers, c/o this newspaper, enclosing 10c, and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. It should be delivered within two weeks.

Three Charged With Passing Bogus $20 Bills

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bail totaling $15,000 was set Thursday for three Washington men charged with passing counterfeit $20 bills in St. Marys County.

The three men were arrested Wednesday night by Secret Service agents and Maryland State Police in Hollywood, Md., near Lexington Park.

Charged with passing four fake $20 bills yesterday at Charlotte Hall, Md. are James Tolan, 56, Randall I. Ward, 32, and Arnold J. Rice, 24.

U.S. Commissioner Ernest Volkart set bail at $10,000 for Tolan and $2,500 each for Ward and Rice.

John R. Hargrove, deputy U.S. attorney, said Tolan was free on a $50,000 appeal bond from an 18-year sentence for armed robbery in the $9,500 holdup of a private club near Frederick in April 1960. John H. Hanly, head of the Secret Service here, said the bogus notes recovered Wednesday were from a plant in Danville, Va., which was raided Aug. 18. Agents arrested six persons in that case and recovered $30,000 in counterfeit $20 bills.

Hanly said the bills recovered in St. Marys County, estimated by another agent at $2,500, were the only ones unaccounted for from the Danville operation.

Tawes Weighs Prison Report

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes said Thursday he will "take whatever action the situation demands" after he has studied a Washington County grand jury report which recommended a sweeping study of Maryland's prison system.

Tawes said he will confer with G. C. A. Anderson, chairman of the State Board of Correction, and carefully examine the report before acting on it.

The jury report, issued Wednesday, urged Tawes to order a thorough study of the prison system, investigating claims of "poor leadership," "political interference" and "complacency."

The jury also contended that James W. Curran, superintendent of prisons, ordered employes of the Reformatory for Males not to bring their complaints to the grand jury.

Curran and Anderson both reserved comment Thursday until they have read the report.

Arundel Candidate

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—An Annapolis attorney, Nicholas J. Fotos, announced Thursday that he will be a candidate for Democratic nomination as Anne Arundel County state's attorney.

Pedestrian Killed

BALTIMORE (AP) — W. Oscar Kane, 75, of Baltimore was struck and killed by a truck at a city intersection Thursday. Police identified the driver as L. V. Marrow, also of Baltimore.

Maryland News In Brief

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Maryland's gasoline tax receipts netted $5,052,640 last month, an increase of 3 per cent over September 1960, state officials reported Thursday.

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said the funds will be distribut as follows: $2,526,320 for the State Roads Commission, $1,515,792 for Baltimore City and $1,010,528 to the SRC for use by counties and municipalities.

LEONARDTOWN, Md. (AP) — State Police have charged Richard R. Matthews, 39, of Great Mills with the fatal shooting of a 50-year-old Valley Lee man Wednesday night.

The victim, Herman J. Barnes, was killed by a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun.

Deputy Sheriff William Sanner said Barnes went to Matthews' home Wednesday night and an argument developed. He said Barnes was shot in the leg and bled to death.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad said Thursday it will provide extra cars on its passenger trains Saturday for air travelers who may be grounded by Operation Sky Shield II.

The B&O is providing the equipment in anticipation of a blank-out of all commercial air service during a 12-hour period between 1 p.m. Saturday and 1 a.m. Sunday, when U.S. defenses will be tested against a mock attack.

B&O officials said pamphlets will be distributed to passengers riding trains during the Sky Shield operation, enumerating "the advantages of railroad travel."

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland chapter of Ducks Unlimited hopes to add about 1,000 new members this year.

Donnell Smith, chairman of the Maryland chapter, said the current membership drive is the biggest in the group's 23-year history. The aim of the group is to revive a fast-dwindling duck population.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Army Corps of Engineers said Thursday it will have to approve a proposed East-West Expressway route over Baltimore's inner harbor.

A spokesman for the Army engineers said a decision would have to be made on whether the proposed span would adversely affect shipping.

City highway consultants Wednesday recommended an East-West route which would cross the inner harbor on a causeway.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clifford Earl Hazel, scheduled to die in the Maryland gas chamber next week for the rape of a Baltimore housewife, made a last-minute appeal Thursday to the Supreme Court.

Hazel asked for a stay of execution and a review of certain constitutional questions raised in a post-conviction procedure that was rejected by the Maryland courts.

Disc Jockey Sets Shelter Record

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Baltimore disk jockey set a record Thursday for consecutive hours spent in a Civil Defense fallout shelter.

Buddy McGregor (of Station WITH) remained in the shelter after setting the endurance record of 241 hours. The former record, set in both California and Massachusetts, was 240 hours.

McGregor entered the steel shelter at 3:30 p.m. Oct. 2. He has been living under simulated emergency conditions and has survived on Civil Defense-recommendde rations.

Dr. John Thomas, McGregor's personal physician, said he was in fine condition.

McGregor reported he encountered only minor difficulties since he entered the shelter. He said last Friday he was unable to get fresh air. The disk jockey said the shelter became overheated, air became scarce and he had to rely on a portable emergency oxygen dispenser.

Civil Defense workers were on hand outside the shelter to answer any questions the public might have on shelter survival.

Harrison Tilghman Funeral Tomorrow

EASTON, Md. (AP — Funeral services will be held here Saturday for Col. Harrison Tilghman, an attorney, a retired Army officer and a descendant of one of Maryland's oldest families.

Col. Tilghman died suddenly last night after being stricken with an apparent heart attack at his home, Foxley Hall. He was 76.

He was a direct descendant of Lt. Col. Tench Tilghman, a Revolutionary War officer who carried the news of Lord Cornwallis' surrender from Yorktown to the government in Philadelphia.

Injured Woman, Tardy Filing Claim, Appeals

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Court of Appeals was asked Thursday to decide whether a woman injured by a hit-and-run driver could wait beyond the statutory deadline for filing a claim against Maryland's Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund.

Ruth F. Hart appealed a Prince Georges County Circuit Court ruling denying her application to sue the commissioner of motor vehicles.

She was struck by an unidentified driver while standing beside her car on Forestville Road near Suitland Parkway Feb. 13, 1960.

Her attorneys contended Mrs. Hart was incapacitated during the 90-day time limit (now 180 days) allowed for filing such claims. They said she was not aware of the fund and possible relief until 6½ months after the accident.

Attorneys for the commissioner asked that the appeal be dismissed. They said Mrs. Hart was not mentally incapacitated and that someone could have filed the claim on her behalf. They argued further that ignorance of the law was not a valid excuse for failing to file the claim.

27-Gun Salute Given Gov. Tawes

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Gov. J. Millard Tawes got six more guns than the President of the United States.

The Maryland governor received a 27-gun salute when he took the review at the U. S. Naval Academy on his annual state visit Wednesday.

The president and heads of foreign governments receive the maximum—21 guns.

Tawes moved six guns ahead of everyone when the Navy gun crew—far removed from the parade field—fired off eight rounds before it learned it was premature. The gun crew stopped and later gave Tawes his proper 19-gun salute.

"Blue Law" Exemptions Sought

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Baltimore legislator said Thursday he will seek to exempt merchants of certain religious faiths from a proposed state-wide Sunday closing law.

Del. Richard T. Rombro, D-Balto. 4th, said his proposal would allow merchants to remain open Sunday only if they closed their establishments on the Sabbath observed by their religion.

Rombro plans to introduce his amendment if a "blue law" bill now before the Legislative Council is approved.

Rombro said his amendment would protect merchants who conscientiously observe a Sabbath other than Sunday and would thwart persons who use the religious argument to gain commercial advantage.

At a council hearing Wednesday, several business groups strongly urged adoption of a new Sunday-closing law drafted by the Governor's Committee on Sunday Observance.

The council has scheduled a November meeting to hear from opponents of the measure.

Three Charged With Passing Bogus $20 Bills

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bail totaling $15,000 was set Thursday for three Washington men charged with passing counterfeit $20 bills in St. Marys County.

The three men were arrested Wednesday night by Secret Service agents and Maryland State Police in Hollywood, Md., near Lexington Park.

Charged with passing four fake $20 bills yesterday at Charlotte Hall, Md. are James Tolan, 56, Randall I. Ward, 32, and Arnold J. Rice, 24.

U.S. Commissioner Ernest Volkart set bail at $10,000 for Tolan and $2,500 each for Ward and Rice.

John R. Hargrove, deputy U.S. attorney, said Tolan was free on a $50,000 appeal bond from an 18-year sentence for armed robbery in the $9,500 holdup of a private club near Frederick in April 1960.

John H. Hanly, head of the Secret Service here, said the bogus notes recovered Wednesday were from a plant in Danville, Va., which was raided Aug. 18. Agents arrested six persons in that case and recovered $30,000 in counterfeit $20 bills.

Hanly said the bills recovered in St. Marys County, estimated by another agent at $2,500, were the only ones unaccounted for from the Danville operation.

Tawes Weighs Prison Report

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes said Thursday he will "take whatever action the situation demands" after he has studied a Washington County grand jury report which recommended a sweeping study of Maryland's prison system.

Tawes said he will confer with G. C. A. Anderson, chairman of the State Board of Correction, and carefully examine the report before acting on it.

The jury report, issued Wednesday, urged Tawes to order a thorough study of the prison system, investigating claims of "poor leadership," "political interference" and "complacency."

The jury also contended that James W. Curran, superintendent of prisons, ordered employes of the Reformatory for Males not to bring their complaints to the grand jury.

Curran and Anderson both reserved comment Thursday until they have read the report.

Arundel Candidate

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—An Annapolis attorney, Nicholas J. Fotos, announced Thursday that he will be a candidate for Democratic nomination as Anne Arundel County state's attorney.

Pedestrian Killed

BALTIMORE (AP) — W. Oscar Kane, 75, of Baltimore was struck and killed by a truck at a city intersection Thursday. Police identified the driver as L. V. Marrow, also of Baltimore.

Maryland News In Brief

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Maryland's gasoline tax receipts netted $5,052,640 last month, an increase of 3 per cent over September 1960, state officials reported Thursday.

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said the funds will be distribut as follows: $2,526,320 for the State Roads Commission, $1,515,792 for Baltimore City and $1,010,528 to the SRC for use by counties and municipalities.

LEONARDTOWN, Md. (AP) — State Police have charged Richard R. Matthews, 39, of Great Mills with the fatal shooting of a 50-year-old Valley Lee man Wednesday night.

The victim, Herman J. Barnes, was killed by a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun.

Deputy Sheriff William Sanner said Barnes went to Matthews' home Wednesday night and an argument developed. He said Barnes was shot in the leg and bled to death.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad said Thursday it will provide extra cars on its passenger trains Saturday for air travelers who may be grounded by Operation Sky Shield II.

The B&O is providing the equipment in anticipation of a blank-out of all commercial air service during a 12-hour period between 1 p.m. Saturday and 1 a.m. Sunday, when U.S. defenses will be tested against a mock attack.

B&O officials said pamphlets will be distributed to passengers riding trains during the Sky Shield operation, enumerating "the advantages of railroad travel."

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland chapter of Ducks Unlimited hopes to add about 1,000 new members this year.

Donnell Smith, chairman of the Maryland chapter, said the current membership drive is the biggest in the group's 23-year history. The aim of the group is to revive a fast-dwindling duck population.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Army Corps of Engineers said Thursday it will have to approve a proposed East-West Expressway route over Baltimore's inner harbor.

A spokesman for the Army engineers said a decision would have to be made on whether the proposed span would adversely affect shipping.

City highway consultants Wednesday recommended an East-West route which would cross the inner harbor on a causeway.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clifford Earl Hazel, scheduled to die in the Maryland gas chamber next week for the rape of a Baltimore housewife, made a last-minute appeal Thursday to the Supreme Court.

Hazel asked for a stay of execution and a review of certain constitutional questions raised in a post-conviction procedure that was rejected by the Maryland courts.

Disc Jockey Sets Shelter Record

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Baltimore disk jockey set a record Thursday for consecutive hours spent in a Civil Defense fallout shelter.

Buddy McGregor (of Station WITH) remained in the shelter after setting the endurance record of 241 hours. The former record, set in both California and Massachusetts, was 240 hours.

McGregor entered the steel shelter at 3:30 p.m. Oct. 2. He has been living under simulated emergency conditions and has survived on Civil Defense-recommendde rations.

Dr. John Thomas, McGregor's personal physician, said he was in fine condition.

McGregor reported he encountered only minor difficulties since he entered the shelter. He said last Friday he was unable to get fresh air. The disk jockey said the shelter became overheated, air became scarce and he had to rely on a portable emergency oxygen dispenser.

Civil Defense workers were on hand outside the shelter to answer any questions the public might have on shelter survival.

Harrison Tilghman Funeral Tomorrow

EASTON, Md. (AP — Funeral services will be held here Saturday for Col. Harrison Tilghman, an attorney, a retired Army officer and a descendant of one of Maryland's oldest families.

Col. Tilghman died suddenly last night after being stricken with an apparent heart attack at his home, Foxley Hall. He was 76.

He was a direct descendant of Lt. Col. Tench Tilghman, a Revolutionary War officer who carried the news of Lord Cornwallis' surrender from Yorktown to the government in Philadelphia.

Injured Woman, Tardy Filing Claim, Appeals

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Court of Appeals was asked Thursday to decide whether a woman injured by a hit-and-run driver could wait beyond the statutory deadline for filing a claim against Maryland's Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund.

Ruth F. Hart appealed a Prince Georges County Circuit Court ruling denying her application to sue the commissioner of motor vehicles.

She was struck by an unidentified driver while standing beside her car on Forestville Road near Suitland Parkway Feb. 13, 1960.

Her attorneys contended Mrs. Hart was incapacitated during the 90-day time limit (now 180 days) allowed for filing such claims. They said she was not aware of the fund and possible relief until 6½ months after the accident.

Attorneys for the commissioner asked that the appeal be dismissed. They said Mrs. Hart was not mentally incapacitated and that someone could have filed the claim on her behalf. They argued further that ignorance of the law was not a valid excuse for failing to file the claim.

27-Gun Salute Given Gov. Tawes

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Gov. J. Millard Tawes got six more guns than the President of the United States.

The Maryland governor received a 27-gun salute when he took the review at the U. S. Naval Academy on his annual state visit Wednesday.

The president and heads of foreign governments receive the maximum—21 guns.

Tawes moved six guns ahead of everyone when the Navy gun crew—far removed from the parade field—fired off eight rounds before it learned it was premature. The gun crew stopped and later gave Tawes his proper 19-gun salute.

"Blue Law" Exemptions Sought

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Baltimore legislator said Thursday he will seek to exempt merchants of certain religious faiths from a proposed state-wide Sunday closing law.

Del. Richard T. Rombro, D-Balto 4th, said his proposal would allow merchants to remain open Sunday only if they closed their establishments on the Sabbath observed by their religion.

Rombro plans to introduce his amendment if a "blue law" bill now before the Legislative Council is approved.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—Every day more than 3,000 men and women mark a birthday putting them in the "over 65" class.

They join the more than 16 million persons already in the retired ranks. By 1980, the number of senior citizens will reach 24 million or more.

But growing even faster than the aging group is the interest of community groups, organizations, schools, churches and other units wanting to help make the period of older maturity more secure, happier and richer.

Some communities have in progress experimental programs aimed at demonstrating how talents and skills of older people may be used best for their own and the well-being of others.

What is happening along this line in Hamilton, Ohio, is told in a new "Frontiers Past 60" booklet published by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The concept developed one day in 1953 when a luncheon discussion among a few civic leaders led to the following conclusion:

"We have relegated our elderly citizens to positions of uselessness and hours of loneliness. Instead of recognizing the part our senior citizens have played in making our present-day standards possible, too frequently we leave them to feel unneeded and unwanted."

Some weeks later, Hamilton's "Senior Citizens Incorporated" became the town's newest nonprofit, tax-empt organization.

Goals included the following:

—Encourage classes and activities that will aid men and women to prepare for retirement to the end that this period of leisure will be satisfying and fruitful for them.

—Cooperate with social agencies in the promotion of the well-being of older people and to support such community programs as will help older people lead independent and useful lives.

—Provide one or more social centers where older men and women may come for companionship and recreation, for the practice of arts and crafts, and for counsel or referral to other agencies.

The budget for Hamilton's senior citizens center that first year was $7,000—half promised by a merchant, and the other half to be provided by the community.

An old building was turned into a senior citizens center. Women's clubs volunteered to help with renovation. A labor group agreed to furnish manpower for painting, carpentry, plumbing and electrical work.

A church group was approached with the idea of developing a volunteer service for the center — hostesses for the daily coffee break, drivers to transport members to events, teachers of craft. The whole community pitched in. On opening day the club had seven members.

Today there are more than 1,100 in the Senior Citizens Club.

Soviet Space Ship Designer Optimistic

MOSCOW (UPI)—The chief designer of Soviet space ships said Wednesday that man can fly "freely and safely" to the moon and other planets.

The designer, who was not named in a Tass report of an interview published by Red Star, organ of the Red Army, said space travel will be used for "transporting freight and passengers at speeds unattainable on earth."

In the "near future" sputniks will relay communication and television signals for purposes of navigation, meteorology and other scientific tasks, the designer said.

Airline Pilots Seek Picketing Provision

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Pilots of 19 airlines have requested labor contract amendments that would allow them to picket any carrier operating with alleged strike-breakers, the Air Line Pilots Association announced Wednesday.

The move could result in the biggest airline strike in history.

ALPA President Clarence N. Sayen said the pilots also are demanding inclusion of a provision which would contractually relieve them of any obligation to fly passengers who are producing revenue for a struck carrier.

Both amendments were aimed at breaking the 16-month strike at Southern Airways, which has been operating ever since the walkout with non-ALPA crews. Sayen said the union plans to write the provisions into contracts with all 47 airlines now holding agreements with ALPA.

The ALPA announcement said the pilot groups which have requested contract reopenings included United, Trans World, Northwest, Pan American, Delta, North Central, Mohawk, National, Frontier, Piedmont, Continental, Riddle, Flying Tiger, Ozark, Overseas National, Western, West Coast, New York Airways and Aerovias Sud Americanas.

The world's smallest incandescent lamp, powered by a tiny silver oxide battery, is mounted in a key. The bright, short-range beam locates keys or locks in the dark.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—Every day more than 3,000 men and women mark a birthday putting them in the "over 65" class.

They join the more than 16 million persons already in the retired ranks. By 1980, the number of senior citizens will reach 24 million or more.

But growing even faster than the aging group is the interest of community groups, organizations, schools, churches and other units wanting to help make the period of older maturity more secure, happier and richer.

Some communities have in progress experimental programs aimed at demonstrating how talents and skills of older people may be used best for their own and the well-being of others.

What is happening along this line in Hamilton, Ohio, is told in a new "Frontiers Past 60" booklet published by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The concept developed one day in 1953 when a luncheon discussion among a few civic leaders led to the following conclusion:

"We have relegated our elderly citizens to positions of uselessness and hours of loneliness. Instead of recognizing the part our senior citizens have played in making our present-day standards possible, too frequently we leave them to feel unneeded and unwanted."

Some weeks later, Hamilton's "Senior Citizens Incorporated" became the town's newest non-profit, tax-empt organization.

Goals included the following:

—Encourage classes and activities that will aid men and women to prepare for retirement to the end that this period of leisure will be satisfying and fruitful for them.

—Cooperate with social agencies in the promotion of the well-being of older people and to support such community programs as will help older people lead independent and useful lives.

—Provide one or more social centers where older men and women may come for companionship and recreation, for the practice of arts and crafts, and for counsel or referral to other agencies.

The budget for Hamilton's senior citizens center that first year was $7,000—half promised by a merchant, and the other half to be provided by the community.

An old building was turned into a senior citizens center. Women's clubs volunteered to help with renovation. A labor group agreed to furnish manpower for painting, carpentry, plumbing and electrical work.

A church group was approached with the idea of developing a volunteer service for the center — hostesses for the daily coffee break, drivers to transport members to events, teachers of craft. The whole community pitched in. On opening day the club had seven members.

Today there are more than 1,100 in the Senior Citizens Club.

Soviet Space Ship Designer Optimistic

MOSCOW (UPI)—The chief designer of Soviet space ships said Wednesday that man can fly "freely and safely" to the moon and other planets.

The designer, who was not named in a Tass report of an interview published by Red Star, organ of the Red Army, said space travel will be used for "transporting freight and passengers at speeds unattainable on earth."

In the "near future" sputniks will relay communication and television signals for purposes of navigation, meteorology and other scientific tasks, the designer said.

Airline Pilots Seek Picketing Provision

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Pilots of 19 airlines have requested labor contract amendments that would allow them to picket any carrier operating with alleged strike-breakers, the Air Line Pilots Association announced Wednesday.

The move could result in the biggest airline strike in history.

ALPA President Clarence N. Sayen said the pilots also are demanding inclusion of a provision which would contractually relieve them of any obligation to fly passengers who are producing revenue for a struck carrier.

Both amendments were aimed at breaking the 16-month strike at Southern Airways, which has been operating ever since the walkout with non-ALPA crews. Sayen said the union plans to write the provisions into contracts with all 47 airlines now holding agreements with ALPA.

The ALPA announcement said the pilot groups which have requested contract reopenings included United, Trans World, Northwest, Pan American, Delta, North Central, Mohawk, National, Frontier, Piedmont, Continental, Riddle, Flying Tiger, Ozark, Overseas National, Western, West Coast, New York Airways and Aerovias Sud Americanas.

Decision Due Soon On Technique For Sending Man To Moon

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—A critical decision on what means the United States will use to rocket men to the moon may be announced late this year, two top space officials disclosed Wednesday.

James E. Webb, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), and Dr. Wernher Von Braun, chief of the NASA's Huntsville, Ala., space flight center, said the choice is between a direct flight to the moon or a two-stage journey involving assembly of large rocket ships from parts fired into orbit around the earth.

Webb said the space agency still hopes to send a U.S. astronaut into orbit before the end of the year. But he declined comment on exactly how much of a chance the nation had to accomplish the feat.

He also said that very likely no Mercury orbital mission would last more than three orbits, or four and one-half hours, because it could not carry a sufficient oxygen supply. This indicated it would be many months before the nation could hope to match last summer's 17 orbits of Russian cosmonaut Gherman Titov.

Von Braun and Webb discussed the turning point in the nation's plans for lunar conquest at the annual meeting of the American Rocket Society, attended by 15,000 space scientists and engineers. Von Braun said the "rendezvous technique" for building space ships from parts put into orbit by medium-sized rockets "could conceivably put an American on the moon one or two years sooner" than the direct flight method.

This disclosure further placed in doubt the program for development of the Nova super-rocket which would be powerful enough to take a crew of spacemen directly from earth to moon. The target date for a Nova powered lunar landing is 1967 or 1968.

"However we could later run into troubles on the rendezvous technique that might delay it for the one or two years that it would otherwise beat Nova," Webb said.

The complicated rendezvous system probably would require a large number of medium - sized rockets, but might be cheaper in the long run than building giant space boosters of the Nova classification.

Astronauts would be used to assemble the space ship parts once they were orbited in close proximity. Webb said there is a possibility that at least one experiment in the rendezvous program—an attempt to maneuver two separate space crafts close together in a 300-mile high orbit around the earth—will be tried next year under an $8 million appropriation from Congress.

Webb said that no matter what is accomplished in the moon program between now and when the decision is announced, "we would not lose any time since both methods would depend upon the F-1 engine."

The F-1 is a single chambered power plant delivering the same 1.5 million pounds of thrust that the Saturn C-1 rocket scheduled to be launched within two weeks from Cape Canaveral, Fla. The F-1 is being considered for use in three large booster rockets—the Saturn C-3 which would have two F-1's, the Saturn C-4, which would have four, and the Nova which would have eight.

Von Braun said it probably will come down to a decision on one or two possibilities—to produce the C-3 and Nova rockets or to go directly into the C-4 for the rendezvous program and ignore the other two. He said the rendezvous will be developed in any case for orbital space stations and other such purposes.

Colonel Forced To Wield Broom

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Congolese gendarmes forced U. S. Air Force Col. Benjamin Matlick to sweep the steps of the Patrice Lumumba monument in Stanleyville during a visit to the pro-Lumumbist strong hold, it was learned Wednesday.

Sources said the incident occurred last weekend while Matlick, U. S. air attache in the Congo, was accompanying U.S. Ambassador Edmund A. Gullion on his first trip to Oriental Province.

The sources said that Matlick and his wife went to photograph the monument to the late leftist ex-premier. Gendarmes arrived and forced the colonel to sweep the steps leading up to the framed color photograph of Lumumba, who was killed by Katangese tribesmen while trying to escape from central government detention.

The sources said Matlick and his wife took the incident as a joke.

Mrs. Matlick laughed and told the gendarmes: "You should come to my house to get him to do the chores."

The gendarmes then also started to laugh and the incident ended with everybody cheerful, the sources said.

It is estimated that each toad eats about 10 thousand insects a year.

A full set of adult teeth numbers 32. There are only 20 in the set of baby teeth.

Is Electric Resistance Home Heating Clean? Users Told Us . . . NO!

NO "It's not as clean as they say." NO "You just can't keep up with the dust." NO "There are dirty walls over the heating units." NO "We found out that it was dirty." NO "Some sort of filtering system would help."

Every woman knows that there are minute particles of dust and dirt in the air at all times—and that when curtains, drapes, etc. become soiled, it is largely due to deposits of these minute particles on exposed surfaces.

Most of the dust and dirt in the air in a house are brought in from the outside. Some of it is air-borne, some is carried in on clothing and shoes. None of it originates in the gas heating system. On the contrary, a modern forced air gas heating system helps clean the air, because all the air in the house is circulated through dust-and-pollen-catching filters several times every hour. Each passage through the filters removes more of this dirt, making the air progressively cleaner and cleaner. And with less dust and dirt in the air, there is less to be deposited on exposed surfaces. The result—curtains, drapes and furniture stay clean longer.

In an electric resistance heating system there are no filters—therefore no method of cleaning the air. The dust and dirt that are in the air stay there.

Is Electric Resistance Home Heating Clean? Users Told Us . . . NO!

NO "It's not as clean as they say." NO "You just can't keep up with the dust." NO "There are dirty walls over the heating units." NO "We found out that it was dirty." NO "Some sort of filtering system would help."
Every woman knows that there are minute particles of dust and dirt in the air at all times—and that when curtains, drapes, etc. become soiled, it is largely due to deposits of these minute particles on exposed surfaces.
Most of the dust and dirt in the air in a house are brought in from the outside. Some of it is air-borne, some is carried in on clothing and shoes. None of it originates in the gas heating system. On the contrary, a modern forced air gas heating system helps clean the air, because all the air in the house is circulated through dust-and-pollen-catching filters several times every hour. Each passage through the filters removes more of this dirt, making the air progressively cleaner and cleaner. And with less dust and dirt in the air, there is less to be deposited on exposed surfaces. The result—curtains, drapes and furniture stay clean longer.
In an electric resistance heating system there are no filters—therefore no method of cleaning the air. The dust and dirt that are in the air stay there.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market darlings of a few months ago have been jilted and it doesnot look as if the romance is going to be resumed very soon.

So observes John W. Edgerton, analyst for the brokerage firm, Goodbody & Co.

Some 200 stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange have declined 25 per cent or more from their highs of the year while the market as a whole is only three per cent below its recent high.

Some of these issues will undoubtedly prove attractive purchases when tax selling is out of the way but this doesn't seem the time to become enthusiastic about any issue simply because it is depressed, says Edgerton.

In addition to tax selling, the tense international situation continues to have an effect on the market.

"But," comments Edgerton, "we still see no reason to expect that any major weakness in the market as a whole will develop.

"By some measures of the market's internal strength, the rises of Oct. 4 and 5 had greater vigor than any since late July, when the market was starting its rise from the 675-685 level on the Dow Jones industrial average to the subsequent high above 730. This does not imply that a similar rise is about to start but it lends encouragement to the constructive view."

Gerald M. Loeb, partner in E.F. Hutton & Co., takes a somewhat similar view.

The averages have stayed close to their highs because the old standbys have gained in technical strength and realistic pricing what the newer favorites have lost, he says.

In Loeb's opinion, the outlook is for a continuation of this divergence with strength among the Dow stocks, plus a few special situations, and weakness among newer and still over-priced issues.

Portugal Protests

LISBON (UPI)—Portugal has protested to the United Nations against using a U.N. plane to transport Angolan rebel leader Holden Roberto from Belgrade to his Leopoldville, Congo, headquarters, the National Information Office said Thursday.

Ocean Bottom, Comets, Dieting Rats

By The Associated Press

Close-ups of the ocean bottom, traces of comets on earth, and curious facts from dieting rats are subjects for science at work:

Thanks to the camera and deep-diving undersea craft, man is getting his first really close look at the ocean bottom. Scientists are finding it a remarkable place, full of the tracks of creatures, waves and the gradual accumulation of elements and minerals.

The millions of tons of ocean water that cover some 70 per cent of the earth's surface are no longer a barrier, says oceanographer Carl J. Shipek of the U. S. Naval Electronic Laboratory, San Diego, Calif.

Photographs at great depths have already captured the tracks of many bottom-living creatures. Worms, snail-like animals, sea urchins, brittle stars, crab and shrimp are found burrowing, plowing and crawling the bottom in search of food.

Geologists have long wondered what created the small bits of glassy rock called tekites found at random locations over the earth's surface.

Now Dr. Virgil E. Barnes of the University of Texas says they may have been formed by comets or chunks of planetary material hitting the earth. The impact melted Silica at temperatures over 4,500 degrees fahrenheit and formed crystals of fused quartz.

Rats on a restricted diet lived 25 per cent to 35 per cent longer on the average than rats allowed to eat as they pleased.

Rats less than 800 days old on the restricted diet showed a much lower incidence of various tumors than did free-feeding rats of the same age group. Beyond the 800-day age the tumors were found just as frequently in both dieting and free-feeding rats.

It took man about 2,000 years to devise an efficient, safe lifting mechanism (elevator), according to the National Geographic Society.

City Seeking Bids On Street Work, Light

The City of Cumberland plans to advertise for bids for the resurfacing of 10 streets and for a traffic light system at the intersection of North Mechanic Street and Henderson Avenue.

Proposals for the resurfacing project will be received until 10 a.m. Monday, October 23, at the office of the City Clerk. Work, according to specifications on file with the city engineer includes all labor, equipment and material to apply a tack coat and surface with 70 pounds per square yard of smooth-seal bituminous concrete.

Affected would be Baltimore Street from the B&O Railroad to Western Maryland Railway; Bedford Street from North Mechanic Street to Centre Street; Frederick Street from Centre to the B&O; Liberty Street from Frederick to Baltimore; Henry Street from Centre to its end; Centre Street from Harrison Street to Market Street; Mechanic Street from Centre to the B&O; Harrison Street from Centre to the B&O; Union Street from Centre to B&O; and Polk Street from Centre to the B&O.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check for $500 and the city reserves the right to reject any and all bids, according to Street Commissioner John J. Long.

Sealed bids for the traffic light system will also be received Monday October 23 at 10 a.m. Specifications for the overhead signals are on file at the city engineer's office. Bid bond of $100 is required and the city reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

High Court Hears Appeal Argument

Arguments were presented yesterday in Annapolis before the Maryland Court of Appeals in connection with a local case.

Josephine Blamble, who was an employe of the Jewel Tea Company, was awarded $20,000 for permanent and total disability as the result of an injury while working for the firm as a sales lady.

The award was made by the Workmen's Compensation Commission after a hearing here.

Attorneys for the appellants are William M. Geppert and Hugh A. McMullen while Simeon F. Reilly and Peter J. Carpenti are the attorneys for the woman.

Some $40 million are spent each year in the United States for breeding, stocking and managing game fish.

Local Marine Reserve Unit Begins Annual Toy Drive

Local Marine Reservists launched their annual "Toys For Tots" campaign yesterday.

Major Billy C. Menges, commanding officer of the 43rd Rifle Company, USMCR, said the drive will conclude December 15. This is the eighth such campaign in the Cumberland area to bring joy to children on Christmas Day.

Major Menges said a year ago, Marines working with local business and civic groups, collected 1,907 new and used toys which were turned over to Associated Charities of Cumberland for distribution.

While the drive has been held here eight years, it actually started 14 years ago in Los Angeles as a community effort of Marine Reservists in that West Coast City. Today, Marine Reserve units are spearheading toy drives in over 200 cities in 46 of the 50 states and over 30,000,000 toys have been collected since 1948.

The "Toys For Tots" campaign is conducted in cooperation with Associated Charities.

Major Menges asked any individual or group having toys to donate to the drive to make arrangements for pickup by calling the Marine Reserves, PA 2-1404 or the Associated Charities, PA 4-3411 or PA 4-3441.

Blaze Is Brought To Fire Hall

Seven members of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company who responded to an alarm yesterday didn't have to travel far—the blaze had been brought to the Fire Hall.

Officials of the company said the motor of a portable unit of the Hendrickson Welding Supply Company caught on fire while in operation at the west end of LaVale. The operator drove the vehicle on which the unit was mounted to the Fire Hall where a hand extinguisher was used to quench the flames.

The fire was potentially dangerous, it was pointed out, since there were acetylene tanks on the truck.

Portugal began accumulating its world-wide territories nearly 500 years ago at the urging of Prince Henry the Navigator.

X-Ray Unit To Visit Here

The mobile chest X-ray unit will pay its first visit to the Cumberland area today when it will be at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Fibers Company.

The unit will be at the local plant that day from 1 p.m. until 6 p.m. for the benefit of plant employes.

On Monday, October 16, the unit will be in Cumberland at the corner of Baltimore and North Centre Streets from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Other scheduled visits include the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company on October 17 from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m.; Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant, October 18 from 11:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., and the Tri-State Discount Center, Gay Street, on October 19 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The mass chest X-ray survey is sponsored jointly by the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association and the Allegany County Health Department.

Electric Auto Being Used

By A. E. Heffernan

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) —A federal agency operates a car that uses one-fourth of a cent worth of fuel a mile.

The fuel: electricity.

"We fill it up every night just by plugging it in," said a spokesman for the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) which is experimenting with the electrically powered car.

The car, named the Henney Kilowatt, cost $4,400. But TVA says the Henney would cost $1,500 if massed produced.

"Our Henney isn't ready for general use," the spokesman said, "because it's too low powered and it can't go fast enough. And the fuel doesn't last long enough.

"But we're working on it and maybe soon it'll be the ideal family second car for short runs to the store and taking the kids to school."

The Henney, which has a Dauphine Renault body, zips around at speeds up to 40 miles an hour. One "tankful" lasts an average of 35 miles of driving.

The car is powered by 12 heavy duty 6-volt batteries.

"These are recharged by simply plugging them into a regular 110-volt outlet, similar to outlets found in every home," The TVA said.

The agency said in the Tennessee Valley, where electricity is cheap, or in other such areas, the car will use one-fourth of a cent worth of electricity a mile. In other areas, the cost may be three cents a mile.

"Should battery operated cars and trucks become popular, the spokesman said, "they will use substantial amounts of electricity. This is one reason for TVA's interest. Battery recharging is likely to be done at night, when other electrical services are low.

"The battery-charged vehicles, by helping to even out the day and night electrical loads, could enable us to operate our power system more economically.

"The potential attractions of an electric car are economy of operation, low maintenance cost, long life and silent operation. They would contribute to eliminating exhaust gases.

"The drawbacks are it has to be recharged so often and the batteries should last only about 10,000 miles, or for a year. It'll cost $250 to replace the batteries.

High Court Hears Appeal Argument

Arguments were presented yesterday in Annapolis before the Maryland Court of Appeals in connection with a local case.

Josephine Bramble, who was an employe of the Jewel Tea Company, was awarded $20,000 for permanent and total disability as the result of an injury while working for the firm as a sales lady.

The award was made by the Workman's Compensation Commission after a hearing here.

Attorneys for the appellants are William H. Geppert and Hugh A. McMullen while Simeon F. Reilly and Peter J. Carpenti are the attorneys for the woman.

Some $40 million are spent each year in the United States for breeding, stocking and managing game fish.

Local Marine Reserve Unit Begins Annual Toy Drive

Local Marine Reservists launched their annual "Toys For Tots" campaign yesterday.

Major Billy C. Menges, commanding officer of the 43rd Rifle Company, USMCR, said the drive will conclude December 15. This is the eighth such campaign in the Cumberland area to bring joy to children on Christmas Day.

Major Menges said a year ago, Marines working with local business and civic groups, collected 1,907 new and used toys which were turned over to Associated Charities of Cumberland for distribution.

While the drive has been held here eight years, it actually started 14 years ago in Los Angeles as a community effort of Marine Reservists in that West Coast City. Today, Marine Reserve units are spearheading toy drives in over 200 cities in 46 of the 50 states and over 30,000,000 toys have been collected since 1948.

The "Toys For Tots" campaign is conducted in cooperation with Associated Charities.

Major Menges asked any individual or group having toys to donate to the drive to make arrangements for pickup by calling the Marine Reserves, PA 2-1404 or the Associated Charities, PA 4-3411 or PA 4-3441.

Blaze Is Brought To Fire Hall

Seven members of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company who responded to an alarm yesterday didn't have to travel far—the blaze had been brought to the Fire Hall.

Officials of the company said the motor of a portable unit of the Hendrickson Welding Supply Company caught on fire while in operation at the west end of LaVale. The operator drove the vehicle on which the unit was mounted to the Fire Hall where a hand extinguisher was used to quench the flames.

The fire was potentially dangerous, it was pointed out, since there were acetylene tanks on the truck.

Portugal began accumulating its world-wide territories nearly 500 years ago at the urging of Prince Henry the Navigator.

The U.S. Air Force was authorized to organize the Ground Observer Corps June 1, 1950.

X-Ray Unit To Visit Here

The mobile chest X-ray unit will pay its first visit to the Cumberland area today when it will be at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Fibers Company.

The unit will be at the local plant that day from 1 p.m. until 6 p.m. for the benefit of plant employes.

On Monday, October 16, the unit will be in Cumberland at the corner of Baltimore and North Centre Streets from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Other scheduled visits include the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company on October 17 from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m.; Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant, October 18 from 11:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., and the Tri-State Discount Center, Gay Street, on October 19 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The mass chest X-ray survey is sponsored jointly by the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association and the Allegany County Health Department.

Electric Auto Being Used

By A. E. Heffernan

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) —A federal agency operates a car that uses one-fourth of a cent worth of fuel a mile.

The fuel: electricity.

"We fill it up every night just by plugging it in," said a spokesman for the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) which is experimenting with the electrically powered car.

The car, named the Henney Kilowatt, cost $4,400. But TVA says the Henney would cost $1,500 if massed produced.

"Our Henney isn't ready for general use," the spokesman said, "because it's too low powered and it can't go fast enough. And the fuel doesn't last long enough.

"But we're working on it and maybe soon it'll be the ideal family second car for short runs to the store and taking the kids to school."

The Henney, which has a Dauphine Renault body, zips around at speeds up to 40 miles an hour. One "tankful" lasts an average of 35 miles of driving.

The car is powered by 12 heavy duty 6-volt batteries.

"These are recharged by simply plugging them into a regular 110-volt outlet, similar to outlets found in every home," The TVA said.

The agency said in the Tennessee Valley, where electricity is cheap, or in other such areas, the car will use one-fourth of a cent worth of electricity a mile. In other areas, the cost may be three cents a mile.

"Should battery operated cars and trucks become popular, the spokesman said, "they will use substantial amounts of electricity. This is one reason for TVA's interest. Battery recharging is likely to be done at night, when other electrical services are low.

"The battery-charged vehicles, by helping to even out the day and night electrical loads, could enable us to operate our power system more economically.

"The potential attractions of an electric car are economy of operation, low maintenance cost, long life and silent operation. They would contribute to eliminating exhaust gases.

"The drawbacks are it has to be recharged so often and the batteries should last only about 10,000 miles, or for a year. It'll cost $250 to replace the batteries.

Ralph W. Rice is chairman of a 12-man committee which is completing arrangements for the annual banquet of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland to be held at 7 p. m. Wednesday, October 18, at St. Mary's Hall on Oldtown Road.

Other committee members are Carl A. Winfield, Lynn Beightol, Kenton B. Farrell, Albert E. Windish, Lewis J. Ort, George F. Garlitz, Harry K. Poling, Gordon L. Leatherman, D. Y. Browne, Carl Lee McIntyre and Richard McIntyre.

Between 600 and 700 persons are scheduled to attend, including visitors from Baltimore, Hagerstown, Frederick and Cambridge.

More Stringent Stock Sales Law Is Urged

By KEN DUNCAN

BALTIMORE (AP) — A study committee's report urging adoption of a stringent new law regulating the sale of securities in Maryland was submitted Wednesday to the Legislative Council, between sessions arm of the General Assembly.

The report, which was referred to the council's Judiciary Committee for further study, contained a 40-page law which was prepared as a possible replacement for the existing "blue sky laws" governing stock sales.

The committee, headed by Baltimore attorney Arthur W. Machen Jr., termed existing laws "inadequate" and cited several provisions it considered weak.

Among the group's recommendations was the creation of a special securities division within the State Law Department and appointment of a full-time securities commissioner.

The new division, the committee said, would be financed by fees charged for registration of securities and licensing of dealers brokers and agents. These charges, the report said, "should make the office self-supporting on an annual budget in the neighborhood of $30,000."

Maryland's "blue sky laws" now are administered directly by the attorney general, but the committee said the expanded jurisdiction of the proposed law would require the services of a full-time administrator.

The commissioner, the report said, would be appointed by the attorney general and "should be an attorney with training or experience in securities regulation."

Machen, who submitted the report to the council, said the proposed law drafted by his committee incorporates many of the provisions of uniform securities acts adopted by other states.

He noted that Maryland is one of only four states which has no provision requiring the registration of stocks sold locally by institutions other than banks, insurance companies, savings and loan associations and cetain industries.

Humorist To Speak At League Banquet

Edmund Harding, humorist, will be principal speaker at the annual banquet of the Maryland Municipal League here late this month.

The banquet will be held Friday, October 27, at 7 p. m. in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club as a feature of the 14th annual convention of the League here October 26-28.

Final arrangements for the conclave were made yesterday by Alan Beals, executive secretary of the League, Jack McKowzan and City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery.

Potomac Dam

The other dams, a second Savage River dam and one on Stony River near U.S. Route 50 in Grant County, W.Va., would not be needed until about 1990.

Originally, the Corps of Engineers recommended that nearly 75 per cent of the $51,000,000 cost of the dam above Bloomington be borne by non-Federal agencies. Two months ago, the Rivers and Harbors Board, acting upon changes made by the Federal Water Pollution Act of 1961, cut the non-Federal cost to about $17,000,000 from the original $38,000,000.

Governors of Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia and Pennsylvania have received copies of the North Branch report and soon will submit their comments.

A petroleum company has developed a new technique for producing liquid hydrogen which makes it cheap enough to compete with hydrogen gas. One of its uses will be to power the upper state of the Atlas-Centaur rocket, scheduled for its first firing later this year.

Three Face Trial In Gasoline Theft

Hearing dates have been set for three local men who were arrested by city police in connection with the theft of gasoline from several parked trucks here Wednesday morning.

James G. Linn, 19, of 477 Goethe Street, who was released yesterday from the city jail when a property bond was posted, will be given a hearing on Monday at 9:30 a.m.

Also scheduled to be given hearings on Monday at 1:30 p.m. in Trial Magistrates Court are Ronald Klavuhn, 23, of 791 Princeton Street and Thomas Reed, 18, of 310 Harrison Street. They were released under $250 bond.

Openings Remain In Lifting Course

There are openings for two interested young men between the ages of 14 to 19 who wish to enroll in the "Learn To Weight-lift Class" being held at Central YMCA, said Benjamin F. Haines, program director.

Thomas Hamilton, instructor for the class being offered Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 7 p. m., teaches the fundamentals of lifting, and emphasizes the physical culture aspects of body building through the class exercises. Further information may be obtained from Mr. Haines at the Y.

Petroleum's return on invested capital falls in the middle range among representative U. S. industries, according to Oil Facts. A recent survey covering the past 11 years shows combined average return for petroleum production and refining companies as 13.4 per cent. The top industry surveyed returned 20.7 per cent, the lowest 10.1 per cent.

Robison Wins Hay Show Honors

James I. Robison, Mt. Savage dairyman, who won honors in the Southwest District Hay Show held recently in Ligonier, Pa., plans to take part in the Southwestern Pennsylvania Quality Hay Conference on October 26 at the Mountain View Hotel on U.S. Route 30 near Greensburg.

His placings in the show at Ligonier include:

Class Three—alfalfa-grass mixed-heat dried, first place; Class 23—alfalfa-grass mixed, later cutting, heat dried, second place; Class 31—mixed hay over half legumes, field dried, second place.

The show was held at the Experimental Station at Penn State University. About 32 classes of legumes and grasses were entered.

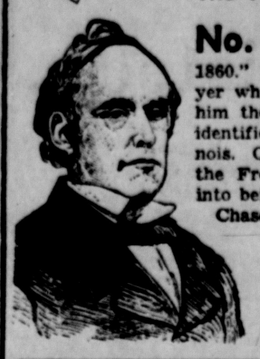
The CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures



No. 67 "He had an extreme anti-slavery viewpoint, which prevented his getting the Republican presidential nomination in 1860." This was written of Salmon Portland Chase (left), the Ohio lawyer whose volunteered, unpaid, stirring defense of fugitive slaves made him the Middlewest's anti-slavery leader before Abraham Lincoln. was identified with the abolitionist movement or was known outside of Illinois. Chase was an organizer of the Liberty Party and a founder of the Free Soil Party—groups from which the Republican Party came into being.

Chase resigned from the U. S. Senate in 1861 to take the most demanding of the Cabinet posts under Lincoln, secretary of Treasury. Government finances were in chaos then—not only because of loss of revenues from the South, the sharp curtailment of customs duties resulting from interruption of foreign commerce, and pyramiding expenditures of Army and Navy, but also due to the effect of deficit financing under the Democratic administrations of Pierce and Buchanan upon the market for government bonds.

The Treasury's offerings of United States loans through the usual channels brought inadequate funds for the combatting of the Rebels. Plainly, higher excise taxes on liquor, tobacco and other commodities could not finance the war for the Union. Fortunately, Chase effected a deal with Jay Cooke, a private investment banker in Philadelphia, that opened up new sources of financing of revolutionary import. As fiscal agent for the government, Cooke boldly abandoned issuance of quartermasters' notes and bankers' underwriting; he introduced small denomination bonds and appealed to the masses of people through advertising and publicity, stressing both patriotism and high return. The bonds paid a penny a day interest on $50 bonds—$7.30 a year on $100. Cooke exacted a commission of only three-eighths per cent, out of which he paid more than $2,000,000 in expenses. —CLARK KINNAIRD

Education Doesn't Reduce Prejudice

NEW YORK (UPI)—Education apparently doesn't reduce religious or racial prejudice—it just teaches a man to express it more politely.

That's the finding of a study of attitudes toward Jews and Negroes in the United States made by Dr. Charles Herbert Stember of Rutgers University for the American Jewish Committee. Its basis is an analysis of public opinion polls made during the 1940's and early 1950's.

Until a generation ago, Stember said, it was "believed that the teaching of facts about minority groups could do much to reduce prejudice . . . in recent years it has no longer seemed so obvious that classroom learning is an escalator which automatically lifts the individual to higher levels of group understanding."

In fact, he said, it seems possible that "the educational process, by scrupulously refraining from teaching specific doctrines, may in effect be creating a vacuum which the prevailing winds of prejudice might rush in to fill."

He found that educated persons were more likely than others to shift their attitudes in relation to current problems. Educated persons are generally vehement in opposing legal restrictions against minorities, he found, but also are more likely to reject personal contacts with members of minority groups.

The only instances in which he found education has a marked effect in lessening prejudice were those involving persons of low social and economic status. The less educated among this group ex pressed more prejudice than those in higher status groups, but the educated were often markedly less prejudiced than anyone else.

Education Doesn't Reduce Prejudice

NEW YORK (UPI)—Education apparently doesn't reduce religious or racial prejudice—it just teaches a man to express it more politely.

That's the finding of a study of attitudes toward Jews and Negroes in the United States made by Dr. Charles Herbert Stember of Rutgers University for the American Jewish Committee. Its basis is an analysis of public opinion polls made during the 1940's and early 1950's.

Until a generation ago, Stember said, it was "believed that the teaching of facts about minority groups could do much to reduce prejudice . . . in recent years it has no longer seemed so obvious that classroom learning is an escalator which automatically lifts the individual to higher levels of group understanding."

In fact, he said, it seems possible that "the educational process, by scrupulously refraining from teaching specific doctrines, may in effect be creating a vacuum which the prevailing winds of prejudice might rush in to fill."

He found that educated persons were more likely than others to shift their attitudes in relation to current problems. Educated persons are generally vehement in opposing legal restrictions against minorities, he found, but also are more likely to reject personal contacts with members of minority groups.

The only instances in which he found education has a marked effect in lessening prejudice were those involving persons of low social and economic status. The less educated among this group ex pressed more prejudice than those in higher status groups, but the educated were often markedly less prejudiced than anyone else.

Is Man Likely To Become Extinct?

A retired artillery officer in London declares that in the war between men and animals for possession of the earth he's on the side of the animals.

He is Col. C. L. Boyle, secretary of the Fauna Preservation Society which is currently engrossed with saving from extinction such fauna as the Galapagos tortoise, Hawaiian goose, Arabian oryx and the Madagascar aye-aye.

It is a big job. The Galapagos tortoise, for example, insists on extended travel that exposes it to the hazards of the sea as well as alien shores. The New Zealand kakape, although it has wings like any other parrot, insists on walking everywhere and living in holes in the ground, contributing substantially to its own demise.

Rhinoceroses in India and Nepal are victims of local folklore that their horns contain magic ingredients for romance, and the whooping crane is in danger of being trampled into oblivion by the legions of conservationists guarding it from civilization.

Colonel Boyle's society seeks to alert conservation authorities around the world to the dangers facing bird and animals. It is a worthy cause he works at, saving these creatures from the human race.

Now if the human race just figures out some way to save itself from extinction, everything will be hunky-dory.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The United Nations

For many years, beginning with the San Francisco Conference, I wrote numerous articles opposed to the organization and the existence of the United Nations. Some of the reasons for my opposition have been justified by the course of events.

But there can be no satisfaction in that. Many unhappy prophecies prove to be true and one must be very unhappy that it should be so. It would have been more satisfactory if the United Nations had proved to be a grand success and that those of us who prophesied failure were shown to be frauds. And perhaps we shall be in the end.

Taking the situation as of 1961, the existence of the United Nations is of tremendous importance to the United States. And that is what counts so far as the American people are concerned. We cannot build policy without regard to the essential necessities of this country.

Why is the United Nations of value to the United States in the year 1961? The answer is that we need a forum where our representatives can speak directly to the world. President Kennedy's recent speech before the United Nations did more to clear the atmosphere than miles of propaganda releases could do. He defeated Soviet Russia in Africa with one speech. This will not happen every time. We face a very tough period in our history and we are likely to fail as often as we succeed, but our chances will be better if the instruments available are beneficial to us.

It is true that Soviet Russia has used the anti-colonialism issue to build an Afro-Asian opposition to the United States. Soviet Russia did not invent anti-colonialism. Curiously enough, history will establish that the anti-colonialism issue was rife prior to World War I; that President Woodrow Wilson and Premier Jan Smuts of South Africa brought the issue before the nations at the Paris Peace Conference; that it was incorporated in the concept of a League of Nations; that the Gandhi movement in India was supported by the United States; that at Teheran and Yalta President Franklin D. Roosevelt was clearly antagonistic to colonialism and that United States policy was designed to free the colonial countries and to recognize them as soon as possible.

It is a tragedy of history that the one nation which has consistently held to the doctrine of self-determination throughout its history, the United States, should be regarded as pro-colonial. This is so because our principal allies have been and are the great colonial countries. On the other hand, Soviet Russia, which has pursued a policy of expansion, is universally regarded as anti-colonial. This paradox is the result not of Soviet propaganda, which could not have accomplished so much, but rather of more than a century of antagonism between the colored and the white peoples. The Western whites are lumped together, as we erronously lump all Latin-Americans together, or as most of the world lump all who live in what is called China as one people. Ethnical complexities cannot be simplified by giving a people a title.

In the United Nations, the newer countries, many of which have been freed by American assistance, can, by experience, learn the truth. Most of the new countries are not prepared for self-government and have no economic basis for stability. It will take them a long time to discover what their position in the world really is and that they cannot stand on their own. However, as long as the United Nations continues to exist and we are in it, these newer countries cannot be gobbled up by the great Powers. The battle for the ownership of the Congo is an example of the peril that faces the small nations. For here is a struggle between Soviet Russia and Western Europe for control of a nation not ready to govern itself and not possessing the economy to maintain its people on a rising standard of living.

The Congo would have been gobbled up by now were it not for the existence of the United Nations. The alternative would have been a war to prevent Soviet Russia from absorbing the Congo as it has absorbed Cuba. Any war, at this moment, can be nuclear involving all countries. As long as the United Nations exists, an agency is available to offset, delay, avert such a war which seems otherwise inevitable.

Beyond that the United Nations serves very little purpose, but is this not sufficient? The proof of the value of the United Nations is that Soviet Russia is seeking to destroy it.

Bernard Goldfine Causes Suspension Of Three Danbury Prison Officials

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Bernard Goldfine, the Boston industrialist who seduced Washington bigwigs with vicuna coats, is now seducing prison officials in Danbury Federal Penitentiary.

The man who heaped lavish gifts on Sherman Adams and even gave a vicuna coat to President Eisenhower, has now embroiled three prison officials.

Goldfine practiced a very neat little racket at Danbury. Every afternoon at 4:30 the telephone would ring at a pay phone in Boston in the building at 35 Kneeland Street in which Goldfine has his office. When the phone rang, an elevator boy hurried up to Goldfine's office to notify his blonde secretary, Miss Mildred Paperman — now under suspended sentence — and she hurried down to the telephone.

Then for 20 or 30 minutes, Miss Paperman received dictation over the phone from inside the Danbury Penitentiary.

This took place with the connivance of certain federal prison officials, and as a result, Ivan Yakolov, a correctional officer; Thomas Nelson, a machinist; and Richard Hammer, a commissary clerk, have been suspended and will face a grand jury in the near future.

U. S. prison officials point out that Goldfine did to small functionaries, inside Danbury exactly what he did to top officials in Washington. But the prison functionaries, unlike the bigwigs in Washington, will face prosecution. Certain Senators and former members of the White House Staff have been named by Miss Paperman in her "confession" as receiving substantial rewards from Goldfine, but there has been no move to prosecute them.

McCormack vs. Kennedy

The first real break between President Kennedy and Rep. John McCormack of Boston, who may become his Speaker in the House of Representatives, came over the famous late Mayor of Boston, Jim Curley, about whom a famous book was written, "The Last Hurrah."

Curley was serving a term in Danbury Federal Penitentiary and his fellow Bostonian, John McCormack, got up a petition urging the President to release him. A power in Congress, McCormack easily obtained the signatures of all Massachusetts Congressmen until he came to the youngest Congressman from Massachusetts.

"I'm not going to sign," said Kennedy quietly.

It was as if David had slung the first stone at Goliath.

But the real showdown between the two Bostonians didn't come until 1956 after Kennedy had been elected to the Senate. In a rough-and-tumble battle for control of the Democratic Party in Massachusetts, Kennedy ousted McCormack's man as state chairman.

He followed this up at the Presidential convention in '56 by delivering 32 Massachusetts votes to Adlai Stevenson on the first ballot against only 7-½ votes McCormack was able to deliver for his candidate, Averell Harriman.

John's Revenge

But McCormack got his revenge one day later during the dramatic battle between Kennedy and Sen. Estes Kefauver for the Vice-Presidential nomination. It would have been political suicide for McCormack to oppose the candidate from his own state, so publicly he went on record for Kennedy.

Yet witnesses reported a peculiar incident during the heat of the balloting. With Kennedy slightly ahead and needing only 68 votes to clinch the vice-presidential nomination, McCormack frantically signalled Rayburn, who was presiding.

McCormack knew that Rayburn was bitterly opposed to Kefauver; Rayburn knew that McCormack had endorsed Kennedy. Naturally, Rayburn must have assumed that his right-hand man in the House wanted to help the Kennedy cause.

"Sam!" shouted McCormack. "Missouri! Missouri!"

Rayburn promptly recognized Missouri which cast its votes — not for Kennedy but for Kefauver — as McCormack sat back smiling like a Cheshire cat.

Secret Deal

Four years later, after Kennedy had risen from the 1956 political ashes to become President, he called the Democratic Congressional leaders to Palm Beach for an important legislative conference to map out the 1961 program. Everyone showed up except McCormack.

Back in Boston, McCormack explained that he had to attend the opening of a new bank in Waltham.

"Congressional leaders often meet with the President or President Elect, but a new bank doesn't open every day," he alibied with a completely straight face.

It is well known that McCormack stepped out of his role as House Democratic Leader to oppose President Kennedy's school-aid bill and foreign-aid program.

What isn't known, however, is that McCormack made a deal with Louisiana Congressman Otto Passman, the foreign aid critic, to help slash foreign aid. In return, Passman agreed to help round up Southern votes for McCormack to be speaker.

This is the man who will be entrusted with guiding Kennedy's legislative program through the House of Representatives next year if McCormack's drive to succeed Sam Rayburn gathers steam.

Col. Robert S. Allen, famed Washington news sleuth, has been drafted by 20th Century-Fox to master-mind the new movie on General Patton. Bob Allen was one of the heroes of Gen. Patton's Third Army, has instructions from the producers to leave nothing out of the General's colorful, cursing, hard-fought career. It should be a terrific picture. . . . . Dr. Janet Travell, Kennedy's physician, has advised members of the Cabinet that if they're traveling and find the beds too soft, to take the shelf boards out of the closet and put them under the mattress. Dr. Travell believes in hard beds for suffering backs. In fact, she believes in hard beds for any kind of backs. People have been sleeping in hard beds for years, she points out that — modern man doesn't adapt readily to downy mattresses. . . . . The shelf boards in most closets are easily taken out, advised Kennedy's doctor, and cabinet members should make use of them when traveling.

The Hardly Noticed Crisis In Southeast Asia

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Maybe it is a sign that the U.S. has attained a remarkable maturity. Maybe it just means that this city, which automatically gives the alarm to the country, has already supped so deep on crises that one more crisis hardly seems worth banging the drum about.

In any case, it is an extraordinary, puzzling and noteworthy fact that neither the country nor the Capital seems to be particularly excited because the President is seriously considering sending combat units of the U.S. Army and Marines to Southeast Asia.

It has been on the public record for at least ten days that the dispatch of combat units to South Vietnam was under grave and urgent consideration. When first published in this space on Monday, Oct. 2, the report was confirmed by the State Department on Tuesday, Oct. 3. Since then, it has also been learned that additional combat units may be sent to Thailand.

During the present week, almost certainly, the enormously grave final decision will be taken. The President will send, or refrain from sending American fighting men into reserve positions in the bitter Southeast Asian guerilla war with the Communists. With such a decision known to be pending, you might suppose that everyone would be on tenterhooks. Instead, everyone has semed to be on tranquilizers.

The extreme oddity of this lack of response to the deepening Southeast Asia crisis does not, unfortunately, make the situation in Vietnam and Laos a particle less critical. As of the moment, the odds are at least even that the decision about sending U. S. troops to the area will be affirmative.

The immediate aim is to constitute reserves on the spot, which will only be ordered into action if the position deteriorates still further. The President's Southeast Asian task force is just about unanimous that using American outfits to constitute such local reserves is now a minimum precaution against the increasing thrust of Communist aggression. In truth, the President and Secretary of State Dean Rusk will have to reverse the findings of their own advisers, if they decide not to send troops after all.

The immediate cause of the danger is the continuous infiltration through Laos into South Vietnam of larger and larger forces of North Vietnam Communists. The army of South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem has long been stretched to the limit by the effort to contain the Communist guerrillas under North Vietnamese control. The danger is that President Diem's army will be stretched far beyond the limit when and if battle is joined by the additional North Vietnamese units which have entered the country in recent months. The real urgency of the situation may be judged by the altogether unprecedented reaction of Southeast Asia's leading professed neutralist, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Chief of State of little neighboring Cambodia. Until very recently, Prince Sihanouk blamed all the troubles of Southeast Asia on American folly. By the same token, any plan to send U. S. troops into reserve positions in the area would surely have reduced him to the princely equivalent of conniption fits. In addition, Prince Sihanouk detests President Diem and his government. But if Diem's South Vietnam is swallowed up by the Communists, Cambodia will surely be swallowed too, and in very short order. Moreover Prince Sihanouk's neutralism has always been solely designed to protect his own and his country's independence. Prince Sihanouk is now positively defending the dispatch of U. S. troops to South Vietnam.

"I think it would be possible for the U. S. to interfere militarily in South Vietnam," he said in an interview in Tokyo last Saturday, "because North Vietnam is (already) interfering in South Vietnam."

The shrewd and agile Cambodian prince would never be talking in this manner if he did not regard the danger in his neighbor-country as very serious and quite immediate. Furthermore, Cambodia is only the first on the list of Asian nations that would be instantly affected by the kind of Communist success which now threatens.

Laos, where the picture has not been perceptibly improved by Prince Souvanna Phouma's acceptance of the premiership, is in a worse position than Cambodia. In one way or another, the chain reaction from Communist victory in South Vietnam would be felt from Japan, Korea and the Philippines southward to Indonesia and westward to Burma.

Over-all, nearly as much is at stake in Southeast Asia as at Berlin. In sum, the national decision now being mulled over is vastly more interesting than most people as yet seem to think.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

RULES MODIFIED — Regulations covering the drinking of alcoholic beverages in the National capital have long been a topic of conversation by visitors, although the natives have adapted themselves to the idiosyncracy quite well.

The unbreakable rule is that all drinking must be done while sitting at a table, no drinking may be done at a bar, and no patron may carry his drink from one table to another.

The rule came into force upon the repeal of Prohibition and was designed to enforce a decision that hard liquor should be served only as an adjunct to meals—at a bona fide restaurant—in order to avoid the reappearance of the saloon on the streets of the capital.

Through the years, the rule has been vigorously enforced, the only exceptions being several private clubs. However, there have been determined efforts recently to modify the rule, which entails passage of a new law by Congress.

Some progress was made during the recent session when the House leadership rammed through a bill to liberalize the drinking regulations. The Senate is scheduled to act on the measure when it returns next January.

One liberalization has caught the attention of some legislators and might face rough going. The new measure would permit restaurants to install bars and allow stand-up drinking while a patron is waiting for a dining table to open up.

Supporters contend that this would result in stand-up drinking only during the crowded evening dining hour — that vacant tables in a restaurant would automatically terminate stand-up drinking.

However, some of the legislators envision a restaurant with a 100 feet long bar and just one table, and contend that such a set-up would permit stand-up drinking all night.

What puzzles many legislators on Capitol Hill is that their colleagues who object to stand-up drinking in Washington come from states where it has been permitted for years.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

One of the most difficult sentences to say is: "I do not know." Four words. Ten letters. They strangle in the throat. No one likes to use them. It is like publicizing one's ignorance. Many a time I've been on the verge of a clever lie in answer to a question I barely understood.

Lots of times I have entered a conversation and ventured a profound opinion, just to hear myself talk. This is the attitude of the imposing poseur. I have sat, with chest bared, through a medical examination which consisted of the doctor's opinions on Nikita Khrushchev's next move. He did not know—but sadly, he didn't know that he didn't know.

Good dentists have had me at their mercy—with mouth open—while giving me the low-down on the differences between religions. Carpenters have confided to me, while nailing boards in my house, who would be nominated for President of the United States, and why. My barber gives me long dissertations on the beauties of Rome. He has never been there. I have.

Albert Einstein, one of the greatest mentalities of all time, was once complimented on his violin playing. He smiled shyly. "I love the instrument," he said. "But I do not know it. I only fiddle." How big is a big man? One of the negative indices is his ability to use the words: "I do not know."

Students are afraid to admit ignorance to the teachers. They are asked a question, and they hazard a guess. They take a chance. They do not understand that there is nothing shameful about ignorance; stupidity is the unforgivable crime. To be ignorant implies that one does not know; to be stupid implies that one cannot learn.

One time, I sat in the White House with Jim Hagerty and Dwight D. Eisenhower. We were talking about the President's daily routine and he said that he had a teacher come in three times a week to impart the fundamentals of economics. I was shocked that he would admit that he did not know economics. He seemed to divine my thought.

He parted his clasped hands palms up. "My life has been spent in the United States Army," he said. "They taught me to requisition everything I might need. An army officer learns to take. Now I must learn how to give."

Sometimes I receive invitations to speak at a public function. These are always declined, with thanks. Why? Because I have heard writers make speeches. The men and women of my profession are the most pedantic bores since the days of the Roman senate.

Most of them, as public speakers, can resolve the problems of the world in 25 minutes. If there are any knots left untied when they conclude, they are willing to work them loose in the question-and-answer period which follows the speech. They know everything about everything.

A good journalist should know a little bit about everything; no subject should be alien to his mind. But, if he is a proper journalist, he does not know enough about medicine to diagnose or prescribe, and not enough about plumbing to fix a leaky pipe in his home. The more he learns, the more conscious he becomes of the mental mountains which lie ahead.

A noted preacher once said to me: "I just finished reading 'The Day Christ Died.' What a storehouse of knowledge you have!" I couldn't give him the truth, which is that I knew precious little about the subject until I researched the book. Eight or 10 hours a day for 14 months will make anybody look good. Then I had the best theological minds go over the book, word by word, for errors.

Winston Churchill was always reluctant to say: "I don't know." It required the combined persuasion of the Imperial General Staff to kill some of his ideas of war strategy. Franklin D. Roosevelt did not like to admit that he did not know, but he was clever at milking the minds of other men, listening and nodding, then appropriating their ideas as his own. Adolf Hitler was lucky with a few strategical ideas, and thereafter thought that he had invented military tactics. He was still waiting for a non-existent army to move into the line at Berlin when he committed suicide.

He could not bear to say "I do not know." When Enrico Fermi, in an Italian laboratory, split an atom in 1934, he did not know what he had done and he admitted it. He was attempting to screen neutrons, and he felt that his test had failed. In reality, he had opened the door to the atom bomb.

I must practice saying: "I do not know." It is going to startle my friends, and it will stun me.

Unfair To Blame Weather For Aching Joints

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Most arthritics are so sure their sore joints are affected by humidity, storms, and other atmospheric turbulences, they can predict what the weather is going to be. Their prophecies are not always perfect but neither are the predictions of professional weather men. Most medical studies along this line have been difficult to evaluate because the weather is changeable and so are people.

A climatron, costing $125,000, was built at the University of Pennsylvania to determine if changes in the weather influenced arthritis. Eight women and two men were selected because they had mentioned or bragged about the effect of weather on their ailing joints.

These volunteers spent a total of 242 days in this chamber in which the climate could be controlled. Temperature, humidity, and atmospheric pressure could be changed by flipping switches and turning dials. But nothing happened; their arthritic spine, knees, and elbows did not worsen when the weather was changed artificially.

The Philadelphia physicians also conducted daily scientific tests to determine whether the joints were stiffer or more tender but there were no marked changes. The majority could easily detect variations in temperature, humidity, and rate of air movements on their general comfort but not on their joints. The parts became somewhat stiffer when the temperature of the chamber was lowered and chilling occurred.

It is my understanding that the physicians who conducted the tests were not convinced by the results. Neither am I. But I must confess my joints ache at least 30 per cent of the time when the weather changes. What happens during the other times has me puzzled.

Besides, it is unfair to blame the weather for aching joints when the effect is so inconsistent. Perhaps arthritics are too active when the sun is shining and pay for it when the weather cools off.

TOMORROW: Worms in the neighborhood.

LORDLY POSTURE

P. F. writes: X-ray shows marked lordosis. Please explain this back condition.

REPLY

Lordosis is forward curvature of the spine, leading to protrusion of the abdomen. The condition is so-called because it describes the typical stance of the lord of the manor of centuries ago. The best example of a lordotic posture is a pregnant woman who is forced to throw back her head, shoulders, and chest in order to maintain balance.

FUNGI IN THROAT

T. H. writes: I have a throat fungus. What brings this on? My doctor says it's my unhappy home life. Is this true?

REPLY

Perhaps but yeast and other fungi are found occasionally in the throat and mouth, especially when resistance is low. Treatment is advisable if the organisms are causing trouble. Apparently, your physician believes that your discomfort is due to emotional difficulties rather than to the fungus.

COLD FEET

F. R. writes: Could varicose veins be responsible for continued cold feet?

REPLY

Not as a rule. Cold feet come from poor arterial circulation whereas varicosities interfere with the return flow of blood in the veins.

DENTAL NIGHTMARES

L. P. writes: What causes me to dream frequently that my teeth are falling out?

REPLY

People who grit their teeth during sleep are said to have dreams along this line. This usually occurs in emotional people.

GOOD FOR NOTHIN'

J. A. writes: What are kelp tablets good for?

REPLY

Nothing.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

A tattoo artist had an unusual request from a burly sailor lad the other night. The gob pointed to a perfect reproduction of a seductive babe on his chest and said, "I want you should tattoo 'Mother' under her." Noting the look of amazement on the tattoo artist's face, he added, "I introduced her to my old man—and he married her."

The romance between 6-year-old Marjorie and 7-year-old Terry hit a serious snag, and Marjorie informed her mother firmly that her engagement was off. "Why?" asked the mother, very seriously. "For two reasons," insisted Marjorie. "One, he doesn't act old enough to be married yet. Two, he scribbled all over my coloring book."

Bob McGovern, of the famous McGovern fighting clan, initiated his 4-year-old son into the manly art of self-defense. The very next afternoon the lad ran into the house in a fever of delight. "I did it, Dad! I did it," he exulted. "I hit her!"

The United Nations

For many years, beginning with the San Francisco Conference, I wrote numerous articles opposed to the organization and the existence of the United Nations. Some of the reasons for my opposition have been justified by the course of events.

But there can be no satisfaction in that. Many unhappy prophecies prove to be true and one must be very unhappy that it should be so. It would have been more satisfactory if the United Nations had proved to be a grand success and that those of us who prophesied failure were shown to be frauds. And perhaps we shall be in the end.

Taking the situation as of 1961, the existence of the United Nations is of tremendous importance to the United States. And that is what counts so far as the American people are concerned. We cannot build policy without regard to the essential necessities of this country.

Why is the United Nations of value to the United States in the year 1961? The answer is that we need a forum where our representatives can speak directly to the world. President Kennedy's recent speech before the United Nations did more to clear the atmosphere than miles of propaganda releases could do. He defeated Soviet Russia in Africa with one speech. This will not happen every time. We face a very tough period in our history and we are likely to fail as often as we succeed, but our chances will be better if the instruments available are beneficial to us.

It is true that Soviet Russia has used the anti-colonialism issue to build an Afro-Asian opposition to the United States. Soviet Russia did not invent anti-colonialism. Curiously enough, history will establish that the anti-colonialism issue was rife prior to World War I; that President Woodrow Wilson and Premier Jan Smuts of South Africa brought the issue before the nations at the Paris Peace Conference; that it was incorporated in the concept of a League of Nations; that the Gandhi movement in India was supported by the United States; that at Teheran and Yalta President Franklin D. Roosevelt was clearly antagonistic to colonialism and that United States policy was designed to free the colonial countries and to recognize them as soon as possible.

It is a tragedy of history that the one nation which has consistently held to the doctrine of self-determination throughout its history, the United States, should be regarded as pro-colonial. This is so because our principal allies have been and are the great colonial countries. On the other hand, Soviet Russia, which has pursued a policy of expansion, is universally regarded as anti-colonial. This paradox is the result not of Soviet propaganda, which could not have accomplished so much, but rather of more than a century of antagonism between the colored and the white peoples. The Western whites are lumped together, as we erronously lump all Latin-Americans together, or as most of the world lump all who live in what is called China as one people. Ethnical complexities cannot be simplified by giving a people a title.

In the United Nations, the newer countries, many of which have been freed by American assistance, can, by experience, learn the truth. Most of the new countries are not prepared for self-government and have no economic basis for stability. It will take them a long time to discover what their position in the world really is and that they cannot stand on their own. However, as long as the United Nations continues to exist and we are in it, these newer countries cannot be gobbled up by the great Powers. The battle for the ownership of the Congo is an example of the peril that faces the small nations. For here is a struggle between Soviet Russia and Western Europe for control of a nation not ready to govern itself and not possessing the economy to maintain its people on a rising standard of living.

The Congo would have been gobbled up by now were it not for the existence of the United Nations. The alternative would have been a war to prevent Soviet Russia from absorbing the Congo as it has absorbed Cuba. Any war, at this moment, can be nuclear involving all countries. As long as the United Nations exists, an agency is available to offset, delay, avert such a war which seems otherwise inevitable.

Beyond that the United Nations serves very little purpose, but is this not sufficient? The proof of the value of the United Nations is that Soviet Russia is seeking to destroy it.

Bernard Goldfine Causes Suspension Of Three Danbury Prison Officials

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Bernard Goldfine, the Boston industrialist who seduced Washington bigwigs with vicuna coats, is now seducing prison officials in Danbury Federal Penitentiary.

The man who heaped lavish gifts on Sherman Adams and even gave a vicuna coat to President Eisenhower, has now embroiled three prison officials.

Goldfine practiced a very neat little racket at Danbury. Every afternoon at 4:30 the telephone would ring at a pay phone in Boston in the building at 35 Kneeland Street in which Goldfine has his office. When the phone rang, an elevator boy hurried up to Goldfine's office to notify his blonde secretary, Miss Mildred Paperman — now under suspended sentence — and she hurried down to the telephone.

Then for 20 or 30 minutes, Miss Paperman received dictation over the phone from inside the Danbury Penitentiary.

This took place with the connivance of certain federal prison officials, and as a result, Ivan Yakolov, a correctional officer; Thomas Nelson, a machinist; and Richard Hammer, a commissary clerk, have been suspended and will face a grand jury in the near future.

U. S. prison officials point out that Goldfine did to small functionaries, inside Danbury exactly what he did to top officials in Washington. But the prison functionaries, unlike the bigwigs in Washington, will face prosecution. Certain Senators and former members of the White House Staff have been named by Miss Paperman in her "confession" as receiving substantial rewards from Goldfine, but there has been no move to prosecute them.

McCormack vs. Kennedy

The first real break between President Kennedy and Rep. John McCormack of Boston, who may become his Speaker in the House of Representatives, came over the famous late Mayor of Boston, Jim Curley, about whom a famous book was written, "The Last Hurrah."

Curley was serving a term in Danbury Federal Penitentiary and his fellow Bostonian, John McCormack, got up a petition urging the President to release him. A power in Congress, McCormack easily obtained the signatures of all Massachusetts Congressmen until he came to the youngest Congressman from Massachusetts.

"I'm not going to sign," said Kennedy quietly.

It was as if David had slung the first stone at Goliath.

But the real showdown between the two Bostonians didn't come until 1956 after Kennedy had been elected to the Senate. In a rough-and-tumble battle for control of the Democratic Party in Massachusetts, Kennedy ousted McCormack's man as state chairman.

He followed this up at the Presidential convention in '56 by delivering 32 Massachusetts votes to Adlai Stevenson on the first ballot against only 7-½ votes McCormack was able to deliver for his candidate, Averell Harriman.

John's Revenge

But McCormack got his revenge one day later during the dramatic battle between Kennedy and Sen. Estes Kefauver for the Vice-Presidential nomination. It would have been political suicide for McCormack to oppose the candidate from his own state, so publicly he went on record for Kennedy.

Yet witnesses reported a peculiar incident during the heat of the balloting. With Kennedy slightly ahead and needing only 68 votes to clinch the vice-presidential nomination, McCormack frantically signalled Rayburn, who was presiding.

McCormack knew that Rayburn was bitterly opposed to Kefauver; Rayburn knew that McCormack had endorsed Kennedy. Naturally, Rayburn must have assumed that his right-hand man in the House wanted to help the Kennedy cause.

"Sam!" shouted McCormack. "Missouri! Missouri!"

Rayburn promptly recognized Missouri which cast its votes — not for Kennedy but for Kefauver — as McCormack sat back smiling like a Cheshire cat.

Secret Deal

Four years later, after Kennedy had risen from the 1956 political ashes to become President, he called the Democratic Congressional leaders to Palm Beach for an important legislative conference to map out the 1961 program. Everyone showed up except McCormack.

Back in Boston, McCormack explained that he had to attend the opening of a new bank in Waltham.

"Congressional leaders often meet with the President or President Elect, but a new bank doesn't open every day," he alibied with a completely straight face.

It is well known that McCormack stepped out of his role as House Democratic Leader to oppose President Kennedy's school-aid bill and foreign-aid program.

What isn't known, however, is that McCormack made a deal with Louisiana Congressman Otto Passman, the foreign aid critic, to help slash foreign aid. In return, Passman agreed to help round up Southern votes for McCormack to be speaker.

This is the man who will be entrusted with guiding Kennedy's legislative program through the House of Representatives next year if McCormack's drive to succeed Sam Rayburn gathers steam.

Col. Robert S. Allen, famed Washington news sleuth, has been drafted by 20th Century-Fox to master-mind the new movie on General Patton. Bob Allen was one of the heroes of Gen. Patton's Third Army, has instructions from the producers to leave nothing out of the General's colorful, cursing, hard-fought career. It should be a terrific picture. . . . . Dr. Janet Travell, Kennedy's physician, has advised members of the Cabinet that if they're traveling and find the beds too soft, to take the shelf boards out of the closet and put them under the mattress. Dr. Travell believes in hard beds for suffering backs. In fact, she believes in hard beds for any kind of backs. People have been sleeping in hard beds for years, she points out that — modern man doesn't adapt readily to downy mattresses. . . . . The shelf boards in most closets are easily taken out, advised Kennedy's doctor, and cabinet members should make use of them when traveling.

The Hardly Noticed Crisis In Southeast Asia

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Maybe it is a sign that the U.S. has attained a remarkable maturity. Maybe it just means that this city, which automatically gives the alarm to the country, has already supped so deep on crises that one more crisis hardly seems worth banging the drum about.

In any case, it is an extraordinary, puzzling and noteworthy fact that neither the country nor the Capital seems to be particularly excited because the President is seriously considering sending combat units of the U.S. Army and Marines to Southeast Asia.

It has been on the public record for at least ten days that the dispatch of combat units to South Vietnam was under grave and urgent consideration. When first published in this space on Monday, Oct. 2, the report was confirmed by the State Department on Tuesday, Oct. 3. Since then, it has also been learned that additional combat units may be sent to Thailand.

During the present week, almost certainly, the enormously grave final decision will be taken. The President will send, or refrain from sending American fighting men into reserve positions in the bitter Southeast Asian guerilla war with the Communists. With such a decision known to be pending, you might suppose that everyone would be on tenterhooks. Instead, everyone has semed to be on tranquilizers.

The extreme oddity of this lack of response to the deepening Southeast Asia crisis does not, unfortunately, make the situation in Vietnam and Laos a particle less critical. As of the moment, the odds are at least even that the decision about sending U. S. troops to the area will be affirmative.

The immediate aim is to constitute reserves on the spot, which will only be ordered into action if the position deteriorates still further. The President's Southeast Asian task force is just about unanimous that using American outfits to constitute such local reserves is now a minimum precaution against the increasing thrust of Communist aggression. In truth, the President and Secretary of State Dean Rusk will have to reverse the findings of their own advisers, if they decide not to send troops after all.

The immediate cause of the danger is the continuous infiltration through Laos into South Vietnam of larger and larger forces of North Vietnam Communists. The army of South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem has long been stretched to the limit by the effort to contain the Communist guerrillas under North Vietnamese control. The danger is that President Diem's army will be stretched far beyond the limit when and if battle is joined by the additional North Vietnamese units which have entered the country in recent months. The real urgency of the situation may be judged by the altogether unprecedented reaction of Southeast Asia's leading professed neutralist, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Chief of State of little neighboring Cambodia. Until very recently, Prince Sihanouk blamed all the troubles of Southeast Asia on American folly. By the same token, any plan to send U. S. troops into reserve positions in the area would surely have reduced him to the princely equivalent of conniption fits. In addition, Prince Sihanouk detests President Diem and his government. But if Diem's South Vietnam is swallowed up by the Communists, Cambodia will surely be swallowed too, and in very short order. Moreover Prince Sihanouk's neutralism has always been solely designed to protect his own and his country's independence. Prince Sihanouk is now positively defending the dispatch of U. S. troops to South Vietnam.

"I think it would be possible for the U. S. to interfere militarily in South Vietnam," he said in an interview in Tokyo last Saturday, "because North Vietnam is (already) interfering in South Vietnam."

The shrewd and agile Cambodian prince would never be talking in this manner if he did not regard the danger in his neighbor-country as very serious and quite immediate. Furthermore, Cambodia is only the first on the list of Asian nations that would be instantly affected by the kind of Communist success which now threatens.

Laos, where the picture has not been perceptibly improved by Prince Souvanna Phouma's acceptance of the premiership, is in a worse position than Cambodia. In one way or another, the chain reaction from Communist victory in South Vietnam would be felt from Japan, Korea and the Philippines southward to Indonesia and westward to Burma.

Over-all, nearly as much is at stake in Southeast Asia as at Berlin. In sum, the national decision now being mulled over is vastly more interesting than most people as yet seem to think.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

RULES MODIFIED — Regulations covering the drinking of alcoholic beverages in the National capital have long been a topic of conversation by visitors, although the natives have adapted themselves to the idiosyncracy quite well.

The unbreakable rule is that all drinking must be done while sitting at a table, no drinking may be done at a bar, and no patron may carry his drink from one table to another.

The rule came into force upon the repeal of Prohibition and was designed to enforce a decision that hard liquor should be served only as an adjunct to meals—at a bona fide restaurant—in order to avoid the reappearance of the saloon on the streets of the capital.

Through the years, the rule has been vigorously enforced, the only exceptions being several private clubs. However, there have been determined efforts recently to modify the rule, which entails passage of a new law by Congress.

Some progress was made during the recent session when the House leadership rammed through a bill to liberalize the drinking regulations. The Senate is scheduled to act on the measure when it returns next January.

One liberalization has caught the attention of some legislators and might face rough going. The new measure would permit restaurants to install bars and allow stand-up drinking while a patron is waiting for a dining table to open up.

Supporters contend that this would result in stand-up drinking only during the crowded evening dining hour — that vacant tables in a restaurant would automatically terminate stand-up drinking.

However, some of the legislators envision a restaurant with a 100 feet long bar and just one table, and contend that such a set-up would permit stand-up drinking all night.

What puzzles many legislators on Capitol Hill is that their colleagues who object to stand-up drinking in Washington come from states where it has been permitted for years.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

One of the most difficult sentences to say is: "I do not know." Four words. Ten letters. They strangle in the throat. No one likes to use them. It is like publicizing one's ignorance. Many a time I've been on the verge of a clever lie in answer to a question I barely understood.

Lots of times I have entered a conversation and ventured a profound opinion, just to hear myself talk. This is the attitude of the imposing poseur. I have sat, with chest bared, through a medical examination which consisted of the doctor's opinions on Nikita Khrushchev's next move. He did not know—but sadly, he didn't know that he didn't know.

Good dentists have had me at their mercy—with mouth open—while giving me the low-down on the differences between religions. Carpenters have confided to me, while nailing boards in my house, who would be nominated for President of the United States, and why. My barber gives me long dissertations on the beauties of Rome. He has never been there. I have.

Albert Einstein, one of the greatest mentalities of all time, was once complimented on his violin playing. He smiled shyly. "I love the instrument," he said. "But I do not know it. I only fiddle." How big is a big man? One of the negative indices is his ability to use the words: "I do not know."

Students are afraid to admit ignorance to the teachers. They are asked a question, and they hazard a guess. They take a chance. They do not understand that there is nothing shameful about ignorance; stupidity is the unforgivable crime. To be ignorant implies that one does not know; to be stupid implies that one cannot learn.

One time, I sat in the White House with Jim Hagerty and Dwight D. Eisenhower. We were talking about the President's daily routine and he said that he had a teacher come in three times a week to impart the fundamentals of economics. I was shocked that he would admit that he did not know economics. He seemed to divine my thought.

He parted his clasped hands palms up. "My life has been spent in the United States Army," he said. "They taught me to requisition everything I might need. An army officer learns to take. Now I must learn how to give."

Sometimes I receive invitations to speak at a public function. These are always declined, with thanks. Why? Because I have heard writers make speeches. The men and women of my profession are the most pedantic bores since the days of the Roman senate.

Most of them, as public speakers, can resolve the problems of the world in 25 minutes. If there are any knots left untied when they conclude, they are willing to work them loose in the question-and-answer period which follows the speech. They know everything about everything.

A good journalist should know a little bit about everything; no subject should be alien to his mind. But, if he is a proper journalist, he does not know enough about medicine to diagnose or prescribe, and not enough about plumbing to fix a leaky pipe in his home. The more he learns, the more conscious he becomes of the mental mountains which lie ahead.

A noted preacher once said to me: "I just finished reading 'The Day Christ Died.' What a storehouse of knowledge you have!" I couldn't give him the truth, which is that I knew precious little about the subject until I researched the book. Eight or 10 hours a day for 14 months will make anybody look good. Then I had the best theological minds go over the book, word by word, for errors.

Winston Churchill was always reluctant to say: "I don't know." It required the combined persuasion of the Imperial General Staff to kill some of his ideas of war strategy. Franklin D. Roosevelt did not like to admit that he did not know, but he was clever at milking the minds of other men, listening and nodding, then appropriating their ideas as his own. Adolf Hitler was lucky with a few strategical ideas, and thereafter thought that he had invented military tactics. He was still waiting for a non-existent army to move into the line at Berlin when he committed suicide.

He could not bear to say "I do not know." When Enrico Fermi, in an Italian laboratory, split an atom in 1934, he did not know what he had done and he admitted it. He was attempting to screen neutrons, and he felt that his test had failed. In reality, he had opened the door to the atom bomb.

I must practice saying: "I do not know." It is going to startle my friends, and it will stun me.

Unfair To Blame Weather For Aching Joints

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Most arthritics are so sure their sore joints are affected by humidity, storms, and other atmospheric turbulences, they can predict what the weather is going to be. Their prophecies are not always perfect but neither are the predictions of professional weather men. Most medical studies along this line have been difficult to evaluate because the weather is changeable and so are people.

A climatron, costing $125,000, was built at the University of Pennsylvania to determine if changes in the weather influenced arthritis. Eight women and two men were selected because they had mentioned or bragged about the effect of weather on their ailing joints.

These volunteers spent a total of 242 days in this chamber in which the climate could be controlled. Temperature, humidity, and atmospheric pressure could be changed by flipping switches and turning dials. But nothing happened; their arthritic spine, knees, and elbows did not worsen when the weather was changed artificially.

The Philadelphia physicians also conducted daily scientific tests to determine whether the joints were stiffer or more tender but there were no marked changes. The majority could easily detect variations in temperature, humidity, and rate of air movements on their general comfort but not on their joints. The parts became somewhat stiffer when the temperature of the chamber was lowered and chilling occurred.

It is my understanding that the physicians who conducted the tests were not convinced by the results. Neither am I. But I must confess my joints ache at least 30 per cent of the time when the weather changes. What happens during the other times has me puzzled.

Besides, it is unfair to blame the weather for aching joints when the effect is so inconsistent. Perhaps arthritics are too active when the sun is shining and pay for it when the weather cools off.

TOMORROW: Worms in the neighborhood.

LORDLY POSTURE

P. F. writes: X-ray shows marked lordosis. Please explain this back condition.

REPLY

Lordosis is forward curvature of the spine, leading to protrusion of the abdomen. The condition is so-called because it describes the typical stance of the lord of the manor of centuries ago. The best example of a lordotic posture is a pregnant woman who is forced to throw back her head, shoulders, and chest in order to maintain balance.

FUNGI IN THROAT

T. H. writes: I have a throat fungus. What brings this on? My doctor says it's my unhappy home life. Is this true?

REPLY

Perhaps but yeast and other fungi are found occasionally in the throat and mouth, especially when resistance is low. Treatment is advisable if the organisms are causing trouble. Apparently, your physician believes that your discomfort is due to emotional difficulties rather than to the fungus.

COLD FEET

F. R. writes: Could varicose veins be responsible for continued cold feet?

REPLY

Not as a rule. Cold feet come from poor arterial circulation whereas varicosities interfere with the return flow of blood in the veins.

DENTAL NIGHTMARES

L. P. writes: What causes me to dream frequently that my teeth are falling out?

REPLY

People who grit their teeth during sleep are said to have dreams along this line. This usually occurs in emotional people.

GOOD FOR NOTHIN'

J. A. writes: What are kelp tablets good for?

REPLY

Nothing.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A tattoo artist had an unusual request from a burly sailor lad the other night. The gob pointed to a perfect reproduction of a seductive babe on his chest and said, "I want you should tattoo 'Mother' under her." Noting the look of amazement on the tattoo artist's face, he added, "I introduced her to my old man—and he married her."

The romance between 6-year-old Marjorie and 7-year-old Terry hit a serious snag, and Marjorie informed her mother firmly that her engagement was off. "Why?" asked the mother, very seriously. "For two reasons," insisted Marjorie. "One, he doesn't act old enough to be married yet. Two, he scribbled all over my coloring book."

Bob McGovern, of the famous McGovern fighting clan, initiated his 4-year-old son into the manly art of self-defense. The very next afternoon the lad ran into the house in a fever of delight. "I did it, Dad! I did it," he exulted. "I hit her!"

Pep Rally Tonight Opens FSTC Homecoming

FROSTBURG — Homecoming weekend at Frostburg State Teacher's College will begin today with a pep rally at 7:30 p. m. on the soccer field followed by an informal dance in Compton gymnasium. Other festivities highlighting the two-day homecoming will be a soccer game with Howard University, a football game with Bridgewater College, a parade, the crowning of the homecoming queen and three dances. All the festivities are under the direction of the Student Congress.

The alumni will begin registering Saturday from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. in the Gunter Foyer.

The soccer game will be played at 10:30 a. m. and immediately following lunch the parade will form on Park Avenue. The parade will travel up College Avenue, out Broadway and then proceed down Main Street to the Beall High School stadium.

Featuring the "Fabulous Fifties," the parade will include floats by campus organizations. The French and Spanish clubs have selected the theme, "Around the World in Eighty Days." Alpha Psi Omega and Little Theatre will portray, "Broadway Shows from the Fifties,"; the day students, "Increasing College Enrollments;" Student Education Association, "Creation of SNEA"; Sigma Phi, "Man in Space." The Maryland Singers have chosen, "Alaska and Hawaii Apply for Statehood" as their theme; The Wesley Club, "Year of Evangelism"; The Newman Club, "Ben Hur"; Sigma Tau, "Paris Celebrates Its 2,000th Birthday;" Alpha Xi Delta, "My Fair Lady"; and Sigma Zeta, "Antarctic Exploration."

The Canterbury Club and the Literary Circle will enter cars in the parade.

The Frostburg State Teacher's College and the Bridgewater College bands along with several local high school bands will participate. The Rebelettes of South Hagerstown High School will also be in the line of march.

Judges for the floats will be Ralph Bender, Edward Flanigan, John McAfee, Fred Robeson and Mrs. Eileen Steele.

Miss Sally Layman, a senior, will be crowned homecoming queen during half-time ceremonies of the football game. Prizes will be awarded to the best float and the best high school marching unit.

At 8 p. m. the homecoming dances will be held at Clary Club and the Frostburg Armory. Alumni may attend either dance.

FSTC Committee For Homecoming

Senior Girl Scout Senate To Survey Area Drop-Outs

FROSTBURG—The Senior Girl Scout Senate of Shawnee Council met recently in the Methodist Church at Oakland with Eileen Llewellyn, president in charge. Miss Llewellyn is a member of Troop 54 of Frostburg.

The group made plans to go winter camping December 1 and if the camp proves successful, the council will participate in the camp next year. A planning committee for the winter camp was appointed with Martha Kazlo, chairman. Sandra Serf, Beverly Smith, Judy Huffman and Eileen Llewelyn will assist her in completing arrangements on November 18 in Cumberland.

The Senate also made plans to go camping in the spring with the entire council participating at a date to be announced later.

A survey of all Brownie, Intermediate and Senior Scouts who have dropped out of scouting will be made to determine the reason.

Representing various troops in the council were: Mae Vincent and Sharon Leach, Troop 11, Rawlings; Beverly Smith and Eleanor Taylor, Troop 18, LaVale; Elisa Simpson and Sandra Serf, Troop 12, Cumberland; Sally Powers, and Karen Holbrook, Troop 20, Cumberland; Kathy Stephen and Judy Hoffman, Troop 74, Keyser; Rita O'Brian, Sandra Harvey, and Peggy Otto, Troop 111, Swanton; Carol Wooters, and Jeanne Martin, Troop 97, Oakland; Martha Kazlo, Troop 73, Luke; Norma Layman, and Tamara Kerr, Troop 73, Frostburg; Janice Huff, and Kay Beeman, assistant leaders, Troop 54, Frostburg. Mrs. Ruby Adams is the Senate advisor.

Following adjournment, lunch was served by Oakland Troop 97 after which a tour of Herrington Manor and Swallow Falls was held with the Oakland scouts as guides and hostesses.

Chinese Convert To Speak Sunday

FROSTBURG — David Nyien, who has served as a missionary to Malaya will be the guest speaker at the 7:30 p. m. service at the Frostburg Assembly of God Church, Maple and Stoyer Streets, on Sunday, according to Rev. George A. LeRoy, pastor.

Mr. Nyien, who is Chinese, is a converted devil worshipper, being born to parents who worshipped idols.

Rev. LeRoy announces that the service is open to the public.

Rural People Veiw Problems Of Security

MOOREFIELD — The Mathias Farm Woman's Club sponsored a community meeting at Mathias school on Civil Defense and heard a panel composed of Mrs. Ernest Shipe, R. E. Fisher, John Aylor and County School Superintendent Kenneth Frye discuss the problems of Rural Civil Defense.

Lacy Cochran presided as moderator.

Mrs. Shipe had attended a school at Jackson's Mill and had considerable information of interest to the farm women in the event of a nuclear attack. Mr. Aylor demonstrated a radiation counter and a dosemeter and discussed information he had learned from a course taken on Civil Defense. Mr. Frye spoke of tentative plans he had for children in the county school system. Frye said that in the event of an enemy attack there would likely be time to get the children home and that the construction of shelters at the schools was impractical at this time.

A general discussion on home shelters with special emphasis on simple caves in the side of the hills as a practical and inexpensive shelter followed with questions from the group.

W. Va. Democrats Elect McDonough Chairman

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI) — Confident West Virginia Democratic Party leaders elected an equally confident Parkersburg printing firm official as the party's new state chairman Wednesday.

Both Robert P. McDonough and his predecessor, Hulett C. Smith of Beckley, exuded optimism over the Democrats' prospects in the 1962 elections in general and in the 1st Congressional District in particular.

McDonough, regarded as the West Virginian with probably the most ready access to the White House, was elected chairman without opposition. Smith resigned to devote his full responsibilities to directorship of the State Commerce Department.

The 46 - year - old McDonough said he felt the party was "off to a fine start in the first year" of Gov. W. W. Barron's administration. "If we can communicate the value of the governor's programs to all the people, the party is in good shape," he said.

Smith said he was not one "to look with fear" at the upcoming 1st Congressional race between Republican incumbent Arch Moore and Democrat Cleveland Bailey, veteran representative of the 3rd District whose area has been broken up and much of it combined with the 1st District.

10,000 Win Forecast

"A turnout of the electorate will bring us to a victory and a majority of 10,000 votes" in that race, Smith said. McDonough said he agreed with Smith's prediction.

Bailey, who attended a meeting here of the Democratic State Executive Committee, beamed at the optimistic forecasts.

"The overall problem of the Democratic party in West Virginia is to get its members back to work in political activity," McDonough said. "From the defeat in 1956, our party has rallied to victories in 1960. We can look forward to additional victories in 1962."

Wendell Holt of Richwood nominated McDonough for the post and Milton Ferguson of Huntington and Fred Early of Parkersburg joined in seconding it.

Forty-nine of the 67-members of the executive committee were present for the meeting.

McDonough managed President Kennedy's successful primary campaign in West Virginia last year and the public tribute Kennedy has paid McDonough in the past didn't escape those who spoke in his favor.

Cites 'Genius'

Holt described him as "one of the six highest Democratic laymen accepted by the general offices of the Kennedy administration."

"Robert McDonough has a genius for performance in detail and depth," said Sen. Jennings Randolph. "He has fought hard for all Democratic candidates and has demonstrated his gift of leadership."

Bailey also praised McDonough, adding in an apparent allusion to the Parkersburg resident's Washington connections, "Nothing is wrong with West Virginia that a significant number of federal jobs couldn't help."

State Colleges To Hold Annual Conference

FROSTBURG — Dr. Robert Strausz-Hupe, director of Foreign Policy Research Institute, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, will give the keynote address at the five college conference to be held at State Teachers College in Towson, October 18-19.

"United States Foreign Policy—The Dilemma and the Outlook" will be the theme of the address given in the college auditorium on the 18 at 8:15 p. m. Prior to the address, members of the faculties of the five State Teacher Colleges will meet for dinner at Towson STC for dinner at 6:30 p. m.

The program on October 19 for the morning will include an orientation session by Dr. Earl T. Willis, dean of instruction, State Teachers College, Salisbury; faculty group discussions of the implications of the keynote lecture and panel of political scientists from the five colleges who will discuss questions presented from the faculty groups which met the preceding period.

The conference will adjourn at noon so that instructors may attend the opening session of the Maryland State Teachers Convention at the Fifth Regiment Armory at 2 p. m.

Central Marks Fire Week In Poster Contest

LONACONING — Central Elementary school observed Fire Prevention Week with a program on Tuesday. Good Will Volunteer Fire Company No. 1 was represented by Felix Foote St. and the Auxiliary by Mrs. Agnes Marshall.

Posters were made in classrooms and judged by Ted Foote, art supervisor of Allegany County. Monetary prizes were donated by the Auxiliary and by Tim Connor.

Winning posters were made by Sara Catherine Anderson and Marsha Cook in Miss Mary Meyer's grade one room; Sara Lynn Wilson and Patricia O'Haver won prizes in Mrs. Betty Long's first grade room.

Pep Rally Tonight Opens FSTC Homecoming

FROSTBURG — Homecoming weekend at Frostburg State Teacher's College will begin today with a pep rally at 7:30 p. m. on the soccer field followed by an informal dance in Compton gymnasium. Other festivities highlighting the two-day homecoming will be a soccer game with Howard University, a football game with Bridgewater College, a parade, the crowning of the homecoming queen and three dances. All the festivities are under the direction of the Student Congress.

The alumni will begin registering Saturday from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. in the Gunter Foyer.

The soccer game will be played at 10:30 a. m. and immediately following lunch the parade will form on Park Avenue. The parade will travel up College Avenue, out Broadway and then proceed down Main Street to the Beall High School stadium.

Featuring the "Fabulous Fifties," the parade will include floats by campus organizations. The French and Spanish clubs have selected the theme, "Around the World in Eighty Days." Alpha Psi Omega and Little Theatre will portray, "Broadway Shows from the Fifties,"; the day students, "Increasing College Enrollments;" Student Education Association, "Creation of SNEA"; Sigma Phi, "Man in Space." The Maryland Singers have chosen, "Alaska and Hawaii Apply for Statehood" as their theme; The Wesley Club, "Year of Evangelism"; The Newman Club, "Ben Hur"; Sigma Tau, "Paris Celebrates Its 2,000th Birthday;" Alpha Xi Delta, "My Fair Lady"; and Sigma Zeta, "Antarctic Exploration."

The Canterbury Club and the Literary Circle will enter cars in the parade.

The Frostburg State Teacher's College and the Bridgewater College bands along with several local high school bands will participate. The Rebelettes of South Hagerstown High School will also be in the line of march.

Judges for the floats will be Ralph Bender, Edward Flanigan, John McAfee, Fred Robeson and Mrs. Eileen Steele.

Miss Sally Layman, a senior, will be crowned homecoming queen during half-time ceremonies of the football game. Prizes will be awarded to the best float and the best high school marching unit.

At 8 p. m. the homecoming dances will be held at Clary Club and the Frostburg Armory. Alumni may attend either dance.

FSTC Committee For Homecoming

Senior Girl Scout Senate To Survey Area Drop-Outs

FROSTBURG—The Senior Girl Scout Senate of Shawnee Council met recently in the Methodist Church at Oakland with Eileen Llewellyn, president in charge. Miss Llewellyn is a member of Troop 54 of Frostburg.

The group made plans to go winter camping December 1 and if the camp proves successful, the council will participate in the camp next year. A planning committee for the winter camp was appointed with Martha Kazlo, chairman. Sandra Serf, Beverly Smith, Judy Huffman and Eileen Llewelyn will assist her in completing arrangements on November 18 in Cumberland.

The Senate also made plans to go camping in the spring with the entire council participating at a date to be announced later.

A survey of all Brownie, Intermediate and Senior Scouts who have dropped out of scouting will be made to determine the reason.

Representing various troops in the council were: Mae Vincent and Sharon Leach, Troop 11, Rawlings; Beverly Smith and Eleanor Taylor, Troop 18, LaVale; Elisa Simpson and Sandra Serf, Troop 12, Cumberland; Sally Powers, and Karen Holbrook, Troop 20, Cumberland; Kathy Stephen and Judy Hoffman, Troop 74, Keyser; Rita O'Brian, Sandra Harvey, and Peggy Otto, Troop 111, Swanton; Carol Wooters, and Jeanne Martin, Troop 97, Oakland; Martha Kazlo, Troop 73, Luke; Norma Layman, and Tamara Kerr, Troop 73, Frostburg; Janice Huff, and Kay Beeman, assistant leaders, Troop 54, Frostburg. Mrs. Ruby Adams is the Senate advisor.

Following adjournment, lunch was served by Oakland Troop 97 after which a tour of Herrington Mannor and Swallow Falls was held with the Oakland scouts as guides and hostesses.

Chinese Convert To Speak Sunday

FROSTBURG — David Nyien, who has served as a missionary to Malaya will be the guest speaker at the 7:30 p. m. service at the Frostburg Assembly of God Church, Maple and Stoyer Streets, on Sunday, according to Rev. George A. LeRoy, pastor.

Mr. Nyien, who is Chinese, is a converted devil worshipper, being born to parents who worshipped idols.

Rev. LeRoy announces that the service is open to the public.

Rural People Veiw Problems Of Security

MOOREFIELD — The Mathias Farm Woman's Club sponsored a community meeting at Mathias school on Civil Defense and heard a panel composed of Mrs. Ernest Shipe, R. E. Fisher, John Aylor and County School Superintendent Kenneth Frye discuss the problems of Rural Civil Defense.

Lacy Cochran presided as moderator.

Mrs. Shipe had attended a school at Jackson's Mill and had considerable information of interest to the farm women in the event of a nuclear attack. Mr. Aylor demonstrated a radiation counter and a dosemeter and discussed information he had learned from a course taken on Civil Defense. Mr. Frye spoke of tentative plans he had for children in the county school system. Frye said that in the event of an enemy attack there would likely be time to get the children home and that the construction of shelters at the schools was impractical at this time.

A general discussion on home shelters with special emphasis on simple caves in the side of the hills as a practical and inexpensive shelter followed with questions from the group.

W. Va. Democrats Elect McDonough Chairman

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI) — Confident West Virginia Democratic Party leaders elected an equally confident Parkersburg printing firm official as the party's new state chairman Wednesday.

Both Robert P. McDonough and his predecessor, Hulett C. Smith of Beckley, exuded optimism over the Democrats' prospects in the 1962 elections in general and in the 1st Congressional District in particular.

McDonough, regarded as the West Virginian with probably the most ready access to the White House, was elected chairman without opposition. Smith resigned to devote his full responsibilities to directorship of the State Commerce Department.

The 46 - year - old McDonough said he felt the party was "off to a fine start in the first year" of Gov. W. W. Barron's administration. "If we can communicate the value of the governor's programs to all the people, the party is in good shape," he said.

Smith said he was not one "to look with fear" at the upcoming 1st Congressional race between Republican incumbent Arch Moore and Democrat Cleveland Bailey, veteran representative of the 3rd District whose area has been broken up and much of it combined with the 1st District.

10,000 Win Forecast

"A turnout of the electorate will bring us to a victory and a majority of 10,000 votes" in that race, Smith said. McDonough said he agreed with Smith's prediction.

Bailey, who attended a meeting here of the Democratic State Executive Committee, beamed at the optimistic forecasts.

"The overall problem of the Democratic party in West Virginia is to get its members back to work in political activity," McDonough said. "From the defeat in 1956, our party has rallied to victories in 1960. We can look forward to additional victories in 1962."

Wendell Holt of Richwood nominated McDonough for the post and Milton Ferguson of Huntington and Fred Early of Parkersburg joined in seconding it.

Forty-nine of the 67-members of the executive committee were present for the meeting.

McDonough managed President Kennedy's successful primary campaign in West Virginia last year and the public tribute Kennedy has paid McDonough in the past didn't escape those who spoke in his favor.

Cites 'Genius'

Holt described him as "one of the six highest Democratic laymen accepted by the general offices of the Kennedy administration."

"Robert McDonough has a genius for performance in detail and depth," said Sen. Jennings Randolph. "He has fought hard for all Democratic candidates and has demonstrated his gift of leadership."

Bailey also praised McDonough, adding in an apparent allusion to the Parkersburg resident's Washington connections, "Nothing is wrong with West Virginia that a significant number of federal jobs couldn't help."

State Colleges To Hold Annual Conference

FROSTBURG — Dr. Robert Strausz-Hupe, director of Foreign Policy Research Institute, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, will give the keynote address at the five college conference to be held at State Teachers College in Towson, October 18-19.

"United States Foreign Policy—The Dilemma and the Outlook" will be the theme of the address given in the college auditorium on the 18 at 8:15 p. m. Prior to the address, members of the faculties of the five State Teacher Colleges will meet for dinner at Towson STC for dinner at 6:30 p. m.

The program on October 19 for the morning will include an orientation session by Dr. Earl T. Willis, dean of instruction, State Teachers College, Salisbury; faculty group discussions of the implications of the keynote lecture and panel of political scientists from the five colleges who will discuss questions presented from the faculty groups which met the preceding period.

The conference will adjourn at noon so that instructors may attend the opening session of the Maryland State Teachers Convention at the Fifth Regiment Armory at 2 p. m.

Hardy County Farm Bureau Has Election

Woman's Council Attends Session

MOOREFIELD—Delmer Crites was elected president of the Hardy County Farm Bureau by the directors at the annual business meeting of the organization held Friday night at firemen's hall. Other officers named are Vance Mathias, vice-president, Mrs. A. Renick McNeill, treasurer and Johnny Taylor Jr., secretary.

The annual banquet was a joint banquet for the members of the Hardy County Farm Bureau and the Hardy County Woman's Council of the Farm Women's Clubs. Mrs. David Hahn was elected president of the Hardy County Woman's Council, Mrs. Robert Branson, vice-president, Mrs. Lynn Bean, secretary, Mrs. William Clark, treasurer and Mrs. Robert Keller reporter. Fourteen Farm Women's Clubs are represented by the council.

Directors elected by members of the Farm Bureau include Clyde Ours Jr., Virgil Ours, E. B. Souder, Delmer Crites and Harry Welton Jr. Holdover directors are Vance Mathias, Paul Harper, Johnny Taylor Jr., and Harlan Leatherman. The directors elected the officers after the members named the directors.

C. J. Cunningham presided as master of ceremonies at the joint banquet which was served in the new firemen's hall by the ladies of the Moorefield Firemen's Auxiliary. Cunningham called on Mrs. Ernest Shipe, retiring president of the Woman's Council to present the committee chairmen and other officers in the women's groups. Courtney Pratt introduced the dignitaries present. Harry Pratt was presented with a 1962 membership and a gift certificate for a new hat for his work as chairman of the membership committee during the past year. Pratt secured 65 of the 165 members.

The banquet was provided by the Hardy County Cooperative and manager Ray Poling was recognized as host for the gathering. The Barr Quartette provided music for the assembly and Miss Elizabeth Welton presented a baton twirling demonstration. During the business meeting, officers were installed and awards were made for the various activities.

KC Holy Hour To Be Observed At Westernport

WESTERNPORT — A Holy Hour will be held on Sunday, October 29 at 7:30 p.m. in St. Peter's Catholic Church, an activity of Piedmont Council 685, Knights of Columbus in honor of the Feast of Christ the King.

Expected to attend are members of the Knights of Columbus of District Three in Western Maryland including councils in Cumberland, Frostburg, Mt. Savage, Oakland and Piedmont.

Following novena prayers a sermon will be delivered by Rev. Regis F. Larkin, assistant pastor of St. Michael's Church, Frostburg.

Benediction will follow the sermon. An honor guard will be formed by members of Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus.

Members of the K of C councils, their families and friends are invited to attend the Holy Hour, according to Wallace Rigsby, grand knight of Piedmont Council.

Homecoming Festivities Open At PSC

KEYSER — Potomac State College will be wearing its gayest garb Saturday to welcome back its many sons and daughters who will be returning to the campus for Homecoming. Kenneth F. Haines, Alumni Association secretary, reports that over 4,000 letters have been mailed in recent weeks announcing the varied plans to alumni.

Early alumni arrivals will join present students this evening as they stage a thuse, complete with traditional bonfire, to get into the spirit of Saturday's big game.

The Student Center will be the scene of registration of Alumni Saturday, 9 a.m. to noon.

The old grads will want to find a good vantage point from which to view the Circle K sponsored Homecoming parade, scheduled to leave the campus near noon and wend its way through downtown Keyser.

Viewing the parade, they will get their first glimpse of the ROTC marching band, the impressive Battle group of ROTC cadets, and a number of colorful floats, including that bearing "Miss Catamount XXIII," Homecoming Queen and her court.

The Catamounts of Coach Dana G. Lough are all set to do their best against the Davis and Elkins Senators in the Homecoming tilt, with kickoff hour 2 p.m. at Stayman Field.

Special half-time ceremonies will honor the Homecoming Queen. A representative of Theta Sigma Chi fraternity, which annually sponsors the election of Miss Catamount, will make the formal presentation of the young lady to the audience and will give her an arm bouquet. The ROTC Battle Group will pay her tribute, by making her an honorary lieutenant colonel and passing in review in her honor.

With so much new to see on campus, it was decided to have Open House on the campus to permit former students and their friends to visit the various buildings, including the new library, the armory, and the not-so-new buildings they may not have seen for some time. Hours will be 4:30 to 5:30 p.m.

A beef barbecue dinner is to be served to alumni and faculty members in the Science Hall auditorium at 6 p.m. with the Home Economics and Agriculture Clubs making the preparations.

Thomas J. Conlon, Alumni Association president, has announced a meeting for the alumni following the dinner.

Student Council is sponsoring the Homecoming dance, a semi-formal affair in the gymnasium, with dancing from 9 p.m. until midnight. The Homecoming Queen and her escort will lead the grand march.

Predicts Re-Election

BONN (UPI)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer Thursday predicted he would be re-elected by Parliament as West German Chancellor a week after Germany's new assembly opens Oct. 17.

The 85-year-old chancellor told his Christian Democratic Parliamentary party that a new coalition cabinet will be presented a week after that, party spokesman Will Rasner told a news conference.

Hardy County Farm Bureau Has Election

Woman's Council Attends Session

MOOREFIELD—Delmer Crites was elected president of the Hardy County Farm Bureau by the directors at the annual business meeting of the organization held Friday night at firemen's hall. Other officers named are Vance Mathias, vice-president, Mrs. A. Renick McNeill, treasurer and Johnny Taylor Jr., secretary.

The annual banquet was a joint banquet for the members of the Hardy County Farm Bureau and the Hardy County Woman's Council of the Farm Women's Clubs. Mrs. David Hahn was elected president of the Hardy County Woman's Council, Mrs. Robert Branson, vice-president, Mrs. Lynn Bean, secretary, Mrs. William Clark, treasurer and Mrs. Robert Keller reporter. Fourteen Farm Women's Clubs are represented by the council.

Directors elected by members of the Farm Bureau include Clyde Ours Jr., Virgil Ours, E. B. Souder, Delmer Crites and Harry Welton Jr. Holdover directors are Vance Mathias, Paul Harper, Johnny Taylor Jr., and Harlan Leatherman. The directors elected the officers after the members named the directors.

C. J. Cunningham presided as master of ceremonies at the joint banquet which was served in the new firemen's hall by the ladies of the Moorefield Firemen's Auxiliary. Cunningham called on Mrs. Ernest Shipe, retiring president of the Woman's Council to present the committee chairmen and other officers in the women's groups. Courtney Pratt introduced the dignitaries present. Harry Pratt was presented with a 1962 membership and a gift certificate for a new hat for his work as chairman of the membership committee during the past year. Pratt secured 65 of the 165 members.

The banquet was provided by the Hardy County Cooperative and manager Ray Poling was recognized as host for the gathering. Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — The most difficult role of his life, the playing of Christ in "King of Kings," has brought Jeffrey Hunter into the limelight of tremendous praise. What a picture! And what a performance!

Jeff leaves shortly for Spain to film "Machine for Cupirosa," which Hall Bartlett will produce and direct. Actually Jeff told me that he's bought "Machine for Cupirosa" after he read the story about the soldier of fortune who helps get a tractor for a poor community, so that they can get food. Hall agreed with him, and is financing it.

Jeff, Dusty (Mrs. H.) and their two sons go to Spain with him. They'll all return the first of the year.

So great was Sol Siegel's enthusiasm when he saw "Light in the Piazza" at the sneak preview, that he sent out a memo to all producers at MGM to be on the lookout for special material for the young stars, Yvette Mimieux and George Hamilton. Yvette is on her way to Munich to play the Princess in "The Wonderful World of the Brothers Grimm," and young Hamilton is in Rome for "Two Weeks in another Town."

What a sensible wife Georgianna Young Montalban is. No weeping and wailing because Ricardo, who left for Rome Wednesday morning, won't be back until the middle of January. She is happy he is so busy.

"Don't you feel badly?" I said, "that he'll miss the holidays." "I am so grateful, and so is he," she said, "that he has so many pictures lined up. He goes to Rome now, as you printed, to do the 'The Reluctant Saint' with Maxmillian Schell for Eddie Dmytryk. While he's there, he'll do scenes for 'Young Man' for Jerry Wald, and then think of it," she said, "when he comes back, he has 'Summer Soldier' with Brian Keith and Sammy Davis waiting for him."

Natalie Wood, who tempts fate by flying to New York today, Friday the 13th, for interviews on her two movies, "West Side Story" and "Splendor in the Grass" will meet with Jerome Robbins to discuss a possible stage play with him. He's been interested in her since "West Side" which he produced, directed and choreographed.

For years Natalie has wanted to do a Broadway play, and when her Warner Bros. contract is up in eighteen months, she'll be free to do a show. She and Warren Beatty have dinner practically every night at LaScala, holding hands, and giving the best possible illustration of two people in love.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The stork will be winging to the door of Barry Coe in April. This will be his second visit. Barry co-stars in 'Follow the Sun" TV series for 20th Century-Fox, and Mrs. C. is the former Miss Norway, Jorunn Kristiansen.

At the Oyster House, Loretta Young, who really has the secret of perennial youth, dined with Mr. and Mrs. Jean Louis.

If you hear Efrem Zimbalist going around muttering in Spanish, it's because he's taken up the language at one of the Berlitz Schools. He already speaks French and German.

Danish Princess Dies

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—Princess Dagmar, 71, a sister of the late King Christian X of Denmark, died Wednesday after a long illness. She renounced her title in 1922 when she married Jorgen Carl Gustav Castenskjold, master of the royal foxhounds, but to the Danes she always was Princess Dagmar. Her husband and four children survive.

Ministers, Funeral Directors To Meet

A discussion, "The Minister and the Funeral" will be conducted at the meeting of the Cumberland Ministerial Association Monday at Central YMCA.

The association Program Committee has invited a number of funeral directors to attend. Rev. Frank G. Wanek, program chairman, said the following are expected: Charles George, John Hafer, William Kight, Stanley Leasure, James Scarpelli and Lee Silcox.

Forty-five per cent of U. S. foreign investment comes from the petroleum industry, according to Oil Facts. In 1960, oil companies spent $1.5 billion overseas out of a total American foreign investment of $3.2 billion.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — The most difficult role of his life, the playing of Christ in "King of Kings," has brought Jeffrey Hunter into the limelight of tremendous praise. What a picture! And what a performance!

Jeff leaves shortly for Spain to film "Machine for Cupirosa," which Hall Bartlett will produce and direct. Actually Jeff told me that he's bought "Machine for Cupirosa" after he read the story about the soldier of fortune who helps get a tractor for a poor community, so that they can get food. Hall agreed with him, and is financing it.

Jeff, Dusty (Mrs. H.) and their two sons go to Spain with him. They'll all return the first of the year.

So great was Sol Siegel's enthusiasm when he saw "Light in the Piazza" at the sneak preview, that he sent out a memo to all producers at MGM to be on the lookout for special material for the young stars, Yvette Mimieux and George Hamilton. Yvette is on her way to Munich to play the Princess in "The Wonderful World of the Brothers Grimm," and young Hamilton is in Rome for "Two Weeks in another Town."

What a sensible wife Georgianna Young Montalban is. No weeping and wailing because Ricardo, who left for Rome Wednesday morning, won't be back until the middle of January. She is happy he is so busy.

"Don't you feel badly?" I said, "that he'll miss the holidays." "I am so grateful, and so is he," she said, "that he has so many pictures lined up. He goes to Rome now, as you printed, to do the 'The Reluctant Saint' with Maxmillian Schell for Eddie Dmytryk. While he's there, he'll do scenes for 'Young Man' for Jerry Wald, and then think of it," she said, "when he comes back, he has 'Summer Soldier' with Brian Keith and Sammy Davis waiting for him."

Natalie Wood, who tempts fate by flying to New York today, Friday the 13th, for interviews on her two movies, "West Side Story" and "Splendor in the Grass" will meet with Jerome Robbins to discuss a possible stage play with him. He's been interested in her since "West Side" which he produced, directed and choreographed.

For years Natalie has wanted to do a Broadway play, and when her Warner Bros. contract is up in eighteen months, she'll be free to do a show. She and Warren Beatty have dinner practically every night at LaScala, holding hands, and giving the best possible illustration of two people in love.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The stork will be winging to the door of Barry Coe in April. This will be his second visit. Barry costars in 'Follow the Sun" TV series for 20th Century-Fox, and Mrs. C. is the former Miss Norway, Jorunn Kristiansen.

At the Oyster House, Loretta Young, who really has the secret of perennial youth, dined with Mr. and Mrs. Jean Louis.

If you hear Efrem Zimbalist going around muttering in Spanish, it's because he's taken up the language at one of the Berlitz Schools. He already speaks French and German.

Danish Princess Dies

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) —Princess Dagmar, 71, a sister of the late King Christian X of Denmark, died Wednesday after a long illness. She renounced her title in 1922 when she married Jorgen Carl Gustav Castenskjold, master of the royal foxhounds, but to the Danes she always was Princess Dagmar. Her husband and four children survive.

Ministers, Funeral Directors To Meet

A discussion, "The Minister and the Funeral" will be conducted at the meeting of the Cumberland Ministerial Association Monday at Central YMCA.

The association Program Committee has invited a number of funeral directors to attend. Rev. Frank G. Wanek, program chairman, said the following are expected: Charles George, John Hafer, William Kight, Stanley Leasure, James Scarpelli and Lee Silcox.

Forty-five per cent of U. S. foreign investment comes from the petroleum industry, according to Oil Facts. In 1960, oil companies spent $1.5 billion overseas out of a total American foreign investment of $3.2 billion.

BEALL BATTLES VALLEY FOR SOCCER LEAGUE LEAD

Clash In 17th Game Of Series At 'Coney; Bruce Hosts Aggies

Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's defending champions from Beall High School and Coach John C. Meyers' Valley High Black Knights will meet in a battle for first place in the W.M.I. Soccer League today at Lonaconing and the game is expected to attract one of the largest crowds of the season. The teams swing into action at 3:30 p.m.

Valley leads the race at the present time with a 2-0-1 record and five points while Beall is the runner-up with four points and a 2-0 record. A victory for the Mountaineers today would give them sole possession of first place while a win for the Knights or, a tie would keep Valley on top.

Today's game is the 17th of the series between the schools since Valley made its league debut in 1953. The Black Knights had won 13 consecutive games from Beall until the finale of the 1959 campaign when the Frostburg school scored a 4-3 victory. Valley had gone unbeaten in 52 consecutive games — 42 wins and 10 ties — until that setback.

Last year Beall swept the series, 8-3 and 5-0, and now trails in the series with three wins to Valley's 13.

John Fatkin and Clifton Van Roby will officiate in today's game.

Bruce High School's Bulldogs (1-0-1) will entertain the Flintstone Aggies (0-2-0) in the other game scheduled for today at 3:30. George Shaffer and Jack Burner will do the whistle tooting in this affair.

Kubek May Get Call From Army

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Tony Kubek, the New York Yankees star infielder, may have to go on active military duty for a year, it was reported Thursday.

Headquarters of the 14th Army Corps at Minneapolis said the 25-year-old Kubek, who plans to be married later this month, is in a "very susceptible" category of the Army reserves as replacements for units of Wisconsin's 32nd Division, the Milwaukee Journal reported.

This may mean one year of military service with the 32nd Division at Fort Lewis, Wash., starting Nov. 3, the newspaper said.

Kubek, whose home is in Milwaukee with his parents, will be married Oct. 21 to Margaret Timmel, daughter of a Watertown, Wis., Lutheran minister.

Bowhunters To Vie In Frostburg Meet

Members of the Cumberland Bowhunters, local archery club, will participate in a Get-Acquainted Tournament being held at the Mountain City Bowmen Range located at Piney Dam, Frostburg, Sunday at 1:30 p.m.

This tournament will be a 28-target animal round and archers will be permitted to use broadhead arrows.

Sentinels Beat Allegany Cross Country Team

Ronald Armolt Cops Event In 11:35.5

Fort Hill High's runners, paced by Ronald Armolt, captured the first four places in the Class A event and defeated Allegany High's Campers in a dual cross country meet yesterday, raced over the two-mile course at Fort Cumberland. The score was 17 to 38 with the low team total winning the meet.

In the Class B race Fort Hill again took team honors, defeating the Campers 21 to 39. The Sentinels won the first two places and five of the first seven finishers sported the Red and White colors.

Armolt ran the gruelling hill-and-dale race in 11:35.5 for the winning time in the Class A event in which 14 runners participated. Tommy Elliott was second and Gary Elliott and Jan Withrow finished third and fourth for Fort Hill. Leading Allegany runner was Jimmy Twigg who was fifth.

Tommy Neal finished in front in the Class B event in the slower time of 13:03. His teammate, Don Rice came in second while Allegany's top runner in this class was Walt Capel who finished third.

Bill Phillips, former Ridgeley High athlete, is the coach of the Fort Hill cross country team this season. The results:

CLASS A.
1. R. Armolt, Fort Hill.
2. T. Elliott, Fort Hill.
3. G. Elliott, Fort Hill.
4. J. Withrow, Fort Hill.
5. J. Twigg, Allegany.
6. C. Lewis, Allegany.
7. P. Wells, Fort Hill.
8. C. Kolb, Allegany.
9. P. Smith, Allegany.
10. J. Eyler, Allegany.

CLASS B.
1. T. Neal, Fort Hill.
2. D. Rice, Fort Hill.
3. W. Capel, Allegany.
4. R. Miksell, Allegany.
5. H. Reynolds, Fort Hill.
6. G. Seibert, Fort Hill.
7. R. White, Fort Hill.
8. E. Campbell, Fort Hill.
9. D. Twigg, Allegany.
10. W. White, Fort Hill.
11. L. Snyder, Fort Hill.
12. L. Malone, Fort Hill.
13. A. Moore, Allegany.
14. R. Bird, Allegany.

Bayer Sets Pace In Ontario Open

ONTARIO, Calif. (UPI)—George Bayer, the heavy-hitting former University of Washington football player, took a one-stroke lead Thursday in the first round of the $20,000, 72-hole Ontario Open by shooting a 6-under par 64.

Right on his heels was slender Jon Gustin, Gladwyne, Pa., who had a 65. Another youngster on the pro tour, Bobby Nichols, Midland, Tex., fired a 4-under par 66.

Gary Player, the pre-tourney favorite from South Africa and the leading money winner for the year, shot an even-par 70 with nines of 34-36.

Chisox Call Trio

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago White Sox Thursday called up three farm system players to increase their roster to 36.

Outfielder Ken Berry and second baseman Dick Kenworthy were lifted from Clinton in the Midwest League and catcher Larry Johnson from Lincoln in the Three-I League.

Nickel Boy, 6 To 1 Shot, Is Victor In Aqueduct Feature

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP) — Making his run from the top of the stretch, Elmendorf's Nickel Boy won the 60th running of the $56,900 Manhattan Handicap before a Columbus Day holiday crowd of 38,335 at Aqueduct today.

The 6-year-old son of his Nickel-Carickmacross, ridden by Ismael Valenzuela, scored by two lengths in capturing the mile and five sixteenths event in the good time of 2:10, a second off Tempted's track and American record.

Gustave Ring's Troubadour 3rd was second, a half length ahead of Connie M. Ring's Dress Up, who took the show by a length and a half over Peter Fuller's Hillsborough.

The victory was the first in 19 starts for the horse, and it was worth $36,985 to Max Gluck, former ambassador to Ceylon, master of Elmendorf Farm.

Given but lukewarm attention in the betting, Nickel Boy returned the across the board mutuels of $14.20, $6.80 and $4.70. Troubadour 3rd paid $16.70 and $9.00 and Dress Up was $5.10 to show.

Pirates Sell Rocky Nelson

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — First baseman Glenn (Rocky) Nelson, whose slick fielding and timely hitting during the 1960 season helped the Pittsburgh Pirates to the world's championship, was sold to Toronto of the International League Thursday.

The "Rock" as he was called during his three-year stay with the Pirates, will be returning to familiar territory. He spent nine seasons in the International League with Toronto and Rochester before Pittsburgh purchased him prior to the 1959 season. With Rochester, one year, he hit 43 home runs and batted .326.

In 1953, 1955 and 1958, Nelson was named the International League's "Most Valuable Player."

Now 37 years old, Nelson batted .291 for the Pirates in 1959 and hit an even .300 a season later. But this past campaign he fell off to a .195 average.

Baltimore Assigns Four To Rochester

BALTIMORE (AP)—Four players have been assigned outright to the Rochester Red Wings by the Baltimore Orioles, president-general managre Lee MacPhail announced Thursday.

MacPhail said pitchers Arnie Thorsland and Steve Dalkowski, catcher Frank Zupo and outfielder Jim Liggett will play for the Orioles' Triple-A affiliate in the International League.

Valiant's exciting new Signet 200 clearly says— now, personal car luxury in a low-price compact!

The king-size bucket seats, Trim-Line Design, hardtop styling and fashionable interior decor combine to convince you: this is America's most luxurious compact hardtop as well as the lowest-priced hardtop with bucket seats!

And there's a lot more to this limited-edition Valiant Signet 200. See how beautifully this new compact combines economy and performance. Take Valiant's 170-cu.-in. inclined Economy Six. An engine just like it recorded 26.13 mpg in the last Mobilgas Economy Run!

Pep? This nickel-nursing 101-hp Six knows how to run. A special version of this same basic engine powered Valiant to two consecutive victories over all compacts, American and European, entered in the 1960 and '61 Daytona Beach compact competition.

Take low initial cost. Then consider reduced insurance rates, half-as-often oil changes, 32,000-mile lube on major chassis points, plus Valiant's exceptional resale value. See why full-size car owners are switching to Valiant? See your Valiant dealer now!

Nobody beats VALIANT for value!

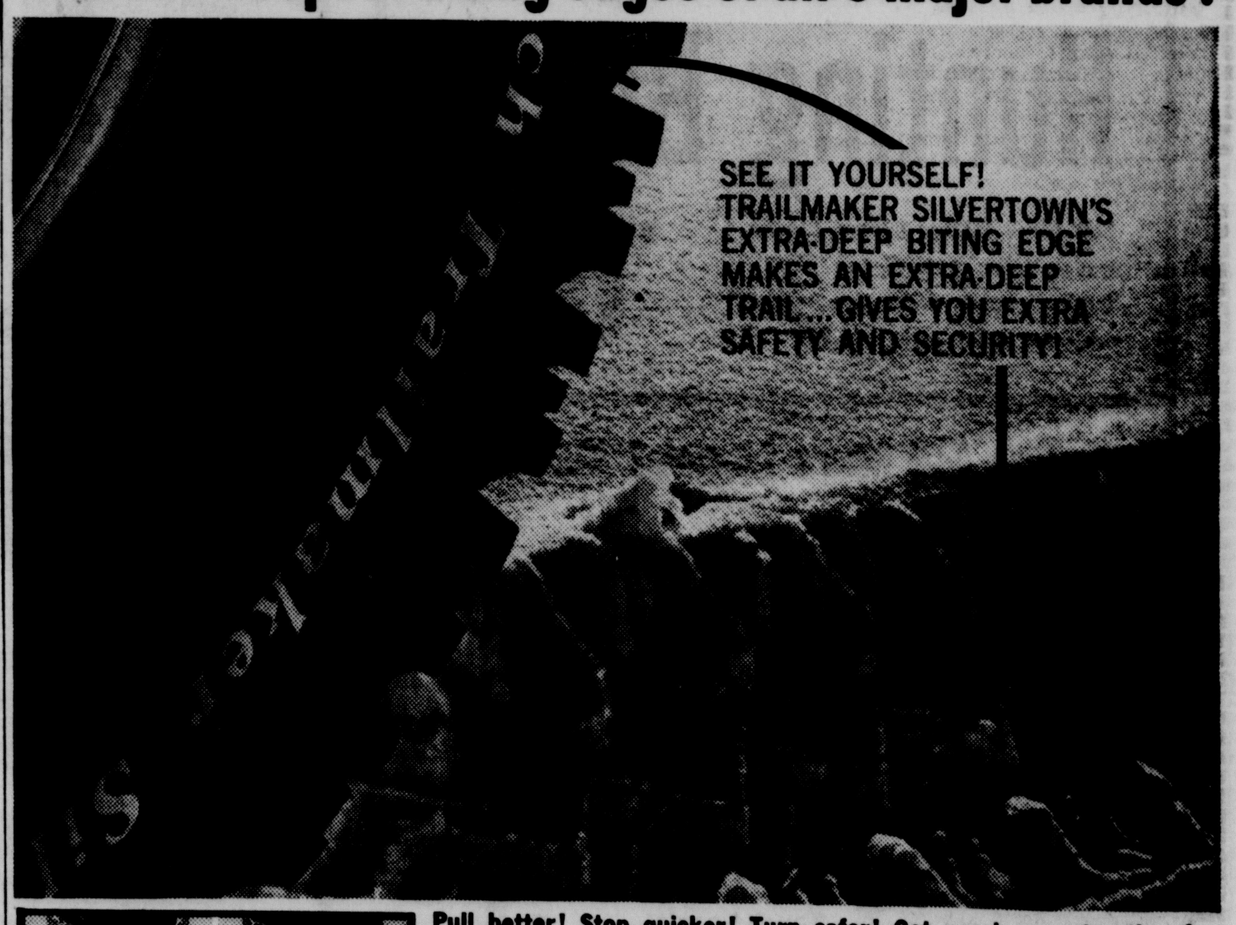
B.F.Goodrich TRAILMAKER BITES THROUGH DEEPEST SNOW
with the deepest biting edges of all 5 major brands!



PROVEN FACT: Snow tires get their greatest pulling power from their biting edges... not their center. We ran Trailmaker continuously on a rental car until almost all center tread was gone (left). Yet when tested, it still had 75% of the pulling power of new Trailmaker.

Pull better! Stop quicker! Turn safer! Get nearly new traction for years...long after other snow tires have lost their grip! BFG Trailmaker Silvertowns do a job in snow that will open your eyes... and open a whole new world of safe, sure winter driving. These tires have pull... powerful, deep-digging, sure-footed pull. The biting edges on Trailmaker Silvertowns are fully 30% to 50% deeper than any of the other four major brands. In one set of snow tests, these deeper side cleats helped Trailmaker Silvertowns outpull chains! Not only do they give you the power to fight through deepest snow, deeper biting edges give you extra seasons of use. No down payment with a set of your old tires.

Nickel Boy, 6 To 1 Shot, Is Victor In Aqueduct Feature

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP) — Making his run from the top of the stretch, Elmendorf's Nickel Boy won the 60th running of the $6,900 Manhattan Handicap before a Columbus Day holiday crowd of 38,335 at Aqueduct today.

The 6-year-old son of his Nickel-Carickmacross, ridden by Ismael Valenzuela, scored by two lengths in capturing the mile and five sixteenths event in the good time of 2:10, a second off Tempted's track and American record.

Gustave Ring's Troubadour 3rd was second, a half length ahead of Connie M. Ring's Dress Up, who took the show by a length and a half over Peter Fuller's Hillsborough.

The vcitory was the first in 19 starts for the horse, and it was worth $36,985 to Max Gluck, former ambassador to Ceylon, master of Elmendorf Farm.

Given but lukewarm attention in the betting, Nickel Boy returned the across the board mutuels of $14.20, $6.80 and $4.70. Troubadour 3rd paid $16.70 and $9.00 and Dress Up was $5.10 to show.

Pirates Sell Rocky Nelson

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — First baseman Glenn (Rocky) Nelson, whose slick fielding and timely hitting during the 1960 season helped the Pittsburgh Pirates to the world's championship, was sold to Toronto of the International League Thursday.

The "Rock" as he was called during his three-year stay with the Pirates, will be returning to familiar territory. He spent nine seasons in the International League with Toronto and Rochester before Pittsburgh purchased him prior to the 1959 season. With Rochester, one year, he hit 43 home runs and batted .326.

In 1953, 1955 and 1958, Nelson was named the International League's "Most Valuable Player."

Now 37 years old, Nelson batted .291 for the Pirates in 1959 and hit an even .300 a season later. But this past campaign he fell off to a .195 average.

Baltimore Assigns Four To Rochester

BALTIMORE (AP)—Four players have been assigned outright to the Rochester Red Wings by the Baltimore Orioles, president-general manager Lee MacPhail announced Thursday.

MacPhail said pitchers Arnie Thorsland and Steve Dalkowski, catcher Frank Zupo and outfielder Jim Liggett will play for the Orioles' Triple-A affiliate in the International League.

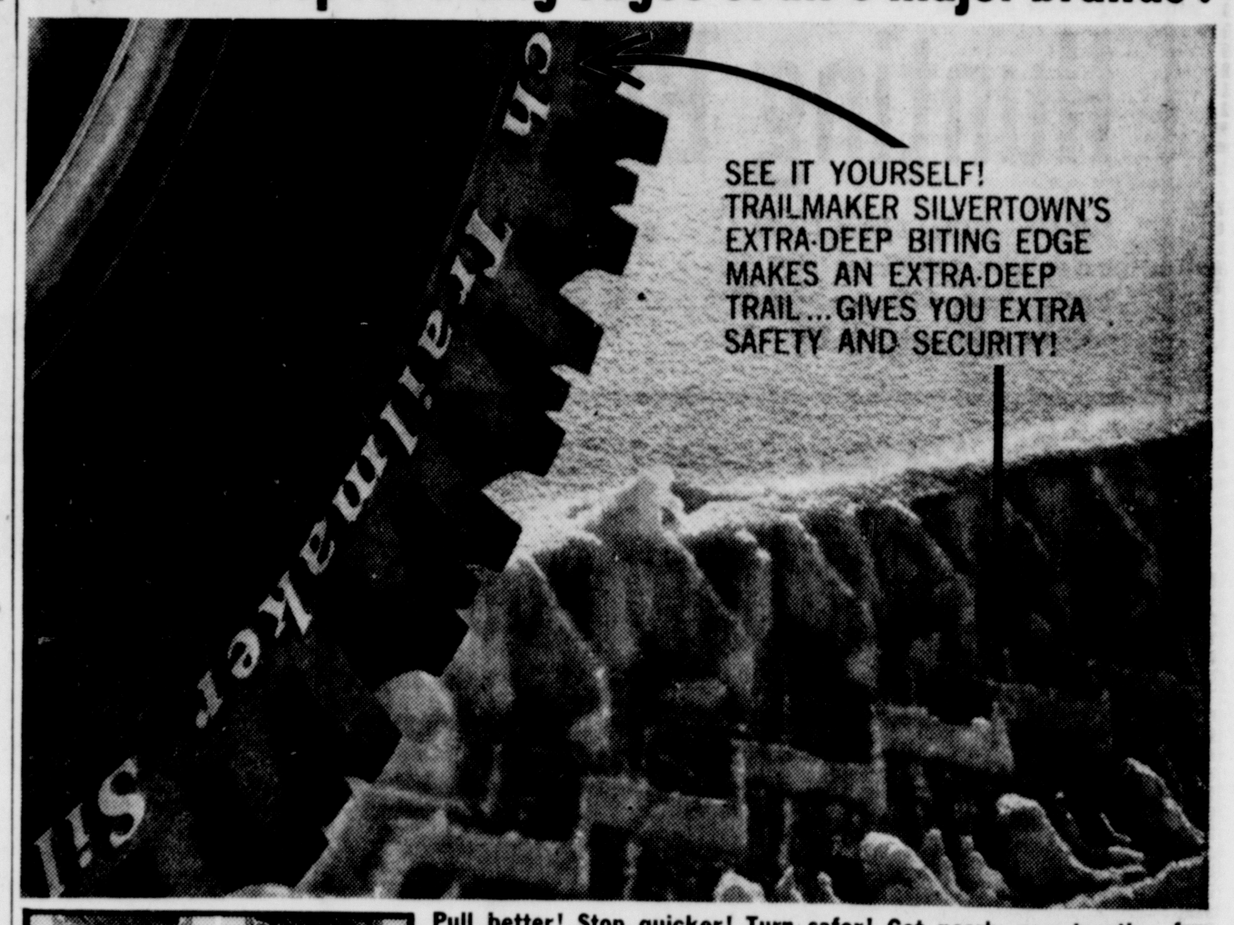
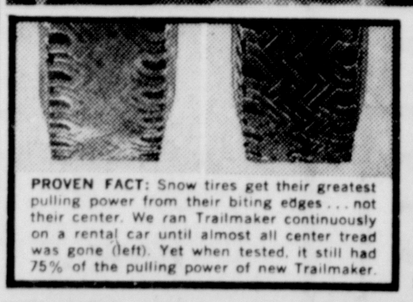
B.F.Goodrich TRAILMAKER BITES THROUGH DEEPEST SNOW
with the deepest biting edges of all 5 major brands!





PROVEN FACT: Snow tires get their greatest pulling power from their biting edges... not their center. We ran Trailmaker continuously on a rental car until almost all center tread was gone (left). Yet when tested, it still had 75% of the pulling power of new Trailmaker.

Pull better! Stop quicker! Turn safer! Get nearly new traction for years... long after other snow tires have lost their grip! BFG Trailmaker Silvertowns do a job in snow that will open your eyes... and open a whole new world of safe, sure winter driving. These tires have pull... powerful, deep-digging, sure-footed pull. The biting edges on Trailmaker Silvertowns are fully 30% to 50% deeper than any of the other four major brands. In one set of snow tests, these deeper side cleats helped Trailmaker Silvertowns outpull chains! Not only do they give you the power to fight through deepest snow, deeper biting edges give you extra seasons of use. No down payment with a set of your old tires.

Valiant's exciting new Signet 200 clearly says— now, personal car luxury in a low-price compact!

The king-size bucket seats, Trim-Line Design, hardtop styling and fashionable interior decor combine to convince you: this is America's most luxurious compact hardtop as well as the lowest-priced hardtop with bucket seats!

And there's a lot more to this limited-edition Valiant Signet 200. See how beautifully this new compact combines economy and performance. Take Valiant's 170-cu.-in. inclined Economy Six. An engine just like it recorded 26.13 mpg in the last Mobilgas Economy Run!

Pep? This nickel-nursing 101-hp Six knows how to run. A special version of this same basic engine powered Valiant to two consecutive victories over all compacts, American and European, entered in the 1960 and '61 Daytona Beach compact competition.

Take low initial cost. Then consider reduced insurance rates, half-as-often oil changes, 32,000-mile lube on major chassis points, plus Valiant's exceptional resale value. See why full-size car owners are switching to Valiant? See your Valiant dealer now!

Nobody beats VALIANT for value!

Fort Hill Hosts North High, Allegany At Martinsburg Tonight

Romney High To Seek 7th Win In Row

Will Face Ridgeley, Keyser Entertains Moorefield Eleven

Coach Mel Henry returns to the scene of his early days as a high school football coach when he brings his North Hagerstown High School gridders here tonight to engage the Sentinels of Fort Hill High School at 8 o'clock at the Greenway Avenue bowl.

Mel Henry

Henry, a product of old Penn Avenue High School, coached Fort Hill teams in the 1940s and this is his 13th season as head coach of the Hubs, who have won two games and lost three this season. Mel's record at the Washington county school to date is 53 wins, 53 losses and 10 ties. At Fort Hill, Henry's teams won 22, lost three annd played one tie game in 1943, 1944 and 1945.

Since Henry took over the reins at old Hagerstown High School in 1949 his teams have faced Fort Hill 12 times, winning two, losing eight and playing two tie games.

Sentinels' 225th Game

Fort Hill, idle last week, takes a 3-1 record into today's game. This will be the Sentinels' 225th game since the school entered the football picture with John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh as its first coach in 1936. In 26 years Fort Hill's record is 181 wins, 39 losses and four ties. This is Charley Lattimer's third year as head man at Fort Hill and his teams have posted a 19-3-1 record.

The Sentinel's current record in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League is 1-1 with a 32-14 victory over Martinsburg and a 13-0 loss suffered at the hands of the Frederick Cadets. Fort Hill's other wins were over LaSalle, 7-6, and Beall 25-0.

North High is 2-2 in the C.V.A.L., having beaten Allegany, 18-13, and Martinsburg, 12-6, while losing to Westminster, 14-13, and Frederick 20-7. In non-league competition the Hubs dropped a 35-20 decision to William Penn High of York, Pa.

North never has won over Fort Hill in four meetings. One of the games ended in a 6-6 tie.

While the Sentinels and Hubs are battling it out here tonight, Martinsburg will be the scene of another C.V.A.L. engagement between Allegany's Campers and Coach Dick Harminson's Martinsburg Bulldogs, who are winless in four outings this season. The Campers, who swept six games in winning the league title last season, have won only one game in four starts this season and are 0-2 in the seven-school loop in which the West Virginians have dropped three decisions.

The contest at Martinsburg is scheduled to get under way at 8:30 p.m., EDT.

Martinsburg has bowed to Fort Hill, North Hagerstown and South Hagerstown's Rebels (14-7) who lead the C.V.A.L. with a 3-0 record. The Bulldogs also fell before Keyser, 6-0.

Allegany lost to North High and also South High (26-19) in the league, to Altoona (Bishop Guilfoyle High) 13-12 and beat Keyser 19-13. Martinsburg never has beaten an Allegany team coached by Ed Schwarz, who is at the Campers' helm for the fourth year. The locals have won by scores of 42-0, 52-13 and 34-18 in 1960, 1959 and 1958. Martinsburg's last victory (13-7) over Allegany was in 1957.

Romney Hosts Ridgeley

Romney High School, the winningest team in the tri-state area this season with a 6-0 record, will be going for No. 7 when it meets Ridgeley High School in a Potomac Valley contest today at Romney. Coach Roger Parker's Pioneers are 3-0 in the conference and figure to take the Blackhawks today. The Hampshire countians have whipped Franklin, Moorefield and Beall and must hurdle Ridgeley and Petersburg for a perfect season in the P.V.C.

Keyser High, victor over Ridgeley and LaSalle in the league, seeks its third straight PVC win today when it hosts the Moorefield Yellowjackets today. Coach "Tack" Clark's team must dispose of Moorefield, Southern, Petersburg and Beall to tie Romney for the title if the Pioneers win all their games. The Golden Tornado will be gunning for its 11th straight win over the Hardy Countians who have not beaten Keyser since 1950.

In the third P.V.C. game on tap for today, Petersburg (2-1-1) is the choice over the Circleville Indians (1-1) in action slated for Petersburg.

Coach "Whitey" Adolfson's Southern High gridders invade Tucker County, W. Va., tonight to meet Parsons High's Panthers for the first time.

The Highlanders are 3-2 while Parsons is 2-4.

In other Friday night contests, Cresson High tackles the Bisons at Bedford and Frederick's Cadets step out of the C.V.A.L. to host Sherwood High School.

Houk Given 2-Year Pact By Yankees

Salary Estimated At $45,000 Yearly

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Ralph Houk signed a new two-year contract Thursday to manage the world champion New York Yankees at a reported $45,000 a year and predicted the club should be even better in 1962.

"I got a helluva raise," said the 42-year-old Houk who succeeded Casey Stengel as Yankee skipper just a year ago. "I almost fainted when they showed me the contract."

Roy Hamey, Yankee General Manager, said the raise was "substantial" but didn't give any figures. It was understood Houk got $30,000 in his one-year contract for 1961.

"I am pleased in more ways than one," said Houk. "First, the money is great. Second, this is the first time since I have been in baseball that I knew for sure what I would be doing for two years in advance. When a man has a family he has to think about such things."

Torgeson To Leave

Houk announced the coaching staff of Frank Crosetti, Johnny Sain, Wally Moses and Jim Hegan would be back. Hamey said Earl Torgeson, signed as a player and later made a coach, had been released because he was interested in becoming a manager either in the Yankee organization or outside.

"I am satisfied with the club as of right now," said Houk when asked about his future plans. "Maybe things might happen, like the Army. I won't say I am not eager to trade. I would like to get another starting pitcher but I am not too confident about getting one. I don't think we would be willing to give up enough to get one. We won't give up any of our front line men."

Houk made it plain that he was not interested in dealing second line men like Johnny Blanchard, Hector Lopez or Billy Gardner.

Houk also said he expected to use Yogi Berra in the outfield, as a catcher and even third base. He said he had no indications that Berra planned to retire as had been speculated in some quarters.

Should Be Better

As for '62, Houk said: "We should be rough to beat. We should be better unless we lose men to the Army or through injuries. Our pitching ought to be better with young men like (Bill) Stafford and (Roland) Sheldon improving with experience. (Hal) Reniff came along so fast that he could be a real surprise."

Goose Goslin, Detroit Tiger outfielder, grounded into four straight double plays in 1934.

Palmer Teamed With Casper In Ryder Feature

U.S.-British Golf Tests Open Today

Barber teamed Palmer, reigning British Open champion, with Bill Casper and the draw pitted that powerful duo against British Captain Dai Rees and his longtime partner Ken Bousfield.

That, shaped up as the big match in the first stage of the two-day competition over the 6,635-yard links alongside the Irish Sea.

Palmer beat Rees by one stroke in winning the British Open at nearby Birkdale three months ago. The little Welsh wizard of pro golf is out for revenge.

The other forenoon pairings are:

Doug Ford and Gene Littler vs. Christy O'Connor and Peter Alliss.

Art Wall and Jay Hebert vs. John Panton and Bernard Hunt.

Mike Souchak and Bill Collins vs. Tom Haliburton and Neil Coles.

On Saturday 16 singles — eight in the morning and eight in the afternoon—will be played.

West Virginia's Small Game Season Opens Saturday

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Come Saturday, outdoorsmen start their annual trek of West Virginia woodlands in search of squirrels and other small game, leaving behind many wives who fear for their husbands' safety.

The occasion will be the start of West Virginia's 1961-62 hunting season—and based on past years' records, not only game will be killed. In spite of urgent safety pleas, there have been unnecessary deaths of some hunters.

The Natural Resources Department predicts that approximately 250,000 nimrods will be in the the fields and woods this weekend. And that's where the danger lies, not only to animals, but to humans, also.

Last season, there were 95 hunting accidents, 14 of them fatal. Twenty of the 95 woundings were self-inflicted, caused by careless handling of weapons.

Fort Hill Hosts North High, Allegany At Martinsburg Tonight

Romney High To Seek 7th Win In Row

Will Face Ridgeley, Keyser Entertains Moorefield Eleven

Coach Mel Henry returns to the scene of his early days as a high school football coach when he brings his North Hagerstown High School gridders here tonight to engage the Sentinels of Fort Hill High School at 8 o'clock at the Greenway Avenue bowl.

Mel Henry

Henry, a product of old Penn Avenue High School, coached Fort Hill teams in the 1940s and this is his 13th season as head coach of the Hubs, who have won two games and lost three this season. Mel's record at the Washington county school to date is 53 wins, 53 losses and 10 ties. At Fort Hill, Henry's teams won 22, lost three annd played one tie game in 1943, 1944 and 1945.

Since Henry took over the reins at old Hagerstown High School in 1949 his teams have faced Fort Hill 12 times, winning two, losing eight and playing two tie games.

Sentinels' 225th Game

Fort Hill, idle last week, takes a 3-1 record into today's game. This will be the Sentinels' 225th game since the school entered the football picture with John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh as its first coach in 1936. In 26 years Fort Hill's record is 181 wins, 39 losses and four ties. This is Charley Lattimer's third year as head man at Fort Hill and his teams have posted a 19-3-1 record.

The Sentinel's current record in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League is 1-1 with a 32-14 victory over Martinsburg and a 13-0 loss suffered at the hands of the Frederick Cadets. Fort Hill's other wins were over LaSalle, 7-6, and Beall 25-0.

North High is 2-2 in the C.V.A.L., having beaten Allegany, 18-13, and Martinsburg, 12-6, while losing to Westminster, 14-13, and Frederick 20-7. In non-league competition the Hubs dropped a 35-20 decision to William Penn High of York, Pa.

North never has won over Fort Hill in four meetings. One of the games ended in a 6-6 tie.

While the Sentinels and Hubs are battling it out here tonight, Martinsburg will be the scene of another C.V.A.L. engagement between Allegany's Campers and Coach Dick Harminson's Martinsburg Bulldogs, who are winless in four outings this season. The Campers, who swept six games in winning the league title last season, have won only one game in four starts this season and are 0-2 in the seven-school loop in which the West Virginians have dropped three decisions.

The contest at Martinsburg is scheduled to get under way at 8:30 p.m., EDT.

Martinsburg has bowed to Fort Hill, North Hagerstown and South Hagerstown's Rebels (14-7) who lead the C.V.A.L. with a 3-0 record. The Bulldogs also fell before Keyser, 6-0.

Allegany lost to North High and also South High (26-19) in the league, to Altoona (Bishop Guilfoyle High) 13-12 and beat Keyser 19-13. Martinsburg never has beaten an Allegany team coached by Ed Schwarz, who is at the Campers' helm for the fourth year. The locals have won by scores of 42-0, 52-13 and 34-18 in 1960, 1959 and 1958. Martinsburg's last victory (13-7) over Allegany was in 1957.

Romney Hosts Ridgeley

Romney High School, the winningest team in the tri-state area this season with a 6-0 record, will be going for No. 7 when it meets Ridgeley High School in a Potomac Valley contest today at Romney. Coach Roger Parker's Pioneers are 3-0 in the conference and figure to take the Blackhawks today. The Hampshire countians have whipped Franklin, Moorefield and Beall and must hurdle Ridgeley and Petersburg for a perfect season in the P.V.C.

Keyser High, victor over Ridgeley and LaSalle in the league, seeks its third straight PVC win today when it hosts the Moorefield Yellowjackets today. Coach "Tack" Clark's team must dispose of Moorefield, Southern, Petersburg and Beall to tie Romney for the title if the Pioneers win all their games. The Golden Tornado will be gunning for its 11th straight win over the Hardy Countians who have not beaten Keyser since 1950.

In the third P.V.C. game on tap for today, Petersburg (2-1-1) is the choice over the Circleville Indians (1-1) in action slated for Petersburg.

Coach "Whitey" Adolfson's Southern High gridders invade Tucker County, W. Va., tonight to meet Parsons High's Panthers for the first time.

The Highlanders are 3-2 while Parsons is 2-4.

In other Friday night contests, Cresson High tackles the Bisons at Bedford and Frederick's Cadets step out of the C.V.A.L. to host Sherwood High School.

Houk Given 2-Year Pact By Yankees

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Ralph Houk signed a new two-year contract Thursday to manage the world champion New York Yankees at a reported $45,000 a year and predicted the club should be even better in 1962.

"I got a helluva raise," said the 42-year-old Houk who succeeded Casey Stengel as Yankee skipper just a year ago. "I almost fainted when they showed me the contract."

Roy Hamey, Yankee General Manager, said the raise was "substantial" but didn't give any figures. It was understood Houk got $30,000 in his one-year contract for 1961.

"I am pleased in more ways than one," said Houk. "First, the money is great. Second, this is the first time since I have been in baseball that I knew for sure what I would be doing for two years in advance. When a man has a family he has to think about such things."

Torgeson To Leave

Houk announced the coaching staff of Frank Crosetti, Johnny Sain, Wally Moses and Jim Hegan would be back. Hamey said Earl Torgeson, signed as a player and later made a coach, had been released because he was interested in becoming a manager either in the Yankee organization or outside.

"I am satisfied with the club as of right now," said Houk when asked about his future plans. "Maybe things might happen, like the Army. I won't say I am not eager to trade. I would like to get another starting pitcher but I am not too confident about getting one. I don't think we would be willing to give up enough to get one. We won't give up any of our front line men."

Houk made it plain that he was not interested in dealing second line men like Johnny Blanchard, Hector Lopez or Billy Gardner.

Houk also said he expected to use Yogi Berra in the outfield, as a catcher and even third base. He said he had no indications that Berra planned to retire as had been speculated in some quarters.

Should Be Better

As for '62, Houk said: "We should be rough to beat. We should be better unless we lose men to the Army or through injuries. Our pitching ought to be better with young men like (Bill) Stafford and (Roland) Sheldon improving with experience. (Hal) Reniff came along so fast that he could be a real surprise."

Goose Goslin, Detroit Tiger outfielder, grounded into four straight double plays in 1934.

Keyser 9th Grade Wins Over Romney By Score Of 14-7

Bob Barr and Ray Sears scored touchdowns in the second and third periods yesterday to give Keyser High School's Ninth grade gridders a 14-7 victory over Romney High in a game played at Romney.

Romney took a 7-0 lead in the first period when Burgess smashed over from the three and Lee kicked the extra point.

Keyser, however, tied the score at 7-7 in the second quarter when Barr slammed over from the one and Sears ran the extra point. Sears scored from the two and Barr converted on a run for the deciding points in the third stanza.

Keyser reeled off six first downs, did not attempt any passes, lost 40 yards on penalties and gained 142 net yards on the ground. Romney had five first downs, completed four of 10 aerials for 61 yards, had two passes intercepted, was set back 20 yards on penalties and had 55 net yards rushing.

Palmer Teamed With Casper In Ryder Feature

U.S.-British Golf Tests Open Today

Barber teamed Palmer, reigning British Open champion, with Bill Casper and the draw pitted that powerful duo against British Captain Dai Rees and his longtime partner Ken Bousfield.

That, shaped up as the big match in the first stage of the two-day competition over the 6,635-yard links alongside the Irish Sea.

Palmer beat Rees by one stroke in winning the British Open at nearby Birkdale three months ago. The little Welsh wizard of pro golf is out for revenge.

The other forenoon pairings are:

Doug Ford and Gene Littler vs. Christy O'Connor and Peter Alliss.

Art Wall and Jay Hebert vs. John Panton and Bernard Hunt.

Mike Souchak and Bill Collins vs. Tom Haliburton and Neil Coles.

On Saturday 16 singles — eight in the morning and eight in the afternoon—will be played.

West Virginia's Small Game Season Opens Saturday

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Come Saturday, outdoorsmen start their annual trek of West Virginia woodlands in search of squirrels and other small game, leaving behind many wives who fear for their husbands' safety.

The occasion will be the start of West Virginia's 1961-62 hunting season—and based on past years' records, not only game will be killed. In spite of urgent safety pleas, there have been unnecessary deaths of some hunters.

The Natural Resources Department predicts that approximately 250,000 nimrods will be in the the fields and woods this weekend. And that's where the danger lies, not only to animals, but to humans, also.

Last season, there were 95 hunting accidents, 14 of them fatal. Twenty of the 95 woundings were self-inflicted, caused by careless handling of weapons.

Mickey Wright Leads Tourney

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Blonde Mickey Wright climaxed a 4-under par 67 with an 80-foot chip shot on the 18th hole to take a 5-stroke lead Tuesday in the opening round of the $15,000 Women's Professional Golfers Association (WPGA) tournament.

Trailing well back in second place—and tied—were Shirley Englehorn, Spokane, Wash., 35-37—72, and Beth Stone, Muskogee, Okla., 36-36—72.

Jo Ann Prentice, Birmingham, Ala., was fourth with 36-37 — 73, while Miss Berg, Miss Suggs and Kathy Whitworth, were in a three-way tie at 74.

There are 37 women professionals in the 72-hole tourney which has $2,500 as top prize.

Co-Favorites Named

CHICAGO (AP)—Oink and Run for Nurse are co-favorites in Saturday's $100,000-added Gold Cup, closing day feature expected to lure a field of nine at Hawthorne course.

If nine start, the race will gross $127,250 with a winner's net of $78,250.

Patriots Play Oilers Tonight

Rykmus' Future May Hinge On Outcome

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—Reports Thursday indicated that the outcome of Friday night's game between the Houston Oilers and Boston Patriots could determine coach Lou Rymkus' future with the Oilers.

Losers of three in a row and occupants of the American Football League eastern division basement, the Oilers will be virtually out of the race to repeat as league champions if they lose to the underdog Patriots.

The Houston Press said it had reports from reliable sources close to the Oilers that Friday night's game is a "make-or-break" affair for the controversial Rymkus. If the Oilers lose, it was reported that Rymkus will be fired when the club returns to Houston.

Boston's Lou Saban was fired this week and Oakland's Eddie Erdelatz was ousted three weeks ago.

Relationships between Rymkus and the Oiler front office, never considered close, began deteriorating last spring when Owner K. S. (Bud) Adams announced the club would train in Hawaii. Rymkus was against the site and let his feelings be know publically several times.

Italy And U.S. Davis Cup Teams To Open Series

ROME (UPI)—The United States and Italian Davis Cup teams Thursday finished their training for the inter-zone final matches.

The three days of matches begin Friday with Jon Douglas of Santa Monica, Calif., paired against Fausto Gardini, the 31-year-old sparkplug of the Itlaian team.

Friday's second match pits Nicola Pietrangeli against the U.S. most experienced player, Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif.

Play begins at 11:30 GMT (7:30 a.m. EDT) at the tennis courts of the Foto Italico, the center for the 1960 Olympics here.

On Saturday a still unnamed U.S. pair will play the almost unbeatable Italian doubles team of Pietrangeli and Sirola.

Boxer Is Critical

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI)—Billy Johnson, 24, a professional boxer, remained in critical condition Thursday after suffering a brain hemorrhage in a Wednesday night bout at the Skating Palace.

The Newark, N.J., fighter was dropped to the canvas twice before being knocked out by Gene Thomas of Hartford in the fourth round of a six round fight.

Johnson, who is married, has had 15 professional fights.

FREDDIE HUTCHINSON NAMED NL'S TOP MANAGER OF 1961

UPI's Board Of 36 Experts Picks Pilot Of Cincinnati Reds

By FRED DOWN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fred Hutchinson's job in leading the Cincinnati Reds to their amazing National League pennant victory was rewarded Thursday with his unanimous selection as the circuit's top manager of 1961.

The destination of the 42-year-old native of Seattle, Wash., who brought the Reds their first flag since 1940, was made by the United Press International's board of 36 baseball experts. The award was won in 1960 by Danny Murtaugh of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Nobody regarded the Reds as a pennant threat in the spring and few experts took them seriously even when they continued to lead the league going into September. "They'll fold," was the cry on every side. But the Reds didn't fold. They bounced out of slumps at the crucial moments and went on to their pennant victory.

Balloted Before Series

The balloting was not affected by the Reds' performance in the World Series because it was completed before the classic began.

Hutchinson, who became manager of the Reds on July 9, 1959, is famous for dark rages during which he sometimes hurls furniture in the clubhouse but his managerial style is essentially to win the confidence of players and to bring them along by encouragement. It was this policy that paid off for him and the Reds this year.

A team made up almost completely of castoffs from other clubs, the Reds encountered slump after slump this year but always came out of them in time to maintain their leads over the challenging Los Angeles Dodgers, San Francisco Giants and Milwaukee Braves.

One of Hutchinson's major accomplishments was the development of Joey Jay, a disappointment with Milwaukee, into a 21-game winner this year. Jay himself credited Hutchinson for his big year with the comment, "He made me feel like a man and not a statistic."

Won 95 Games In Majors

Hutchinson's own career perhaps affords the reason for his extreme patience with players. He came out of Seattle in 1938 with a 25-7 record and heralded as one of the greatest rookie finds in history but was a major flop with the Detroit Tigers. Some six or seven years later, however, he developed into a fine pitcher and rugged competitor who had a 95-71 career record in the majors.

Hutchinson managed the Tigers from 1952 through 1954 and the St. Louis Cardinals from 1956 through 1958. He was piloting the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast League in 1959 when the Reds offered him the job as their manager.

Expect Capacity Crowd

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Browns will meet the Green Bay Packers for the first time in six years at Cleveland Stadium Sunday afternoon before what may be a capacity crowd.

The Browns all time record here is 82,872 to watch the New York Giants last season.

Co-Favorites Named

CHICAGO (AP)—Oink and Run for Nurse are co-favorites in Saturday's $100,000-added Gold Cup, closing day feature expected to lure a field of nine at Hawthorne course.

If nine start, the race will gross $127,250 with a winner's net of $78,250.

Patriots Play Oilers Tonight

Rykmus' Future May Hinge On Outcome

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—Reports Thursday indicated that the outcome of Friday night's game between the Houston Oilers and Boston Patriots could determine coach Lou Rymkus' future with the Oilers.

Losers of three in a row and occupants of the American Football League eastern division basement, the Oilers will be virtually out of the race to repeat as league champions if they lose to the underdog Patriots.

The Houston Press said it had reports from reliable sources close to the Oilers that Friday night's game is a "make-or-break" affair for the controversial Rymkus. If the Oilers lose, it was reported that Rymkus will be fired when the club returns to Houston.

Boston's Lou Saban was fired this week and Oakland's Eddie Erdelatz was ousted three weeks ago.

Relationships between Rymkus and the Oiler front office, never considered close, began deteriorating last spring when Owner K. S. (Bud) Adams announced the club would train in Hawaii. Rymkus was against the site and let his feelings be know publically several times.

Italy And U.S. Davis Cup Teams To Open Series

ROME (UPI)—The United States and Italian Davis Cup teams Thursday finished their training for the inter-zone final matches.

The three days of matches begin Friday with Jon Douglas of Santa Monica, Calif., paired against Fausto Gardini, the 31-year-old sparkplug of the Itlaian team.

Friday's second match pits Nicola Pietrangeli against the U.S. most experienced player, Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif.

Play begins at 11:30 GMT (7:30 a.m. EDT) at the tennis courts of the Foto Italico, the center for the 1960 Olympics here.

On Saturday a still unnamed U.S. pair will play the almost unbeatable Italian doubles team of Pietrangeli and Sirola.

Boxer Is Critical

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI)—Billy Johnson, 24, a professional boxer, remained in critical condition Thursday after suffering a brain hemorrhage in a Wednesday night bout at the Skating Palace.

The Newark, N.J., fighter was dropped to the canvas twice before being knocked out by Gene Thomas of Hartford in the fourth round of a six round fight.

Johnson, who is married, has had 15 professional fights.

FREDDIE HUTCHINSON NAMED NL'S TOP MANAGER OF 1961

UPI's Board Of 36 Experts Picks Pilot Of Cincinnati Reds

By FRED DOWN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fred Hutchinson's job in leading the Cincinnati Reds to their amazing National League pennant victory was rewarded Thursday with his unanimous selection as the circuit's top manager of 1961.

The destination of the 42-year-old native of Seattle, Wash., who brought the Reds their first flag since 1940, was made by the United Press International's board of 36 baseball experts. The award was won in 1960 by Danny Murtaugh of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Nobody regarded the Reds as a pennant threat in the spring and few experts took them seriously even when they continued to lead the league going into September. "They'll fold," was the cry on every side. But the Reds didn't fold. They bounced out of slumps at the crucial moments and went on to their pennant victory.

Balloted Before Series

The balloting was not affected by the Reds' performance in the World Series because it was completed before the classic began.

Hutchinson, who became manager of the Reds on July 9, 1959, is famous for dark rages during which he sometimes hurls furniture in the clubhouse but his managerial style is essentially to win the confidence of players and to bring them along by encouragement. It was this policy that paid off for him and the Reds this year.

A team made up almost completely of castoffs from other clubs, the Reds encountered slump after slump this year but always came out of them in time to maintain their leads over the challenging Los Angeles Dodgers, San Francisco Giants and Milwaukee Braves.

One of Hutchinson's major accomplishments was the development of Joey Jay, a disappointment with Milwaukee, into a 21-game winner this year. Jay himself credited Hutchinson for his big year with the comment, "He made me feel like a man and not a statistic."

Won 95 Games In Majors

Hutchinson's own career perhaps affords the reason for his extreme patience with players. He came out of Seattle in 1938 with a 25-7 record and heralded as one of the greatest rookie finds in history but was a major flop with the Detroit Tigers. Some six or seven years later, however, he developed into a fine pitcher and rugged competitor who had a 95-71 career record in the majors.

Hutchinson managed the Tigers from 1952 through 1954 and the St. Louis Cardinals from 1956 through 1958. He was piloting the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast League in 1959 when the Reds offered him the job as their manager.

Makes 220 MPH Runs

ADELAIDE, Australia (UPI)—Donald Campbell Thursday made 220 mile-per-hour runs on white salt flat at Lake Eyre in a borrowed Jaguar car.

Expect Capacity Crowd

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Browns will meet the Green Bay Packers for the first time in six years at Cleveland Stadium Sunday afternoon before what may be a capacity crowd.

The Browns all-time record here is 82,872 to watch the New York Giants last season.

And now to football! With baseball finally finished for another year we can do a little solitary thinking about our favorite gridiron Goliaths.

For most fans in this area the fortunes of war have happily improved since last season. Maryland thus far has been a pleasant surprise . . . the actual and subway alumni of Notre Dame are flashing big grins these days . . . and even West Virginia has entered the act by coming up with the first win in two campaigns.

Each Saturday, of course, you'll be seeing the TV game of the week on our color TV we trust and at the same time enjoying our superb food and refreshing drinks.

There's a lot to like about The Cas Taylors' . . . come by and get acquainted. We're at the corner of N. Mechanic and Valley Streets!

Stock Market Irregularly Lower In Light Trading

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market couldn't quite make up its mind again Thursday, running narrowly at slightly lower levels for most of the session, picking up in the final hour, and dipping again in the last few minutes.

Except for tobaccos, oils and a handful of specialties, the session was a quiet one as activity slumped to 3,060,000 shares from 3,670,000 on Wednesday. Brokers blamed the Columbus Day holiday which shut down banks and other institutions.

The Dow-Jones industrial average lost a minor 0.12 to 705.50, rails fell 0.72 to 152.20 and utilities broke 12 consecutive gains with a loss of 0.29 to 127.55. Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks slipped one cent.

The market also narrowed considerably to 1,229 issues crossing the tape, down from 1,280 Wednesday. Declines outnumbered advances by 505 to 476. There were 43 new 1961 highs against 13 new lows.

Stock Market Irregularly Lower In Light Trading

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market couldn't quite make up its mind again Thursday, running narrowly at slightly lower levels for most of the session, picking up in the final hour, and dipping again in the last few minutes.

Except for tobaccos, oils and a handful of specialties, the session was a quiet one as activity slumped to 3,060,000 shares from 3,670,000 on Wednesday. Brokers blamed the Columbus Day holiday which shut down banks and other institutions.

The Dow-Jones industrial average lost a minor 0.12 to 705.50, rails fell 0.72 to 152.20 and utilities broke 12 consecutive gains with a loss of 0.29 to 127.55. Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks slipped one cent.

The market also narrowed considerably to 1,229 issues crossing the tape, down from 1,280 Wednesday. Declines outnumbered advances by 505 to 476. There were 43 new 1961 highs against 13 new lows.

Gene Conley To Play For Tapers In A.B.L.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Tapers announced Thursday the signing of Gene Conley, former Boston Celtics forward and present Boston Red Sox pitcher, for the coming American Basketball League season.

Conley, who scales six feet, eight inches, was selected from the Celtics' roster by the new Chicago entry in the National Basketball Association.

However, Paul Cohen, general manager of the Tapers, said Conley decided to cast his lot with the new American League and will be in the starting lineup when the Tapers open the season here against the Chicago Majors Nov. 2.

Barber Reports For Army Duty

BALTIMORE (AP) — Steve Barber, southpaw pitcher who won 18 games for the Baltimore Orioles the past baseball season, reported Thursday for a year's active Army duty.

Barber is the first of Orioles who have received orders to report for duty. Outfielder Barry Shetrone is scheduled to go Oct. 30 and shortstop Ron Hansen on Nov. 2.

Boxing Is Shunned By Chicago Stadium

CHICAGO (UPI) — Art Wirtz, president of the Chicago Stadium, said Thursday there was no chance that boxing would be promoted in the building again.

"Our policy is that we want no part of boxing," he said. "We brought a lot of good fights to Chicago in 10 years, and there never was a question about our bouts, but we were smeared because of it.

"We're trying to bring in good hockey, ice shows, the Golden Gloves and basketball and that's all."

Ponce Greets Arroyo

PONCE, Puerto Rico (AP) — Luis Arroyo, ace relief pitcher of the New York Yankees, was greeted by a noisy celebration on his return to Ponce Thursday to spend the winter.

Ponce is Arroyo's home town. Business stopped and hundreds of automobiles formed a honking procession which escorted Tite, as he is called here, to his home.

Cops Walking Title

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Ronald Laird of Norristown, Pa., a member of the U. S. Olympic walking team, Thursday won the national 30 - kilometer walking championship.

Laird stepped off the approximately 18½-mile distance in 2 hours, 29 minutes, 38.8 seconds. The race was sponsored by the Providence Columbus Day Celebration Committee and sanctioned by the AAU.

Former Trojan Dies

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Norm Verry, El Camino Junior College football coach and former Southern California line star, died Thursday following brain surgery at St. Vincent's Hospital.

Verry, 39, was stricken with a brain hemmorhage while accompanying his team to Boise, Idaho, for a football game Sept. 23. He was removed from a charter flight in Reno and returned here by air ambulance.

U.S. Netmen Lose

BARCELONA, Spain (UPI) — Two European players scored upset victories over Americans Thursday on the opening day of the Jack Kramer tennis cup tournament.

Andres Gimeno of Spain beat Pancho Gonzales in the first match, which included a 70-minute third set, 7-5, 5-7, 12-10, 6-1, and Robert Haillet of France defeated Tony Trabert, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4, 10-8.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a problem which I've never seen in your column. Furthermore I've never heard of anyone who has had this kind of trouble.

My husband insists that I leave the door to our apartment open between 5:30 and 6 in the evening when he is expected home for dinner. He just hates to dig around for his key. I should tell you that he usually carries a brief case and some books so I concede it may be a bit of a nuisance.

I've offered to unlock the door immediately if he will only knock, whistle or ring, but this isn't good enough! He can't stand to wait. He wants the door to be open so he can walk right in.

Yesterday he got so mad he yelled loud enough for the neighbors to hear "If this door isn't open tomorrow I'm going to kick it down!" What do you suggest?
—BROWBEATEN

DEAR BROW: Of course it would be more convenient if the door were open so he could walk right in. It would be even MORE convenient if there were no door at all. But a grown man should have sense enough to realize that if HE could walk in, so could any vagrant, thief or lunatic.

Tell him to grow up. A major symptom of infantile behavior is the inability to defer to others. The inconvenience of using his key is a trifle compared with what he stands to lose by insisting that you leave the door open.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My 10-year-old daughter was behaving badly in a department store yesterday. She was running up and down the aisles, pulling dresses off the hangers and opening stock drawers. I told her repeatedly to stop it. She'd say "O. K., Mommy," and two minutes later she'd do something else.

When my back was turned she climbed on a table and stuck her hand in a bird cage. This was the limit so I gave her a swat on the behind. She bawled for a minute then behaved perfectly.

A close friend who was with me, criticized me for spanking the child in public. She said only low class people do this and I should have waited until we got home. Do you agree?—CRITICIZED

DEAR CRITICIZED: The most effective punishment is the kind handed out on the spot.

Time takes on strange dimensions to youngsters. An hour can seem like a week. Had you waited until you got home she might have forgotten that she behaved badly. My only criticism is that you didn't let her have it sooner.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A friend who works near my place of employment rides to and from work with me almost every day. Sometimes he invites a friend or two to ride along. This has been going on for almost two years.

Not once has he offered to buy gas or oil for the car. I wonder if he thinks a car runs on "Thank You." I am not a petty person, nor am I in bad financial shape, but I hate to be a sap. What are your feelings on this subject?
—FREE TAXI

DEAR FREE: People who accept favors should reciprocate in some manner. Perhaps your friend feels you would be insulted if he offered to fill the tank. An occasional gift would show appreciation. In any event, "Thanks for the ride" day after day is not enough.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teen-age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be guad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

MRS. WILSON FUNERAL

Services for Mrs. Ida Belle Wilson, 82, who died Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Julia Snider, 434 Laing Avenue, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Hafer Funeral Home by Rev. Ralph Wallace. Burial will be in Mt. Herman Cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Robert Crump, Samuel Murphy, Raymond Linn, Charles True, William Hartman and David Green.

GEORGE G. KNIERIEM

MEYERSDALE, Pa. — George G. Knieriem, 68, died yesterday at his home, RFD 1, New Breighton. He had been in ill health for some time.

A native of Meyersdale, he was a son of the late Dennis and Catherine (Miller) Knieriem.

Surviving are his widow, Bessie (Kresgie) Knieriem; two children, George G. Jr., at home, and Mrs. Richard Emery, Dearborn, Mich.; four brothers, Homer, Wilmington, Del.; Harry, Johnstown; Robert, of here, and Charles Knieriem, Denver, Colo.; two sisters, Mrs. Harry Csamer, Morgantown, W.Va., and Mrs. Merle Coughenour, RFD 1, Salisbury, and eight grandchildren.

The body is at the Price Funeral Home after 3 p.m. today.

JAMES R. SHAWEN

Romney, W. Va. — James Russell Shawen, 46, of Winchester, Va., died yesterday in Winchester Memorial Hospital where he was admitted Sunday.

A native of Romney, he was a son of Mrs. Elizabeth (Potter) Shawen, of here, and the late Harley M. Shawen. Mr. Shawen was superintendent of transportation and construction for the Potomac Edison Company in Hagerstown.

He was a veteran of World War II and was a member of Braddock Street Methodist Church in Winchester.

Surviving, besides his mother, are his widow, Margaret (Wilson) Shawen; two daughters, Janet and Peggy Shawen, both at home, and a sister, Mrs. Harold L. Welker, of here.

The body will be at the Shaffer Funeral Home after 4 p. m. tomorrow.

Services will be conducted there Sunday at 4:30 p. m. (EST) by Rev. C. E. Brandt. Burial will be in Indian Mound Cemetery.

JOHN R. DARR

Born in Cumberland, he was a son of the late John R. and Minnie (Hollow) Darr Sr. Mr. Darr was a veteran of World War II.

Surviving are two brothers, Raymond E., Parkville, Md., and Robert P. Darr, Lousville, Ky.

Gene Conley To Play For Tapers In A.B.L.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Tapers announced Thursday the signing of Gene Conley, former Boston Celtics forward and present Boston Red Sox pitcher, for the coming American Basketball League season.

Conley, who scales six feet, eight inches, was selected from the Celtics' roster by the new Chicago entry in the National Basketball Association.

However, Paul Cohen, general manager of the Tapers, said Conley decided to cast his lot with the new American League and will be in the starting lineup when the Tapers open the season here against the Chicago Majors Nov. 2.

Barber Reports For Army Duty

BALTIMORE (AP) — Steve Barber, southpaw pitcher who won 18 games for the Baltimore Orioles the past baseball season, reported Thursday for a year's active Army duty.

Barber is the first of Orioles who have received orders to report for duty. Outfielder Barry Shetrone is scheduled to go Oct. 30 and shortstop Ron Hansen on Nov. 2.

In addition, third baseman Brooks Robinson and pitcher Chuck Estrada are liable to be called.

The 22-year-old Barber reported to Fort Bragg, N.C.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a problem which I've never seen in your column. Furthermore I've never heard of anyone who has had this kind of trouble.

My husband insists that I leave the door to our apartment open between 5:30 and 6 in the evening when he is expected home for dinner. He just hates to dig around for his key. I should tell you that he usually carries a brief case and some books so I concede it may be a bit of a nuisance.

I've offered to unlock the door immediately if he will only knock, whistle or ring, but this isn't good enough! He can't stand to wait. He wants the door to be open so he can walk right in.

Yesterday he got so mad he yelled loud enough for the neighbors to hear "If this door isn't open tomorrow I'm going to kick it down!" What do you suggest?

—BROWBEATEN

DEAR BROW: Of course it would be more convenient if the door were open so he could walk right in. It would be even MORE convenient if there were no door at all. But a grown man should have sense enough to realize that if HE could walk in, so could any vagrant, thief or lunatic.

Tell him to grow up. A major symptom of infantile behavior is the inability to defer to others. The inconvenience of using his key is a trifle compared with what he stands to lose by insisting that you leave the door open.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My 10-year-old daughter was behaving badly in a department store yesterday. She was running up and down the aisles, pulling dresses off the hangers and opening stock drawers. I told her repeatedly to stop it. She'd say "O. K., Mommy," and two minutes later she'd do something else.

When my back was turned she climbed on a table and stuck her hand in a bird cage. This was the limit so I gave her a swat on the behind. She bawled for a minute then behaved perfectly.

A close friend who was with me, criticized me for spanking the child in public. She said only low class people do this and I should have waited until we got home. Do you agree?—CRITICIZED

DEAR CRITICIZED: The most effective punishment is the kind handed out on the spot.

Time takes on strange dimensions to youngsters. An hour can seem like a week. Had you waited until you got home she might have forgotten that she behaved badly. My only criticism is that you didn't let her have it sooner.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A friend who works near my place of employment rides to and from work with me almost every day. Sometimes he invites a friend or two to ride along. This has been going on for almost two years.

Not once has he offered to buy gas or oil for the car. I wonder if he thinks a car runs on "Thank You." I am not a petty person, nor am I in bad financial shape, but I hate to be a sap. What are your feelings on this subject?

—FREE TAXI

DEAR FREE: People who accept favors should reciprocate in some manner. Perhaps your friend feels you would be insulted if he offered to fill the tank. An occasional gift would show appreciation. In any event, "Thanks for the ride" day after day is not enough.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teen-age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be guad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Boxing Is Shunned By Chicago Stadium

CHICAGO (UPI) — Art Wirtz, president of the Chicago Stadium, said Thursday there was no chance that boxing would be promoted in the building again.

"Our policy is that we want no part of boxing," he said. "We brought a lot of good fights to Chicago in 10 years, and there never was a question about our bouts, but we were smeared because of it.

"We're trying to bring in good hockey, ice shows, the Golden Gloves and basketball and that's all."

Ponce Greets Arroyo

PONCE, Puerto Rico (AP) — Luis Arroyo, ace relief pitcher of the New York Yankees, was greeted by a noisy celebration on his return to Ponce Thursday to spend the winter.

Ponce is Arroyo's home town. Business stopped and hundreds of automobiles formed a honking procession which escorted Tite, as he is called here, to his home.

Cops Walking Title

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Ronald Laird of Norristown, Pa., a member of the U. S. Olympic walking team, Thursday won the national 30 - kilometer walking championship.

Laird stepped off the approximately 18½-mile distance in 2 hours, 29 minutes, 38.8 seconds. The race was sponsored by the Providence Columbus Day Celebration Committee and sanctioned by the AAU.

Former Trojan Dies

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Norm Verry, El Camino Junior College football coach and former Southern California line star, died Thursday following brain surgery at St. Vincent's Hospital.

Verry, 39, was stricken with a brain hemmorhage while accompanying his team to Boise, Idaho, for a football game Sept. 23. He was removed from a charter flight in Reno and returned here by air ambulance.

U.S. Netmen Lose

BARCELONA, Spain (UPI) — Two European players scored upset victories over Americans Thursday on the opening day of the Jack Kramer tennis cup tournament.

Andres Gimeno of Spain beat Pancho Gonzales in the first match, which included a 70-minute third set, 7-5, 5-7, 12-10, 6-1, and Robert Haillet of France defeated Tony Trabert, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4, 10-8.

15,000 Pupils Take Vaccine

Public Centers To Open Today

More than 15,000 Allegany County school children took sips of Sabin oral polio vaccine yesterday as a three-day mass immunization program with the vaccine went into its second phase.

Doctors of the sponsoring Allegany-Garrett County Medical Society, pleased with yesterday's results, said they hope another 35,000 persons will take the vaccine at dispensing centers today and tomorrow. The centers are listed elsewhere on this page.

Better Than June Turnout

The turnout yesterday far exceeded that of June 1, when the first dose was taken by 12,307 school children in the county.

Many of the children — a total of 2,210 in the 37 schools for which results were tabulated— were first-time takers of the vaccine.

If you're under 30 and have had only one Salk shot or none at all, you can get a free blood test for polio immunity by taking your Sabin vaccine today or tomorrow at Penn Avenue School and asking for the test.

The 12,323 other were getting their second drinks of the Sabin vaccine.

At most schools things went smoothly as far as the children were concerned. An especially efficient setup was in operation at West Side School, where Miss Bernice Winner is principal and Mrs. T. Arthur Carscaden was in charge of volunteer workers.

Dr. John H. Janney, epidemiology consultant who had come to observe the program for the State Department of Health, was impressed with the West Side arrangement.

Everybody Helping

Dr. Ross Comeron, deputy health officer presently serving this county, offered his services and was put to work running the Midland Elementary School program and another at St. Joseph's parochial school at Midland.

Public health nurses also worked at the schools, as did pharmacists and nurses of the area, plus hundreds of lay workers.

The doctors generally were of the opinion that the lay workers did a good job, but some more could be used at some of the dispensing centers today. Men and women who would like to volunteer to spend an hour or so at a center today or tomorrow may do so by telephoning their neighborhood PTA presidents.

Results for reporting schools follow, with first-time takers listed in column headed I and second-time takers listed under column II:

Where To Get Second Dose Of Sabin Vaccine

The second dose of Sabin oral polio vaccine will be given at dispensing centers today and tomorrow from 11 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Everyone should go to the same center he went to in June unless this would cause a real hardship. In that case he can get the vaccine at any of the center.s

Grotz Cites Apprehension About Merger

Tells ICC Traffic Pact Necessary

WASHINGTON (AP(— W. Arthur Grotz, president of the Western Maryland Railway Co., expressed apprehension Thursday that a proposed merger of the Norfolk & Western and two other railroads might result in substantial diversion of freight from his line.

He told an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing, however, that Western Maryland had worked out an agreement with N&W to preserve his line's competitive ability.

Grotz asked the commission to approve the merger only if it recognizes the traffic agreement between N&W and Western Maryland.

He testified at the third day of a hearing before ICC examiner Lester R. Conley on a proposal by N&W to merge with the New York, Chicago & St. Louis (Nickel Plate) and the Wabash railroads.

Could Affect WM

Grotz said he thought a new freight agreement could be negotiated with N&W if the ICC permitted any one of three other railroads to join in the merger.

He said, however, that including these three roads in the merger might have profound effects on Western Maryland which he was not prepared to detail at this time.

The New York Central, Erie-Lackawanna and the Akron, Canton & Youngstown railroads have petitioned the commission to include them in the merger plan.

Grotz said the Baltimore & Ohio and the Chesapeake & Ohio—two other railroads which have proposed a merger — own substantial blocks of Western Maryland stock but his line was not approached to join in that merger plan.

Conley suggested that a single line service between St. Louis, Chicago and Norfolk — as the pending merger plan would provide — might result in substantial diversion of freight from the Western Maryland.

But Grotz said if the freight agreement is carried out in good faith and Western Maryland remains alert to its business opportunities the merger would have little substantial effect on its traffic despite increased competition.

Says Pact Needed

He noted that the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Pennsylvania railroads already provide single line service between Norfolk and the midwest.

Without a freight agreement with N&W, Grotz said, the consequences to Western Maryland might be disastrous. He said the Western Maryland received 70,000 cars of freight from the Nickel Plate last year.

The N&W, which recently merged with the Virginian Railroad, netted $61 million last year. The Wabash and Nickel Plate also showed a profit. Both the Erie and Lackawanna railroads were losing money when the ICC approved their merger — the last major combine authorized by the commission.

Officer Improves

Attaches at Memorial Hospital last night reported Police Officer James W. Brown as "slightly improved." Officer Brown was admitted Wednesday after being stricken with an apparent heart attack while working traffic at Baltimore and Centre streets.

Decision Reversed

A Trial Magistrate's Court decision was reversed Wednesday by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Judge Harris handed down a verdict of $269 for the plaintiff, Lindberg H. Knotts, RD 2, Keyser, who lost his case in the lower court and appealed.

Defendant in the case which involved an automobile accident was LeRoy Breighner of Williams Road. The case originally was heard by Trial Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt.

ABL Charities Fund May Double In 1962 CUF Drive

The Allegany Ballistics Laboratory Charities Fund this year will nearly double the amount of its contribution to the Count United Fund, it was announced yesterday by Roy P Satzer, chairman of the ABL fund.

At a meeting of the newly-appointed 1962 committee this week, preliminary figures of ABL employes donations indicate the record $17,500 pledged to CUF last year will be nearly doubled.

The committee, made up of representatives from areas where ABL employes reside, reported that in addition to the CUF pledges, funds will also be available for charity needs in areas not covered by the United Fund. These areas include Bedford County, Pa. and Hampshire and Hardy counties in West Virginia.

Nationally recognized charity organizations in these areas may submit their requests through committee representatives, and upon approval by the committee, will receive funds based on employe representation in that area.

Funds have also been set aside to finance the distribution of 120 Christmas baskets, a custom which began at ABL some 14 years ago.

A unique feature of the ABL Charities Fund is that all contributions to CUF and other organizations are employe-donated and no part of the amount is contributed by the company.

Mr. Satzer, who is ABL's representative in the CUF, announced the three new committee members who have been appointed to the ABL Fund:

William E. Winters who will represent the Cumberland area; William W. Nightingale, Frostburg and George's Creek area; and Larry T. Greco, Keyser and the Tri-Towns area.

Donald R. Hodge, representing Hampshire-Hardy County area, is a holdover from last year's committee. Mr. Satzer is a permanent member of the ABL group.

Musical Rally Set At Church

The rally is being sponsored by the Cumberland Zone Nazarene Young Peoples Society which has societies at churches in Bowman's Addition, Cumberland, Frostburg, Hancock, Moscow, Oakland, Bedford, Pa., Hyndman, Pa., and St. Clairsville, Pa.

The Shorb Brothers organized in October 1956 following a revival meeting at the Free Methodist Church in Layhill, Md.

Since that time, they have made over 700 appearances and traveled over 50,000 miles. They sing at various types of church functions and also have appeared on television and radio.

Their singing ministry has no denominational or organizational preference. The public has been invited to the rally.

Safety Belt Value Cited

The importance of seat belts in automobiles was stressed once again by Dr. A. J. Mirkin, local surgeon, in an address to the Tri-State Traffic Club Wednesday evening at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, according to Lawrence W. Brown, club president.

The National Safety Council reported 10,000 persons died in automobile crashes last year. It has been estimated that at least one-fourth of them would not have died had their cars been equipped with safety belts.

Much is being done to reduce the number of deaths from such diseases as polio and cancer but they are small scale killers compared with the highway toll.

Improved automobile construction, combined with more care in driving motor vehicles, will go a long way toward reducing the number of traffic deaths, Dr. Mirkin said.

Sacred Heart Evacuation Plan Approved

Plans for evacuation drills will be set up soon by representatives of Sacred Heart Hospital and the Cumberland Fire Department.

Fire Chief Virgil Parker said the evacuation plan for the hospital has been worked out by Sister Mary Richard, administrator, and approved by the fire department.

During the past few weeks, he said, classes in hospital evacuation have been held at Sacred Heart and a film on the subject has been shown to all hospital personnel.

He said Inspector John E. Trost has given instruction on the proper use of fire extinguishers at each class.

Early this week, the Fire Department borrowed the film so fire fighters at Central Fire Station would know exactly what to expect in case an evacuation plan ever had to be put into use.

Chief Parker said the department will confer with Sister Mary Richard soon to work out a schedule for the evacuation drills.

Legion Post Seeks Beer, Wine Permit

Cecil Randolph Jr. Post 271, American Legion, Frostburg, has applied to the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverages License Commissioners for a class D beer and wine license.

Applicants include Paul Carder, of Cumberland, Raymond Jackson and George Wailes, both of Frostburg. The owner of the premises at 9 West Mechanic Street, is Kathleen L. Todd.

Phone Company Planning 'Open House' Program

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company will hold "open house" October 25 and 26, according to Robert G. Garner, local Manager.

Mr. Garner said the central office building at 24 South Centre Street will be open to the public on the designated days from 7 to 9 p. m.

Persons visiting the building during the two-day event will be shown all the dialing equipment as well as a number of displays.

Displays which will be featured during the "open house" will be on the new all number dialing setup which is gradually being introduced in this area and many other sections of the United States.

Other displays will be on the satellite communications system, home and farm inter-phone systems, bell chimes and direct distance dialing.

Visitors also will be given demonstrations on how calls are placed and the latest innovations in telephone instruments.

Guides will be provided with the groups of visitors, Mr. Garner said, and they will answer any questions about the equipment, displays, or telephone procedures.

Mr. Garner said the company also is planning to have three trucks on display on the lot adjoining the telephone building. A digger, ladder and installer's truck may be shown to allow the public to see the equipment which is in use away from the main building, Mr. Garner said.

Water Line Changeover Set Sunday

Notices Are Sent To Homes Affected

Crews will begin tying in the relocated 36-inch water transmission line in the Long Hill section Sunday morning, according to G. Ray Light, commissioner of water and electric light.

Some 2,200 feet of the line, one of two which brings water from the Lake Gordon filtration plant, had to be relocated because of Route 40 improvements.

Notices are being sent by the Water Department to several dozen customers who will be affected because they are tapped on the main transmission line. The area affected will generally be those tapped on the line from Naves Crossroads to Willowbrook Road.

Sends Notices

The notices, being sent by James F. Twigg, chief clerk, explain that the Water Department has scheduled the changeover beginning Sunday, October 15, at 7 a. m.

He said the schedule calls for a 48-hour shutdown and that crews will work around the clock and make every effort to restore service as soon as possible, adding:

"In the event of unforeseen circumstances beyond our control, it is suggested that you be prepared for a shutdown of up to 72 hours."

The changeover will not affect other customers, since the second 36-inch transmission line was not affected and is large enough to supply the city's normal needs.

Line Is Sterilized

Plans for the completion of the line project were made this week when a representative of the Lock Joint Pipe Company, met with representatives of the Water Department, Engineering Department and the Orrie Sensabaugh contracting firm which is laying the line for the city under a $73,823 contract.

Mr. Light said tests made this week at 125 per cent of working pressures were satisfactory and that laboratory tests made by the Water Department showed the line had been sterilized.

Following the tests, the contractor drained and flushed the line in preparation for the connections, which will be made simultaneously.

Potomac Dam Could Boost New Industry

Schwarz Speaks To Kiwanis Club

The proposed $51,000,000 dam on the North Branch of the Potomac River two miles above Bloomington could go a long way toward eliminating flood dangers in the Potomac Valley between Keyser and Cumberland, where a number of good industrial sites are located.

That comment was made yesterday by Harry E. Schwarz, chief of the Potomac River Basin Branch of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. He was guest speaker at yesterday's meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club planned at Central YMCA as an observance of Maryland Land Week.

Water is a valuable commodity and it must be available at the right time and place, of good quality and in sufficient quantity to fill the needs. That, simply speaking, is the aim of the Corps of Engineers in developing a series of proposed dams on the Potomac River and its tributaries.

Primarily, these dams will serve to abate pollution by providing sufficient supply of water so that the river will be better able to cleanse itself. They also will serve as a source of water supply, for flood control and will provide recreational opportunities.

Mr. Schwarz suggested that a number of new industries using wood, sand and coal available in this area could be developed in the Potomac River Valley when the Bloomington dam reduces the threat of flood to the low-lying lands suitable as industrial sites.

At the present time, Mr. Schwarz questioned whether much water from the existing Savage River dam could be made available for use as a water supply in Allegany County. Once the North Branch dam is built the Savage River water would not be needed as greatly to provide a minimum flow of the river. That job could be done by the Bloomington dam, roughly five times as large as the Savage River dam. Then, Mr. Schwarz said, much of the Savage River water, which is of superior quality, could be made available for water supply in Allegany County.

The Bloomington dam is one of three recommended in April by the Corps of Engineers in this area. The corps favors immediate construction of the Bloomington dam for its flood control values.

1,600 Visit Home Show First Night

Approximately 1,600 persons sauntered through the Western Maryland freight warehouse on Canal Street last night to view the various exhibits at the Cumberland Home Show being sponsored by the Junior Association of Commerce.

They saw the latest in home appliances, construction and remodeling materials, heating and air conditioning equipment, utilities and luxuries on display by local business establishments, as well as 1962 model automobiles and mobile homes located outside the building.

The show, said Frederick J. Hill, president of the local Jaycee chapter, will continue today and tomorrow. The hours are 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. today and 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. tomorrow when Patricia Moon, of Bethesda, "Miss Maryland of 1961," will be at the show.

Doris Day of 601 Greenway Avenue last night was presented three gallon of paint donated by the Bauer Wholesale and Supply.

Another prize winner was Mrs. Roy Brasher, who was presented a serving set donated by the Goodyear Tire Service.

This evening's awards include $15 worth of drapery material from Celanese Fibers Company and a storm door donated by Bauer Wholesale and Supply, said Mr. Hill.

Local Girls To Swim In League Rivalry

Four girls' swim teams will represent Central YMCA in the Mason-Dixon Swimming League, according to Neal Connor, "Y" swim team director, who said the girls of various age groups will compete against teams from Frederick, Hagerstown, Dundalk and Towson as well as Chambersburg and Waynesboro, Pa.

Local girls who will compete include Sharon Powers, Lark Wolferton, Jaenie McGarrah, Sandy Sullivan and Paulette Counihan — ten years of age and under; Donna Brehm, Carlyn Counihan, Beck Knieriem and Cheryl Lewis — 11 and 12 year group.

Martha Milbrada, Joy Herboldsheimer, Sandy Jones, Darlyn Counihan and Helen McGuire, 13, 14 and 15 years; Sally Powers, Lea Herboldsheimer, Karyl Kirsch, Mimi Allison, Gwen Wanda, Pat Kight and Frances Berry, 16 and 17 years of age.

Bar Mitzvah Service Saturday

Leonard Kline, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kline, 1405 Holland Street, will be Bar Mitzvah Saturday at Beth Jacob Synagogue.

A special service will be held tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the synagogue and the Bar Mitzvah will be held Saturday at 9 a.m. Rabbi Israel Wolmark, spiritual leader of Beth Jacob, will officiate at the service.

DES Examiner Denies Two Of Three Appeals

Union Will Seek Reversal Of Ruling

A special examiner of the Department of Employment Security has disapproved the appeals filed for two of three groups of employes at the Amcelle plant whose claims for unemployment benefits were denied by a DES claims specialist.

James R. Stewart, president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, said the union will appeal two of the decisions.

The special examiner, Bernard Streett, reversed a decision appealed by Melvin C. Harris, 11 Mill Street, Frostburg, one of the spinners displaced by the dispute regarding work assignments in the Extrusion department of the plant.

Turns Down Appeals

He disapproved appeals filed by Charles H. Brode, a spinning operator in the Extrusion department, and Lillian C. Burch, a yarn winder in the Textile department of the plant.

Appeals for all of the furloughed workers were consolidated for the purpose of the appeal hearing.

The determination of the claims specialist that the unemployment of Mr. Harris was due to a stoppage of work existing due to a labor dispute was reversed by the special examiner, Streett, who rescinded an indefinite suspension imposed August 27.

Mr. Streett ruled that Mr. Harris was displaced because of a reduction of the working force attributable to technological changes in the manufacturing process and not because a stoppage of work resulted.

Cites Stoppage

His determination on the claims of Lillian C. Burch and Charles H. Brode was that the claimants' unemployment was due to a stoppage of work which exists because of a labor dispute and that benefits would be denied indefinitely from August 31 in the claim filed by Lillian C. Burch and from September 4 in the Charles H. Brode claim.

Both of the above claimants have been recalled to the plant, where production is showing a steady improvement.

The DES official pointed out that any interested party to the decision may request a review until October 20.

Cooking School To Hold Final Session Today

Today is the last day homemakers in the area will have the opportunity to attend the annual Times-News Cooking School's "Galaxy of Foods" event at the Strand Theatre.

The final class will get underway at 9:15 a. m. under the direction of Miss Mary Metag and Miss Elizabeth McKellin, National Live Stock and Meat Board home economists.

At yesterday's session of the Times-News Cooking School the following persons won prizes:

Food baskets: Mrs. Zelma Isner, 105 Mary Street; Mrs. John T. Hadley, 225 Massachusetts Avenue; Mildred Snyder, Main Street, Ridgeley; Zella M. Izett, LaVale; Mrs. Charles H. Preaskorn, Potomac Park; Mary Carder, 547 North Mechanic Street; Dolores Ortiz, 600 St. Mary's Avenue; Mrs. Alvin Lowery, Hyndman; Mrs. Clara White, 205 Avenue I, Potomac Park, and Beulah Barnes, 303 Virginia Avenue.

Prepared dishes: Mrs. Esther Martz, RD 3, city, spiced short ribs; Mrs. H. Eshbaugh, 624 Maryland Avenue, cherry meat muffins; Mrs. Carl E. Miller, Carpenter's Addition, Ridgeley, prune bread; Mrs. Philip Blocher, 146 Frost Avenue, Frostburg, fresh leg of pork; Mrs. J. Earl Hinkle, 913 Bedford Street, franks and spuds; Mrs. Grace Davis, 118 Frederick Street, jelly glazed lamb chops; Zera Barnes, Flintstone, gentleman's pot roast, and Catherine Bennett, 404 Chestnut Street, red devil's food cake.

Other winners were Mrs. James E. Grabenstein, 625 Elwood Street, case of seven-up; Mrs. R. A. Bolka, RD 5, city, sunshine jar; and Martha Barncord, Corriganville, Taylor meat thermometer.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Ellis, Louisa, Va., announce the birth of a son Wednesday at University Hospital, Charlottesville, Va. The mother is the former Miss Jean Silcox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Lee Silcox, 404 Decatur Street.

Memorial Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Green, Frostburg, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Skidmore, Cresaptown, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Boyce, Keyser, W. Va., a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Christ, Bedford Road, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Jones, Oldtown, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey F. Emerick, 120 Mullen Street, a daughter Wednesday.

15,000 Pupils Take Vaccine

Public Centers To Open Today

More than 15,000 Allegany County school children took sips of Sabin oral polio vaccine yesterday as a three-day mass immunization program with the vaccine went into its second phase.

With final results at four of the county's 41 public and parochial schools still unreported late last night, the total stood at 14,533.

An estimated 720 children took the vaccine at Mount Savage School, and this would bring the total to more than 15,250.

Doctors of the sponsoring Allegany-Garrett County Medical Society, pleased with yesterday's results, said they hope another 35,000 persons will take the vaccine at dispensing centers today and tomorrow. The centers are listed elsewhere on this page.

Better Than June Turnout

The turnout yesterday far exceeded that of June 1, when the first dose was taken by 12,307 school children in the county.

Many of the children — a total of 2,210 in the 37 schools for which results were tabulated— were first-time takers of the vaccine.

If you're under 30 and have had only one Salk shot or none at all, you can get a free blood test for polio immunity by taking your Sabin vaccine today or tomorrow at Penn Avenue School and asking for the test.

The 12,323 other were getting their second drinks of the Sabin vaccine.

At most schools things went smoothly as far as the children were concerned. An especially efficient setup was in operation at West Side School, where Miss Bernice Winner is principal and Mrs. T. Arthur Carscaden was in charge of volunteer workers.

Dr. John H. Janney, epidemiology consultant who had come to observe the program for the State Department of Health, was impressed with the West Side arrangement.

Everybody Helping

Dr. Ross Comeron, deputy health officer presently serving this county, offered his services and was put to work running the Midland Elementary School program and another at St. Joseph's parochial school at Midland.

Public health nurses also worked at the schools, as did pharmacists and nurses of the area, plus hundreds of lay workers.

The doctors generally were of the opinion that the lay workers did a good job, but some more could be used at some of the dispensing centers today. Men and women who would like to volunteer to spend an hour or so at a center today or tomorrow may do so by telephoning their neighborhood PTA presidents.

State and city police kept a relay service in operation to take vaccine from one center to another as it was needed.

Results for reporting schools follow, with first-time takers listed in column headed I and second-time takers listed under column II:

Where To Get Second Dose Of Sabin Vaccine

The second dose of Sabin oral polio vaccine will be given at dispensing centers today and tomorrow from 11 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Everyone should go to the same center he went to in June unless this would cause a real hardship. In that case he can get the vaccine at any of the center.s

CENTER LOCATIONS

Cumberland — Algonquin Hotel, LaSalle High School, Penn Avenue School, John Humbird School, Fort Hill High School, Gephart School, West Side School.

LaVale — Parkside School, LaVale Fire Hall.

Cresaptown — Cresaptown School.

Frostburg — Beall Elementary School.

Westernport — Westernport Elementary School.

Lonaconing — Central Elementary School.

Mount Savage—Mount Savage School.

Oldtown — Oldtown School (Saturday only).

Flintstone — Flintstone Fire Hall (Saturday only.)

Tells ICC Traffic Pact Necessary

WASHINGTON (AP(— W. Arthur Grotz, president of the Western Maryland Railway Co., expressed apprehension Thursday that a proposed merger of the Norfolk & Western and two other railroads might result in substantial diversion of freight from his line.

He told an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing, however, that Western Maryland had worked out an agreement with N&W to preserve his line's competitive ability.

Grotz asked the commission to approve the merger only if it recognizes the traffic agreement between N&W and Western Maryland.

He testified at the third day of a hearing before ICC examiner Lester R. Conley on a proposal by N&W to merge with the New York, Chicago & St. Louis (Nickel Plate) and the Wabash railroads.

Could Affect WM

Grotz said he thought a new freight agreement could be negotiated with N&W if the ICC permitted any one of three other railroads to join in the merger.

He said, however, that including these three roads in the merger might have profound effects on Western Maryland which he was not prepared to detail at this time.

The New York Central, Erie-Lackawanna and the Akron, Canton & Youngstown railroads have petitioned the commission to include them in the merger plan.

Grotz said the Baltimore & Ohio and the Chesapeake & Ohio—two other railroads which have proposed a merger — own substantial blocks of Western Maryland stock but his line was not approached to join in that merger plan.

Conley suggested that a single line service between St. Louis, Chicago and Norfolk — as the pending merger plan would provide — might result in substantial diversion of freight from the Western Maryland.

But Grotz said if the freight agreement is carried out in good faith and Western Maryland remains alert to its business opportunities the merger would have little substantial effect on its traffic despite increased competition.

Says Pact Needed

He noted that the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Pennsylvania railroads already provide single line service between Norfolk and the midwest.

Without a freight agreement with N&W, Grotz said, the consequences to Western Maryland might be disastrous. He said the Western Maryland received 70,000 cars of freight from the Nickel Plate last year.

The N&W, which recently merged with the Virginian Railroad, netted $61 million last year. The Wabash and Nickel Plate also showed a profit. Both the Erie and Lackawanna railroads were losing money when the ICC approved their merger — the last major combine authorized by the commission.

Officer Improves

Attaches at Memorial Hospital last night reported Police Officer James W. Brown as "slightly improved." Officer Brown was admitted Wednesday after being stricken with an apparent heart attack while working traffic at Baltimore and Centre streets.

ABL Charities Fund May Double In 1962 CUF Drive

The Allegany Ballistics Laboratory Charities Fund this year will nearly double the amount of its contribution to the Count United Fund, it was announced yesterday by Roy P Satzer, chairman of the ABL fund.

At a meeting of the newly-appointed 1962 committee this week, preliminary figures of ABL employes donations indicate the record $17,500 pledged to CUF last year will be nearly doubled.

The committee, made up of representatives from areas where ABL employes reside, reported that in addition to the CUF pledges, funds will also be available for charity needs in areas not covered by the United Fund. These areas include Bedford County, Pa. and Hampshire and Hardy counties in West Virginia.

Nationally recognized charity organizations in these areas may submit their requests through committee representatives, and upon approval by the committee, will receive funds based on employe representation in that area.

Funds have also been set aside to finance the distribution of 120 Christmas baskets, a custom which began at ABL some 14 years ago.

A unique feature of the ABL Charities Fund is that all contributions to CUF and other organizations are employe-donated and no part of the amount is contributed by the company.

Mr. Satzer, who is ABL's representative in the CUF, announced the three new committee members who have been appointed to the ABL Fund:

William E. Winters who will represent the Cumberland area; William W. Nightingale, Frostburg and George's Creek area; and Larry T. Greco, Keyser and the Tri-Towns area.

Donald R. Hodge, representing Hampshire-Hardy County area, is a holdover from last year's committee. Mr. Satzer is a permanent member of the ABL group.

Musical Rally Set At Church

The rally is being sponsored by the Cumberland Zone Nazarene Young Peoples Society which has societies at churches in Bowman's Addition, Cumberland, Frostburg, Hancock, Moscow, Oakland, Bedford, Pa., Hyndman, Pa., and St. Clairsville, Pa.

The Shorb Brothers organized in October 1958 following a revival meeting at the Free Methodist Church in Layhill, Md.

Since that time, they have made over 700 appearances and traveled over 50,000 miles. They sing at various types of church functions and also have appeared on television and radio.

Their singing ministry has no denominational or organizational preference. The public has been invited to the rally.

Safety Belt Value Cited

The importance of seat belts in automobiles was stressed once again by Dr. A. J. Mirkin, local surgeon, in an address to the Tri-State Traffic Club Wednesday evening at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, according to Lawrence W. Brown, club president.

Transportation representatives from Pittsburgh, Baltimore and the Cumberland area are members of the Traffic Club.

The National Safety Council reported 10,000 persons died in automobile crashes last year. It has been estimated that at least one-fourth of them would not have died had their cars been equipped with safety belts.

Much is being done to reduce the number of deaths from such diseases as polio and cancer but they are small scale killers compared with the highway toll.

Improved automobile construction, combined with more care in driving motor vehicles, will go a long way toward reducing the number of traffic deaths, Dr. Mirkin said.

Sacred Heart Evacuation Plan Approved

Plans for evacuation drills will be set up soon by representatives of Sacred Heart Hospital and the Cumberland Fire Department.

Fire Chief Virgil Parker said the evacuation plan for the hospital has been worked out by Sister Mary Richard, administrator, and approved by the fire department.

During the past few weeks, he said, classes in hospital evacuation have been held at Sacred Heart and a film on the subject has been shown to all hospital personnel.

He said Inspector John E. Trost has given instruction on the proper use of fire extinguishers at each class.

Early this week, the Fire Department borrowed the film so fire fighters at Central Fire Station would know exactly what to expect in case an evacuation plan ever had to be put into use.

Chief Parker said the department will confer with Sister Mary Richard soon to work out a schedule for the evacuation drills.

Legion Post Seeks Beer, Wine Permit

Cecil Randolph Jr. Post 271, American Legion, Frostburg, has applied to the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverages License Commissioners for a class D beer and wine license.

Applicants include Paul Carder, of Cumberland, Raymond Jackson and George Wailes, both of Frostburg. The owner of the premises at 9 West Mechanic Street, is Kathleen L. Todd.

Potomac Dam Could Boost New Industry

Schwarz Speaks To Kiwanis Club

The proposed $51,000,000 dam on the North Branch of the Potomac River two miles above Bloomington could go a long way toward eliminating flood dangers in the Potomac Valley between Keyser and Cumberland, where a number of good industrial sites are located.

That comment was made yesterday by Harry E. Schwarz, chief of the Potomac River Basin Branch of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. He was guest speaker at yesterday's meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club planned at Central YMCA as an observance of Maryland Land Week.

Water is a valuable commodity and it must be available at the right time and place, of good quality and in sufficient quantity to fill the needs. That, simply speaking, is the aim of the Corps of Engineers in developing a series of proposed dams on the Potomac River and its tributaries.

Primarily, these dams will serve to abate pollution by providing sufficient supply of water so that the river will be better able to cleanse itself. They also will serve as a source of water supply, for flood control and will provide recreational opportunities.

Mr. Schwarz suggested that a number of new industries using wood, sand and coal available in this area could be developed in the Potomac River Valley when the Bloomington dam reduces the threat of flood to the low-lying lands suitable as industrial sites.

At the present time, Mr. Schwarz questioned whether much water from the existing Savage River dam could be made available for use as a water supply in Allegany County. Once the North Branch dam is built the Savage River water would not be needed as greatly to provide a minimum flow of the river. That job could be done by the Bloomington dam, roughly five times as large as the Savage River dam. Then, Mr. Schwarz said, much of the Savage River water, which is of superior quality, could be made available for water supply in Allegany County.

The Bloomington dam is one of three recommended in April by the Corps of Engineers in this area. The corps favors immediate construction of the Bloomington dam for its flood control values.

Phone Company Planning 'Open House' Program

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company will hold "open house" October 25 and 26, according to Robert G. Garner, local Manager.

Mr. Garner said the central office building at 24 South Centre Street will be open to the public on the designated days from 7 to 9 p. m.

Persons visiting the building during the two-day event will be shown all the dialing equipment as well as a number of displays.

Displays which will be featured during the "open house" will be on the new all number dialing setup which is gradually being introduced in this area and many other sections of the United States.

Other displays will be on the satellite communications system, home and farm inter-phone systems, bell chimes and direct distance dialing.

Visitors also will be given demonstrations on how calls are placed and the latest innovations in telephone instruments.

Guides will be provided with the groups of visitors, Mr. Garner said, and they will answer any questions about the equipment, displays, or telephone procedures.

Mr. Garner said the company also is planning to have three trucks on display on the lot adjoining the telephone building. A digger, ladder and installer's truck may be shown to allow the public to see the equipment which is in use away from the main building, Mr. Garner said.

Water Line Changeover Set Sunday

Notices Are Sent To Homes Affected

Crews will begin tying in the relocated 36-inch water transmission line in the Long Hill section Sunday morning, according to G. Ray Light, commissioner of water and electric light.

Some 2,200 feet of the line, one of two which brings water from the Lake Gordon filtration plant, had to be relocated because of Route 40 improvements.

Notices are being sent by the Water Department to several dozen customers who will be affected because they are tapped on the main transmission line. The area affected will generally be those tapped on the line from Naves Crossroads to Willowbrook Road.

Sends Notices

The notices, being sent by James F. Twigg, chief clerk, explain that the Water Department has scheduled the changeover beginning Sunday, October 15, at 7 a. m.

He said the schedule calls for a 48-hour shutdown and that crews will work around the clock and make every effort to restore service as soon as possible, adding:

"In the event of unforeseen circumstances beyond our control, it is suggested that you be prepared for a shutdown of up to 72 hours."

The changeover will not affect other customers, since the second 36-inch transmission line was not affected and is large enough to supply the city's normal needs.

Line Is Sterilized

Plans for the completion of the line project were made this week when a representative of the Lock Joint Pipe Company, met with representatives of the Water Department, Engineering Department and the Orrie Sensabaugh contracting firm which is laying the line for the city under a $73,823 contract.

Mr. Light said tests made this week at 125 per cent of working pressures were satisfactory and that laboratory tests made by the Water Department showed the line had been sterilized.

Following the tests, the contractor drained and flushed the line in preparation for the connections, which will be made simultaneously.

1,600 Visit Home Show First Night

Approximately 1,600 persons sauntered through the Western Maryland freight warehouse on Canal Street last night to view the various exhibits at the Cumberland Home Show being sponsored by the Junior Association of Commerce.

They saw the latest in home appliances, construction and remodeling materials, heating and air conditioning equipment, utilities and luxuries on display by local business establishments, as well as 1962 model automobiles and mobile homes located outside the building.

The show, said Frederick J. Hill, president of the local Jaycee chapter, will continue today and tomorrow. The hours are 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. today and 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. tomorrow when Patricia Moon, of Bethesda, "Miss Maryland of 1961," will be at the show.

Decision Reversed

A Trial Magistrate's Court decision was reversed Wednesday by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Judge Harris handed down a verdict of $269 for the plaintiff, Lindberg H. Knotts, RD 2, Keyser, who lost his case in the lower court and appealed.

Defendant in the case which involved an automobile accident was LeRoy Breighner of Williams Road. The case originally was heard by Trial Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt.
